U. S. COMMUNIST LEADERS INDICTED

Clay En Route To U. S.; Berlin Crisis Grows

75 Jet Planes Will Bolster American Air Power In Germany

BERLIN, Wednesday, July 21 (AP)—Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American commander in Germany, flew to Washington last night in an Army plane. He will report on the growing Berlin crisis.

Clay took off from Frankfurt, accompanied by his political adviser, Robert Murphy, and will outline current strife with the Russians to the Department of the Army. He is expected to return to Berlin Sunday.

Before he left, announcement was made that American air power in Germany would be bolstered by 75 jet-propelled fighter planes.

The American moves followed a surprise Russian announcement that they were prepared to supply all of Berlin with food. The Russian announcement was labeled "propaganda" by Allied spokesmen who tended to discount it in view of the fact that it would defeat the apparent purpose of the Russian blockade of Berlin.

United States spokesmen in England said the 75 "Shooting Stars" jets, comprising a full group of fighters, would arrive in Scotland August 4 on the aircraft carrier Sicily, and would be flown to Germany—but not to Berlin.

Jets May Be Used As Escorts

Another 16 fighters of the same type are en route to Germany in the first east-bound jet crossing of the Atlantic. In addition, 60 giant B-29 Superfortresses have arrived at three RAF air fields in England for "training missions."

There was some speculation the jets might be used as escorts for the flying freight wagons now supplying blockaded Berlin with food, if the Western Powers decide that step is necessary.

The report of Clay and Murphy, the top American policy makers in Germany, is expected to play a major part in deciding the next American step in the battle to break the Russian blockade. Sharp counter-measures have been reported under consideration since Russia refused to yield to stiff protest notes from Britain, France and the United States. Proposals have ranged from excluding Russians from Allied routes in other parts of the world to the drastic step of sending an armed supply convoy through Russian barriers.

Skepticism Greets Soviet Offer

The Russian promise to supply food to Western Berliners was not put into practice today. The Russians said they would help feed all of the city's residents, including 2,000,000 in the western sectors, with the aid of 100,000 tons of bread and grain to be shipped from the Soviet Union.

Both the American and British military governments were skeptical of the Russian offer. Gen. Clay said "the proof is in the performance, not in the statement." The British officially labeled the offer "pure propaganda" and promised that "the British with the United States of America will continue to supply the food necessary for the western sectors."

Dewey's Camp Raps Truman Congress Call

Says GOP Platform Can't Be Approved At "Rump" Session

WASHINGTON, July 20 (AP)—The Thomas E. Dewey camp said today that the 1948 Republican platform can't possibly be written into law by what it called the "rump" session of Congress starting next Monday.

Herbert Brownell, Jr., Gov. Dewey's campaign manager, handed down the word. He told a news conference:

"The Republican platform calls for the enactment of a program by a Republican Congress under the leadership of a Republican president.

"Obviously, this cannot be done at a rump session called at a political convention for political purposes in the heat of a political campaign."

Brownell wouldn't say what he meant by "rump" session, but his criticism was leveled at President Truman's announcement of the Congress call when he accepted the Democratic nomination last week at Philadelphia.

Filibuster Threatens

At that time, Mr. Truman ticked off a list of measures he wants passed. Many of these, he said, the Republicans supported in their platform. He said he would give them a chance to carry out their pledges.

He said it would be wrong to read into the statement any idea that Dewey wants Congress to take no action at the forthcoming session.

Congressional leaders undoubtedly will meet early next week, Brownell said, to discuss what the session can and should do.

The session may open with a filibuster.

A Republican leader, Sen. Wherry, of Nebraska, hinted broadly that civil rights legislation demanded by President Truman may come up for Senate debate when Congress starts work after convening Monday.

Automatically this would turn on a storm of angry southern oratory to talk the bill to death. It could serve to drive deeper the wedge between the harmony-seeking Truman followers and the Dixie wing of the Democratic Party.

GOP Has No Program Yet

Unlike President Truman, Wherry said he is not so sure enough votes could be mustered to cut off debate. This would require a two-thirds majority.

Wherry, who acted as GOP floor leader most of the recent session, told reporters that the party leadership has not yet decided on any program. But he observed:

"The only legislation in the President's program that I know of that is ready is these civil rights bills."

The Senate has passed housing and federal aid to education bills, which the President wants. But Wherry noted that other measures on his program have not cleared Senate committees.

Party Boss, 11 Others Accused Of Plotting Against Government

Seven Under Arrest; Party Characterizes Charges As "Frameup"

INDICTED—William Z. Foster (above), head of the Communist Party of America, was among the 12 United States Communist Party leaders and members indicted yesterday on charges of advocating the overthrow of the government.

NEW YORK, July 20 (AP)—Twelve United States Communist Party leaders and members were indicted today on charges of advocating the overthrow of the United States government.

Among them was William Z. Foster, head of the Communist Party of America.

Seven of the group, including General Secretary Eugene V. Dennis, were arrested and arraigned on the charges.

The others, named along with the first seven in secret indictments returned by a federal grand jury investigating alleged subversive activities, were being sought.

A formal statement by the Communist Party, released a few minutes before the seven were arraigned, denied the charges and characterized them as a "monstrous frameup."

One of the group was arrested and arraigned in Detroit, Mich., tonight. He was Carl Winters, 41, chairman of the Michigan State Council of the Communist Party and a member of the party's national committee.

The others were taken into custody in New York City. All those arraigned here entered pleas of innocent, and the same plea was entered for Winters in Detroit.

The other four under arrest were: New York City Councilman Benjamin Davis; John B. Williamson, trade union secretary for the party; Henry Winston, party organizational secretary, and Jacob Stachel, educational secretary.

Members Of Party's Board

All 12 indicted were identified by federal authorities as members of the Communist Party's National Board. Davis and Winston are negroes.

The five being sought were identified as:

Irving Potash, manager of the CIO Furriers Joint Council of New York City; John Gates, editor since July, 1947, of the Daily Worker, official organ of the Communist Party in the United States; Robert G. Thompson, chairman of the New York State Communist Party; Gilbert Green, Chicago, Ill., district chairman for the Communist Party at Chicago, and Gus Hall, Cleveland, Ohio, chairman of the Ohio Communist Party.

The indictments charged all with "conspiring to teach and advocate the overthrow of the United States government by force and violence."

The six arrested in New York City were arraigned before Federal Judge Vincent Leibel, who set bail at $5,000 for each.

Amount of the bail set for those arrested here was protested vigorously by attorneys for the group.

Judge Leibell granted a request for a 30-day period in which to file motions, and set August 23 as the deadline for this action.

Leibell then ordered the men held in jail until bail is posted.

Shortly before 9 p. m. (EST) the six defendants in New York City were paroled overnight in the custody of counsel after Leibell had

President Orders Draft Enrollment To Start Aug. 30

Men 18 Through 25 Will Be Registered

WASHINGTON, July 20—(AP)—President Truman today ordered all American men 18 through 25 to register for the draft between August 30 and September 18.

No one would predict when actual inductions will begin. But this can not be before September 22, or 90 days after Mr. Truman signed the draft bill making it law.

Eighteen-year-olds, not subject to the 21-month draft, may begin enlisting in the armed services tomorrow. By volunteering for one year and then serving a longer period in the reserves they may avoid the draft later. By law only 161,000 of the 18-year-olds may be accepted.

Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, Selective Service director, emphasized that all men 18 through 25, unless they already are in the active armed services, must register.

"Exemptees" Must Register

Whether or not a man is exempt from the draft makes no difference, he said. All must register, unless they now are in the regular forces and on active duty.

Gen. Hershey estimated that this means approximately 9,500,000 men will sign up at America's 4,000 draft offices in the 20-day period beginning August 30.

The registration dates are staggered, with men 25 signing up first, men 24 next, and so on.

President Truman's proclamation calling for registration set these dates:

Men born in 1922 after August 30 will register first of all on August 30. These are men of 25, about 300,000 of them, who would be ineligible after one more birthday.

Next to register will be all born in the year 1923. Some of these will be 24, some 25. But all born in 1923 will register August 31-September 1.

Remainder Of Schedule

Persons born in 1924 will register September 2-3; 1925, September 4 or September 7; 1926, September 8-9; 1927, September 10-11; 1928, September 13-14; 1929, September 15-16; and persons born in 1930 before September 19 must register September 17-18.

Boys born on or after September 19, 1930, will register on their eighteenth birthday, or within five days of it.

Registration will take place in the United States, Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

Just because registration dates are ordered by age group does not mean men will be drafted in that order, Selective Service headquarters said today.

"This has not been decided yet," they said.

Neither has it been decided how many men will be called. That, said Selective Service, is up to the Army, and will depend a lot on how many volunteers are signed up.

14 Paint, Varnish Firms Accused Of Price Fixing

Indictments Handed Down In U. S. District Court At Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, July 20 (AP) — The United States government today charged some of the nation's largest manufacturers in the billion dollar paint industry with conspiracy to fix prices of paints and wood finishes.

Indictments handed down in Federal District Court here named 14 companies which make nearly half the nation's paints, varnishes, enamels and lacquers, and 20 officials of these firms.

Attorney General Tom Clark said at Washington the cases were instituted as part of the anti-trust program aimed at "illegal conspiracies" in the housing field.

He explained that the indictments claimed the defendants eliminated price competition by agreeing to fix and stabilize prices with the effect of "unreasonably increasing" the prices of the commodities.

Record Price Jumps

Commerce Department records "indicate that prices in the paint industry rose more rapidly after the removal of OPA ceilings than in any other industry," the Justice Department said.

One indictment listed these defendants as producers of paints, varnishes, enamels, and lacquers: Sherwin-Williams Company, Cleveland; American-Marietta Company, Chicago; Cook Paint and Varnish Company, Kansas City, Mo.; Devoe and Reynolds Company, Inc., New York; E. I. duPont de Nemours and Company, Wilmington, Del.; General Paint Corporation, San Francisco; the Glidden Company, Cleveland; the Interchemical Corporation, New York, and the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, Pittsburgh.

These manufacturers produced and sold more than 45 per cent of the $1,000,000,000 worth of paints, varnishes, enamels and lacquers sold in the United States in 1947, the indictment said.

Second Group Listed

A second group was described as producers of lacquers, varnishes, enamels and stains for use in the wood furniture industry. They were E. I. duPont de Nemours and Company; American-Marietta Company; Columbus Varnish Company, Columbus, O.; Grand Rapids Varnish Company, Grand Rapids, Mich.; the Lilly Company, High Point, N. C.; the Lilly Varnish Company, Indianapolis, Ind.; Sherwin-Williams Company, and the Southern Varnish Corporation, Roanoke, Va.

This indictment said the lacquer firms produced and sold more than 60 per cent of the $50,000,000 in sales of wood finishes in the United States in 1947.

Pub Television For Kids Halted; Poet Gets Assist

NEWARK, N. J., July 20 (AP)—Tavern television for the kiddies was declared out today, and you can credit Henry Wadsworth Longfellow with an assist on the play.

Patrick Radigan, a Hoboken bar proprietor who has been staging a "Children's Hour" for youngsters who want to watch his tavern television set, was ordered to stop the practice immediately. The bar was closed and adults were excluded during the session.

Alcoholic Beverage Control Commissioner Erwin B. Hock, who issued the decree, referred to the famous New England poet, in issuing his order.

"Longfellow would turn over in his grave if he could see the locale of your 'Children's Hour,'" Hock told the bar owner.

Ship Firms Seek Strike Damages

WASHINGTON, July 20—(AP)—An employer group asked the National Labor Relations Board today to require the National Maritime Union to pay the losses the firms suffered in a strike.

In the same hearing the NMU's hiring hall came under attack and defense. The hiring hall, through which union members get job preference, was the main issue in the one-month Great Lakes strike for which the shipping firms asked compensation.

Union insistence on maintaining the hiring halls also was the ground on which the employers classed the strike as illegal, making it the basis of their damage claim.

The strike was ended by court injunction on June 14, one day before the NMU and six other unions were restrained from a similar walkout on the Atlantic, Pacific, and Gulf coasts.

NLRB General Counsel Robert N. Denham has contended that the hiring hall is a form of the closed shop which the Taft-Hartley act outlaws.

NLRB Trial Examiner Howard Myers upheld the general counsel, saying that the NMU refused to bargain with four oil tanker companies on the Great Lakes when it insisted on retaining the 12-year old hiring hall system. The carriers said the system was illegal.

The idea that the union should pay for losses due to an illegal strike was advanced by Minier Sargent, Chicago attorney representing three shipping firms. Sargent said the NMU walkout was in violation of contract.

The company attorney said the board for years had required employers to pay back wages to workers found to have been illegally discharged. Under the same reasoning, he argued, unions should be forced to pay for illegal activities.

Wallace Party's Platform Writers Get Down To Work

Expected To Blast Policy Toward USSR

PHILADELPHIA, July 20—(AP)—Against a backdrop of the Berlin crisis, Henry Wallace's third party plunged into platform writing today with indication it will call for repeal of the draft law and blast America's present policy toward Russia.

Foreign policy was given the top spot in the preparation of the preliminary platform draft.

Meeting three days ahead of the formal convening of the new party's convention, the 74-member platform committee, in secret session, was reported also to be considering proposals for nationalization of basic American industries.

Differences Of Opinion

Rexford Guy Tugwell, platform chairman and one of the original "brain trusters" of the New Deal, declined to discuss details of the committee's work. But there were indications of some differences of opinion on how far the platform should go both on foreign policy and industry nationalization.

The platform is expected to follow the call of Wallace—the party's founder—for things like this:

1—Repeal of the peacetime draft call.

2—A slashing of prices down to the levels of 1946.

3—Repeal of the Taft-Hartley Labor Act, and a minimum wage for labor of at least $1 an hour.

4—Adequate housing.

Windmill signs separately calling for "abundance," "freedom," "peace," went up on the marquee at Bellevue-Stratford Hotel headquarters where the Republican elephant and Democratic donkey drew so much attention in recent weeks.

Wallace To Accept Saturday

Convention arrangements moved ahead with announcement that Albert Fitzgerald, president of the CIO United Electrical Workers, will introduce Wallace for his presidential nomination acceptance speech at Shibe Park Saturday night.

The mass rally will high spot the New Party founding convention which opens Friday night. It will be open to the public with tickets selling at 65 cents, $1.30 and $2.60 to raise campaign funds.

Discussion of foreign policy, a platform committee spokesman said, appeared to be anti-bipartisan—as the Truman administration insisted on it—and against both the Marshall Plan and the Truman Doctrine.

"They believe," he stated, "that the question of peace can be worked out through a strong United Nations with relief based on need rather than on political expediency."

Subversives Use U.N. To Enter U.S., Senate Group Told

Presence Is Called Threat To Security

WASHINGTON, July 20 (AP)—A State Department official says he thinks every representative of a Russian satellite country in the United States is here to spread propaganda.

"Their presence here is a threat to the security of the United States," he declared.

But the official, William Harlow, chief of the department's diplomatic visa section, said "we have got to have tangible information" that such is their primary objective in coming to this country before they can be refused entry.

"If you cut all those people out, you will have no United Nations, and that will not be permitted," he said.

Harlow confirmed previous testimony of department officials given before the staff of a Senate Judiciary Subcommittee that at least several hundred known or suspected subversives have been admitted as attaches or employes of the United Nations and related organizations. He added:

"I don't think anything can be done about it as long as the seat of the United Nations remains in the United States."

At Lake Success, United Nations officials expressed surprise at the testimony. Further information was requested by a spokesman for the United States delegation.

Harlow also testified before the subcommittee staff. He said that persons applying for admission to this country on United Nations missions cannot be denied visas unless the department has prior evidence that their presence will endanger public safety.

They are granted limited visas valid only for the official United Nations site and the immediate vicinity, he said, but "what they do after they get here we cannot control." He said that is the responsibility of the Department of Justice and the Immigration Service.

He said an anarchist would be denied entry but "an ordinary, every day, run of the mill Communist can get a visa."

Harlow said it is possible under existing law for a tremendous number of subversives to gain admission by the United Nations site route.

"There is no limit on the number of people that come in," he said.

The subcommittee is making a general study of immigration laws. The previous testimony of State Department officials was made public today.

U. S. Steel Hikes Price $9.34 Ton

NEW YORK, July 20 (AP)—United States Steel Corporation, America's largest producer, today announced an average price increase of $9.34 a ton on finished steel products of its subsidiaries.

The increase, effective tomorrow, restores an average reduction of $1.25 a ton made last April and in addition adds another increase of $8.09 a ton in base prices for major steel products.

The corporation said the increase of $8.09 represented a percentage increase of about 9.6 per cent. The corporation granted 170,000 production workers an increase in wages of about nine per cent last Friday and cited other rising costs as back of the boost.

Benjamin F. Fairless, president, said the corporation tried to stem the rising cost of living by cutting prices $1.25 a ton last April and refusing to grant wage increases to steel workers who were bound by a two-year no-strike contract.

Today Fairless said: "The price reduction of last April was a part of an unsuccessful effort by the subsidiaries to aid in retarding further increases in the cost of living.

"This price reduction was not generally followed throughout the steel industry. Because of it many steel competitors are today substantially higher than the present prices of the subsidiaries for similar steel products."

Herriot Or Reynaud May Succeed Schuman

PARIS, July 20 (AP)—The names Edouard Herriot and Paul Reynaud were most mentioned for Premier tonight as the French searched for a strong government to speak for them in the four-power dealings they expect over Berlin.

Premier Robert Schuman resigned last night after the Socialists quit his Cabinet and voted against his defense budget.

Friends of former Premier Herriot were especially anxious to have the 76-year-old president of the National Assembly come back and head the government through what one of them described as the "trying months ahead."

Reynaud, last Premier before the surrender to the Germans in 1940, was opposed in some quarters because his name is linked with the disaster of 1940.

Eaton Calls For Truman To Estimate Situation

WASHINGTON, July 20 (AP)—With tension mounting in Berlin, a leading Republican congressman said today that President Truman should tell Congress how close the United States is to war with Russia.

Rep. Eaton (R-NJ), white-haired chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, suggested that the President deliver his estimate of the situation when Congress reconvenes upon his call next Monday.

Rep. Eaton told reporters that in his first announcement that he is recalling Congress, Mr. Truman mentioned only domestic matters. Eaton declared, however, that the situation resulting from the Russian food blockade of Berlin is "the supreme issue confronting not only the nation but also the world."

Quiz Winners Persuaded To Accept $7,300 Prize

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., July 20 (AP)—Ever try to give away a large sum of money—say, $7,300? It ought to be easy. But it wasn't here today.

Radio executives called in Mayor Douglas C. Tomkies for moral support before the Mutual Broadcasting System persuaded Mr. and Mrs. Jack L. Adams they should accept a check for $7,300.

Adams won the money Saturday night by participating — via telephone—on a national network program (Mutual's "Three for the Money"). For a few hours the 27-year-old war veteran, employe of a telephone company, thought of little other than what he and his wife would do with the money.

Then well-wishers and salesmen of everything from cemeteries to motor scooters began telling him what to do with it. All had a plan. The Adams telephone rang incessantly. Adams got little rest, hardly had time to eat. His wife and Adams' parents became nervous and upset by all the hubub.

On Sunday night Adams called Mutual to say that because they were being "hounded to death" they had decided not to take the money.

Mutual sent Edward Lee here from New York today to convince them they should. The network's local outlet (WPLH) arranged a conference in one of its studios. Mr. and Mrs. Adams were present; and after 15 minutes of negotiation finally took the money.

State Suspends Licenses Of 525 More Motorists

BALTIMORE, July 20 (AP)—The state suspended the licenses and registrations of 525 more motorists June 30 for failure to comply with Maryland's Financial Responsibility Act at the end of the fiscal year, the Department of Motor Vehicles reported today.

This brough to 5,207 the total of Maryland drivers whose licenses remain under suspension at the end of last month. Those suspended for out-of-state drivers amounted to 1,085.

Miner Killed, Another Missing In Explosion

MCCURTAIN, Okla., July 20 (AP)—Rescue crews searched the fire-seared Lone Star coal mine here today for Lars Vince, 54, missing after an explosion which killed a fellow miner.

Millard Hatley, 27, died of suffocation after the blast, which General Mine Superintendent Campbell Cameron said was set off by the derailment of a loaded string of coal cars in the main shaft.

Nineteen other workers walked to safety through a vertical airshaft of the slope-type mine.

Biggest Bargain Counter Prepares To Close Shop

WASHINGTON, July 20. (AP)—The biggest bargain counter in the county is preparing to close up shop and go out of business.

It is the War Assets Administration, which has sold, leased and given away surplus war property originally costing the government $23,000,000,000. It still has $5,500,000,000 worth of odds and ends to get rid of.

Congress has decreed that WAA shall be abolished next February 28.

So today Administrator Jess Larson told his regional directors to clear their shelves and get their books in order.

Since WAA was established shortly after the war ended, it has done a land office business in war factories, jeeps, blankets, flashlights, life rafts, air fields and practically any commodity imaginable.

Larson said that as of July 1 he had this property on hand:

Real property (land and buildings) $4,200,000,000 including $1,000,000,000 on lease; personal property $475,000,000, and aircraft and aircraft parts $760,000,000.

What has the government realized in cash from its bargain sale?

The books show, an agency spokesman told a reporter, cash income from sales and leases of approximately $4,000,000,000.

But, he hastened to explain, the $23 billion original cost is considerable above the sale or second hand value of the property.

Besides, the government gave away property costing $9,000,000,000. Of the remainder a considerable amount is represented by leases. Also said the WAA man, some of the property was good only for junking.

U. S. COMMUNIST LEADERS INDICTED

Clay En Route To U. S.; Berlin Crisis Grows

75 Jet Planes Will Bolster American Air Power In Germany

BERLIN, Wednesday, July 21 (AP)—Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American commander in Germany, flew to Washington last night in an Army plane. He will report on the growing Berlin crisis.

Clay took off from Frankfurt, accompanied by his political adviser, Robert Murphy, and will outline current strife with the Russians to the Department of the Army. He is expected to return to Berlin Sunday.

Before he left, announcement was made that American air power in Germany would be bolstered by 75 jet-propelled fighter planes.

The American moves followed a surprise Russian announcement that they were prepared to supply all of Berlin with food. The Russian announcement was labeled "propaganda" by Allied spokesmen who tended to discount it in view of the fact that it would defeat the apparent purpose of the Russian blockade of Berlin.

United States spokesmen in England said the 75 "Shooting Stars" jets, comprising a full group of fighters, would arrive in Scotland August 4 on the aircraft carrier Sicily, and would be flown to Germany—but not to Berlin.

Jets May Be Used As Escorts

Another 16 fighters of the same type are en route to Germany in the first east-bound jet crossing of the Atlantic. In addition, 60 giant B-29 Superfortresses have arrived at three RAF air fields in England for "training missions."

There was some speculation the jets might be used as escorts for the flying freight wagons now supplying blockaded Berlin with food, if the Western Powers decide that step is necessary.

The report of Clay and Murphy, the top American policy makers in Germany, is expected to play a major part in deciding the next American step in the battle to break the Russian blockade. Sharp counter-measures have been reported under consideration since Russia refused to yield to stiff protest notes from Britain, France and the United States. Proposals have ranged from excluding Russians from Allied routes in other parts of the world to the drastic step of sending an armed supply convoy through Russian barriers.

Skepticism Greets Soviet Offer

The Russian promise to supply food to Western Berliners was not put into practice today. The Russians said they would help feed all of the city's residents, including 2,000,000 in the western sectors, with the aid of 100,000 tons of bread and grain to be shipped from the Soviet Union.

Both the American and British military governments were skeptical of the Russian offer. Gen. Clay said "the proof is in the performance, not in the statement." The British officially labeled the offer "pure propaganda" and promised that "the British with the United States of America will continue to supply the food necessary for the western sectors."

Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, Selective Service director, emphasized that all men 18 through 25, unless they already are in the active armed services, must register.

"Exemptees" Must Register

Whether or not a man is exempt from the draft makes no difference, he said. All must register, unless they now are in the regular forces and on active duty.

Gen. Hershey estimated that this means approximately 9,500,000 men will sign up at America's 4,000 draft offices in the 20-day period beginning August 30.

The registration dates are staggered, with men 25 signing up first, men 24 next, and so on.

President Truman's proclamation calling for registration set these dates:

Men born in 1922 after August 30 will register first of all on August 30. These are men of 25, about 300,000 of them, who would be ineligible after one more birthday.

Next to register will be all born in the year 1923. Some of these will be 24, some 25. But all born in 1923 will register August 31-September 1.

Remainder Of Schedule

Persons born in 1924 will register September 2-3; 1925, September 4 or September 7; 1926, September 8-9; 1927, September 10-11; 1928, September 13-14; 1929, September 15-16; and persons born in 1930 before September 19 must register September 17-18.

Boys born on or after September 19, 1930, will register on their eighteenth birthday, or within five days of it.

Registration will take place in the United States, Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

Just because registration dates are ordered by age group does not mean men will be drafted in that order, Selective Service headquarters said today.

"This has not been decided yet," they said.

Neither has it been decided how many men will be called. That, said Selective Service, is up to the Army, and will depend a lot on how many volunteers are signed up.

14 Paint, Varnish Firms Accused Of Price Fixing

Indictments Handed Down In U. S. District Court At Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, July 20 (AP) — The United States government today charged some of the nation's largest manufacturers in the billion dollar paint industry with conspiracy to fix prices of paints and wood finishes.

Indictments handed down in Federal District Court here named 14 compañies which make nearly half the nation's paints, varnishes, enamels and lacquers, and 20 officials of these firms.

Attorney General Tom Clark said at Washington the cases were instituted as part of the anti-trust program aimed at "illegal conspiracies" in the housing field.

He explained that the indictments claimed the defendants eliminated price competition by agreeing to fix and stabilize prices with the effect of "unreasonably increasing" the prices of the commodities.

Record Price Jumps

Commerce Department records "indicate that prices in the paint industry rose more rapidly after the removal of OPA ceilings than in any other industry," the Justice Department said.

One indictment listed these defendants as producers of paints, varnishes, enamels, and lacquers: Sherwin-Williams Company, Cleveland; American-Marietta Company, Chicago; Cook Paint and Varnish Company, Kansas City, Mo.; Devoe and Reynolds Company, Inc., New York; E. I. duPont de Nemours and Company, Wilmington, Del.; General Paint Corporation, San Francisco; the Glidden Company, Cleveland; the Interchemical Corporation, New York, and the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, Pittsburgh.

These manufacturers produced and sold more than 45 per cent of the $1,000,000,000 worth of paints, varnishes, enamels and lacquers sold in the United States in 1947, the indictment said.

Second Group Listed

A second group was described as producers of lacquers, varnishes, enamels and stains for use in the wood furniture industry. They were E. I. duPont de Nemours and Company; American-Marietta Company; Columbus Varnish Company, Columbus, O.; Grand Rapids Varnish Company, Grand Rapids, Mich.; the Lilly Company, High Point, N. C.; the Lilly Varnish Company, Indianapolis, Ind.; Sherwin-Williams Company, and the Southern Varnish Corporation, Roanoke, Va.

This indictment said the lacquer firms produced and sold more than 60 per cent of the $50,000,000 in sales of wood finishes in the United States in 1947.

Pub Television For Kids Halted; Poet Gets Assist

NEWARK, N. J., July 20 (AP)—Tavern television for the kiddies was declared out today, and you can credit Henry Wadsworth Longfellow with an assist on the play.

Patrick Radigan, a Hoboken bar proprietor who has been staging a "Children's Hour" for youngsters who want to watch his tavern television set, was ordered to stop the practice immediately. The bar was closed and adults were excluded during the session.

Alcoholic Beverage Control Commissioner Erwin B. Hock, who issued the decree, referred to the famous New England poet, in issuing his order.

"Longfellow would turn over in his grave if he could see the locale of your 'Children's Hour,'" Hock told the bar owner.

Ship Firms Seek Strike Damages

WASHINGTON, July 20—(AP)—An employer group asked the National Labor Relations Board today to require the National Maritime Union to pay the losses the firms suffered in a strike.

In the same hearing the NMU's hiring hall came under attack and defense. The hiring hall, through which union members get job preference, was the main issue in the one-month Great Lakes strike for which the shipping firms asked compensation.

Union insistence on maintaining the hiring halls also was the ground on which the employers classed the strike as illegal, making it the basis of their damage claim.

The strike was ended by court injunction on June 14, one day before the NMU and six other unions were restrained from a similar walkout on the Atlantic, Pacific, and Gulf coasts.

NLRB General Counsel Robert N. Denham has contended that the hiring hall is a form of the closed shop which the Taft-Hartley act outlaws.

NLRB Trial Examiner Howard Myers upheld the general counsel, saying that the NMU refused to bargain with four oil tanker companies on the Great Lakes when it insisted on retaining the 12-year old hiring hall system. The carriers said the system was illegal.

The idea that the union should pay for losses due to an illegal strike was advanced by Minier Sargent, Chicago attorney representing three shipping firms. Sargent said the NMU walkout was in violation of contract.

The company attorney said the board for years had required employers to pay back wages to workers found to have been illegally discharged. Under the same reasoning, he argued, unions should be forced to pay for illegal activities.

State Suspends Licenses Of 525 More Motorists

BALTIMORE, July 20 (AP)—The state suspended the licenses and registrations of 525 more motorists June 30 for failure to comply with Maryland's Financial Responsibility Act at the end of the fiscal year, the Department of Motor Vehicles reported today.

This brough to 5,207 the total of Maryland drivers whose licenses remain under suspension at the end of last month. Those suspended for out-of-state drivers amounted to 1,085.

Wallace Party's Platform Writers Get Down To Work

Expected To Blast Policy Toward USSR

PHILADELPHIA, July 20—(AP)—Against a backdrop of the Berlin crisis, Henry Wallace's third party plunged into platform writing today with indication it will call for repeal of the draft law and blast America's present policy toward Russia.

Foreign policy was given the top spot in the preparation of the preliminary platform draft.

Meeting three days ahead of the formal convening of the new party's convention, the 74-member platform committee, in secret session, was reported also to be considering proposals for nationalization of basic American industries.

Differences Of Opinion

Rexford Guy Tugwell, platform chairman and one of the original "brain trusters" of the New Deal, declined to discuss details of the committee's work. But there were indications of some differences of opinion on how far the platform should go both on foreign policy and industry nationalization.

The platform is expected to follow the call of Wallace—the party's founder—for things like this:

1—Repeal of the peacetime draft call.

2—A slashing of prices down to the levels of 1946.

3—Repeal of the Taft-Hartley Labor Act, and a minimum wage for labor of at least $1 an hour.

4—Adequate housing.

Windmill signs separately calling for "abundance," "freedom," "peace," went up on the marquee at Bellevue-Stratford Hotel headquarters where the Republican elephant and Democratic donkey drew so much attention in recent weeks.

Wallace To Accept Saturday

Convention arrangements moved ahead with announcement that Albert Fitzgerald, president of the CIO United Electrical Workers, will introduce Wallace for his presidential nomination acceptance speech at Shibe Park Saturday night.

The mass rally will high spot the New Party founding convention which opens Friday night. It will be open to the public with tickets selling at 65 cents, $1.30 and $2.60 to raise campaign funds.

Discussion of foreign policy, a platform committee spokesman said, appeared to be anti-bipartisan—as the Truman administration insisted on it—and against both the Marshall Plan and the Truman Doctrine.

"They believe," he stated, "that the question of peace can be worked out through a strong United Nations with relief based on need rather than on political expediency."

Dewey's Camp Raps Truman Congress Call

Says GOP Platform Can't Be Approved At "Rump" Session

WASHINGTON, July 20 (AP)—The Thomas E. Dewey camp said today that the 1948 Republican platform can't possibly be written into law by what it called the "rump" session of Congress starting next Monday.

Herbert Brownell, Jr., Gov. Dewey's campaign manager, handed down the word. He told a news conference:

"The Republican platform calls for the enactment of a program by a Republican Congress under the leadership of a Republican president.

"Obviously, this cannot be done at a rump session called at a political convention for political purposes in the heat of a political campaign."

Brownell wouldn't say what he meant by "rump" session, but his criticism was leveled at President Truman's announcement of the Congress call when he accepted the Democratic nomination last week at Philadelphia.

Filibuster Threatens

At that time, Mr. Truman ticked off a list of measures he wants passed. Many of these, he said, the Republicans supported in their platform. He said he would give them a chance to carry out their pledges.

He said it would be wrong to read into the statement any idea that Dewey wants Congress to take no action at the forthcoming session.

Congressional leaders undoubtedly will meet early next week, Brownell said, to discuss what the session can and should do.

The session may open with a filibuster.

A Republican leader, Sen. Wherry, of Nebraska, hinted broadly that civil rights legislation demanded by President Truman may come up for Senate debate when Congress starts work after convening Monday.

Automatically this would turn on a storm of angry southern oratory to talk the bill to death. It could serve to drive deeper the wedge between the harmony-seeking Truman followers and the Dixie wing of the Democratic Party.

GOP Has No Program Yet

Unlike President Truman, Wherry said he is not so sure enough votes could be mustered to cut off debate. This would require a two-thirds majority.

Wherry, who acted as GOP floor leader most of the recent session, told reporters that the party leadership has not yet decided on any program. But he observed:

"The only legislation in the President's program that I know of that is ready is these civil rights bills."

The Senate has passed housing and federal aid to education bills, which the President wants. But Wherry noted that other measures on his program have not cleared Senate committees.

U. S. Steel Hikes Price $9.34 Ton

NEW YORK, July 20 (AP)—United States Steel Corporation, America's largest producer, today announced an average price increase of $9.34 a ton on finished steel products of its subsidiaries.

The increase, effective tomorrow, restores an average reduction of $1.25 a ton made last April and in addition adds another increase of $8.09 a ton in base prices for major steel products.

The corporation said the increase of $8.09 represented a percentage increase of about 9.6 per cent. The corporation granted 170,000 production workers an increase in wages of about nine per cent last Friday and cited other rising costs as back of the boost.

Benjamin F. Fairless, president, said the corporation tried to stem the rising cost of living by cutting prices $1.25 a ton last April and refusing to grant wage increases to steel workers who were bound by a two-year no-strike contract.

Today Fairless said: "The price reduction of last April was a part of an unsuccessful effort by the subsidiaries to aid in retarding further increases in the cost of living.

"This price reduction was not generally followed throughout the steel industry. Because of it many steel competitors are today substantially higher than the present prices of the subsidiaries for similar steel products."

Miner Killed, Another Missing In Explosion

MCCURTAIN, Okla., July 20 (AP)—Rescue crews searched the fire-seared Lone Star coal mine here today for Lars Vince, 54, missing after an explosion which killed a fellow miner.

Millard Hatley, 27, died of suffocation after the blast, which General Mine Superintendent Campbell Cameron said was set off by the derailment of a loaded string of coal cars in the main shaft.

Nineteen other workers walked to safety through a vertical airshaft of the slope-type mine.

Party Boss, 11 Others Accused Of Plotting Against Government

INDICTED—William Z. Foster (above), head of the Communist Party of America, was among the 12 United States Communist Party leaders and members indicted yesterday on charges of advocating the overthrow of the government.

Seven Under Arrest; Party Characterizes Charges As "Frameup"

NEW YORK, July 20 (AP)—Twelve United States Communist Party leaders and members were indicted today on charges of advocating the overthrow of the United States government.

Among them was William Z. Foster, head of the Communist Party of America.

Seven of the group, including General Secretary Eugene V. Dennis, were arrested and arraigned on the charges.

The others, named along with the first seven in secret indictments returned by a federal grand jury investigating alleged subversive activities, were being sought.

A formal statement by the Communist Party, released a few minutes before the seven were arraigned, denied the charges and characterized them as a "monstrous frameup."

One of the group was arrested and arraigned in Detroit, Mich., tonight. He was Carl Winters, 41, chairman of the Michigan State Council of the Communist Party and a member of the party's national committee.

The others were taken into custody in New York City. All those arraigned here entered pleas of innocent, and the same plea was entered for Winters in Detroit.

The other four under arrest were: New York City Councilman Benjamin Davis; John B. Williamson, trade union secretary for the party; Henry Winston, party organizational secretary, and Jacob Stachel, educational secretary.

Members Of Party's Board

All 12 indicted were identified by federal authorities as members of the Communist Party's National Board. Davis and Winston are negroes.

The five being sought were identified as:

Irving Potash, manager of the CIO Furriers Joint Council of New York City; John Gates, editor since July, 1947, of the Daily Worker, official organ of the Communist Party in the United States; Robert G. Thompson, chairman of the New York State Communist Party; Gilbert Green, Chicago, Ill., district chairman for the Communist Party at Chicago, and Gus Hall, Cleveland, Ohio, chairman of the Ohio Communist Party.

The indictments charged all with "conspiring to teach and advocate the overthrow of the United States government by force and violence."

The six arrested in New York City were arraigned before Federal Judge Vincent Leibel, who set bail at $5,000 for each.

Amount of the bail set for those arrested here was protested vigorously by attorneys for the group.

Judge Leibell granted a request for a 30-day period in which to file motions, and set August 23 as the deadline for this action.

Leibell then ordered the men held in jail until bail is posted.

Shortly before 9 p. m. (EST) the six defendants in New York City were paroled overnight in the custody of counsel after Leibell had

Subversives Use U.N. To Enter U.S., Senate Group Told

Presence Is Called Threat To Security

WASHINGTON, July 20 (AP)—A State Department official says he thinks every representative of a Russian satellite country in the United States is here to spread propaganda.

"Their presence here is a threat to the security of the United States," he declared.

But the official, William Harlow, chief of the department's diplomatic visa section, said "we have got to have tangible information" that such is their primary objective in coming to this country before they can be refused entry.

"If you cut all those people out, you will have no United Nations, and that will not be permitted," he said.

Harlow confirmed previous testimony of department officials given before the staff of a Senate Judiciary Subcommittee that at least several hundred known or suspected subversives have been admitted as attaches or employes of the United Nations and related organizations. He added:

"I don't think anything can be done about it as long as the seat of the United Nations remains in the United States."

At Lake Success, United Nations officials expressed surprise at the testimony. Further information was requested by a spokesman for the United States delegation.

Harlow also testified before the subcommittee staff. He said that persons applying for admission to this country on United Nations missions cannot be denied visas unless the department has prior evidence that their presence will endanger public safety.

They are granted limited visas valid only for the official United Nations site and the immediate vicinity, he said, but "what they do after they get here we cannot control." He said that is the responsibility of the Department of Justice and the Immigration Service.

He said an anarchist would be denied entry but "an ordinary, every day, run of the mill Communist can get a visa."

Harlow said it is possible under existing law for a tremendous number of subversives to gain admission by the United Nations site route.

"There is no limit on the number of people that come in," he said.

The subcommittee is making a general study of immigration laws. The previous testimony of State Department officials was made public today.

Herriot Or Reynaud May Succeed Schuman

PARIS, July 20 (AP)—The names Edouard Herriot and Paul Reynaud were most mentioned for Premier tonight as the French searched for a strong government to speak for them in the four-power dealings they expect over Berlin.

Premier Robert Schuman resigned last night after the Socialists quit his Cabinet and voted against his defense budget.

Friends of former Premier Herriot were especially anxious to have the 76-year-old president of the National Assembly come back and head the government through what one of them described as the "trying months ahead."

Reynaud, last Premier before the surrender to the Germans in 1940, was opposed in some quarters because his name is linked with the disaster of 1940.

Quiz Winners Persuaded To Accept $7,300 Prize

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., July 20 (AP)—Ever try to give away a large sum of money—say, $7,300? It ought to be easy. But it wasn't here today.

Radio executives called in Mayor Douglas C. Tomkies for moral support before the Mutual Broadcasting System persuaded Mr. and Mrs. Jack L. Adams they should accept a check for $7,300.

Adams won the money Saturday night by participating — via telephone—on a national network program (Mutual's "Three for the Money"). For a few hours the 27-year-old war veteran, employe of a telephone company, thought of little other than what he and his wife would do with the money.

Then well-wishers and salesmen of everything from cemeteries to motor scooters began telling him what to do with it. All had a plan. The Adams telephone rang incessantly. Adams got little rest, hardly had time to eat. His wife and Adams' parents became nervous and upset by all the hubub.

On Sunday night Adams called Mutual to say that because they were being "hounded to death" they had decided not to take the money.

Mutual sent Edward Lee here from New York today to convince them they should. The network's local outlet (WPLH) arranged a conference in one of its studios. Mr. and Mrs. Adams were present; and after 15 minutes of negotiation finally took the money.

Biggest Bargain Counter Prepares To Close Shop

WASHINGTON, July 20. (AP)—The biggest bargain counter in the county is preparing to close up shop and go out of business.

It is the War Assets Administration, which has sold, leased and given away surplus war property originally costing the government $23,000,000,000. It still has $5,500,000,000 worth of odds and ends to get rid of.

Congress has decreed that WAA shall be abolished next February 28.

So today Administrator Jess Larson told his regional directors to clear their shelves and get their books in order.

Since WAA was established shortly after the war ended, it has done a land office business in war factories, jeeps, blankets, flashlights, life rafts, air fields and practically any commodity imaginable.

Larson said that as of July 1 he had this property on hand:

Real property (land and buildings) $4,200,000,000 including $1,000,000,000 on lease; personal property $475,000,000, and aircraft and aircraft parts $760,000,000.

What has the government realized in cash from its bargain sale?

The books show, an agency spokesman told a reporter, cash income from sales and leases of approximately $4,000,000,000.

But, he hastened to explain, the $23 billion original cost is considerable above the sale or second hand value of the property.

Besides, the government gave away property costing $9,000,000,000. Of the remainder a considerable amount is represented by leases. Also said the WAA man, some of the property was good only for junking.

British Atomic Project Unveiled

HARWELL, England, July 20 (AP)—The most secret spot in England—the square mile of Berkshire where British atomic scientists work—was shown to the press today.

Sir John D. Cockcroft, chief of the project, warned in a short talk that miracles must not be expected. He said it will be at least 10 years before atomic energy will be a big factor in life. He added it will be at least that long before atomic energy becomes a practical means of providing heat and power for homes and factories.

Sir John refused to answer whether Great Britain "right now" could produce an atom bomb. "It's a question with political implications and of no concern to scientists," he said.

He said obstacles which have not been overcome in America, or anywhere else as far as British scientists know, stand in the way of harnessing of the power which atoms can produce, changing their natures in a pile.

But Harwell's secret square mile, an old RAF base, buzzes with activity. Several thousand persons, the exact number has not been disclosed, are busy in a dozen large buildings and many smaller structures.

Miners Given Suspended Sentences For Attack

GRUNDY, Va., July 20 (AP) — Ninety-seven of the 178 union miners indicted under Virginia's anti-lynch law pleaded guilty late today and received suspended penitentiary sentences of five years each.

The mass arraignment in Buchanan Circuit Court came late in the afternoon after two days of conferences behind closed doors by opposing attorneys in the case.

Specifically, the 97 men pleaded guilty to one indictment charging that they violated the mob violence provision of the anti-lynch law in an attack upon Robert J. Gillian, operator of the non-union strip mine, last night.

Gov. Meadows To Meet With Du Pont Negotiators

CHARLESTON, W. Va., July 20 (AP)—While pickets paraded outside his home and office, Gov. Meadows agreed today to meet again with negotiators in hopes of settling the troublesome duPont strike.

Meanwhile, a duPont employe's home was destroyed by fire at Campbell's Creek and State Fire Marshal Robert H. Kidd began an investigation saying there could be little doubt but what it had been deliberately set.

State Trooper B. E. Barker said the home was owned by Oliver H. Rohrig, who had indicated to him he was an active supporter of the CIO Chemical Workers Union and had remained on duty despite the strike called by UMW District 50 on July 12.

No Hitch Here

BALTIMORE, July 20 (AP)—Col. Henry C. Stanwood, director of Maryland's Office of Selective Service Records, disclosed today that 85 per cent of the members of the state's World War II draft boards are available for peacetime draft board duties.

Leibel ordered the men to be in court tomorrow morning to post bail.

Embarrasses Wallace Party

The Communist Party statement added:

"The American people can now see to what desperate provocations Truman is driven in an effort to win the election, by hook or crook. As the New York Sun flatly stated, the reported indictment of the Communists is neatly timed to embarrass the new people's party now holding its founding convention in Philadelphia."

That was a reference to Henry Wallace's New Party.

In Philadelphia, C. B. Baldwin, campaign manager for Wallace, said:

"We aren't making any statement on this because it doesn't involve the New Party. My only answer would be 'no comment.'"

Foster, who succeeded Earl Browder as chief of the American Communist Party, has been affiliated with the party since 1919, federal officials said. He has been three times party candidate for United States President.

The others are long-time party members, federal officials added. Several are facing deportation proceedings.

All those mention in the indictments specifically are charged with violating the Smith Act. Federal officials said the maximum penalty for conviction under this act is 10 years imprisonment and a fine of $10,000 for each charge.

Baltimore Radio Stations Accused Of Violating Rules On Crime News

BALTIMORE, July 20 (AP)—The Baltimore Supreme Bench today cited five radio stations and a radio news commentator for contempt of court on charges they violated its unique rules on crime news.

Those named were Maryland Broadcasting Company, owners and operators of station WITH; James P. Connolly, news editor of WITH; Hearst Radio, Inc., owners and operators of WBAL; Baltimore Broadcasting Corporation, owners and operators of WCBM; Baltimore Radio Show, Inc., owners and operators of WFBR, and Sidney H. Tinley, owner of WSID in suburban Essex.

They were given until August 16 to answer.

The charges all grew out of a case in which Eugene James, 31-year-old negro janitor, is accused of the knife murder of 11-year-old Marsha Brill. She was riding on her bicycle with playmates through a wooded section near her home in Northwest Baltimore on July 6.

James was indicted in Washington yesterday for the similar slaying of 11-year-old Carol Bardwell 10 days earlier. Carol was riding her bicycle in Washington's Rock Creek Park near her home. Her throat was slashed.

The Supreme Bench, made up of judges who preside over state courts in Baltimore, said the broadcasters gave reports concerning alleged statements, conduct and actions of James "embarrassing and obstructing the administration of justice."

Under the Supreme Bench rules, it is in contempt of court to publish or broadcast any statements an accused makes after he is arrested, to report or comment on his conduct, to tell what evidence the police have discovered, or discuss his past criminal record. His photograph may not be published without his consent.

Mrs. Whitehurst Resigns As Women's Council Head

BALTIMORE, July 20 (AP) — Mrs. John L. Whitehurst resigned today as president of the Maryland Women's Council so there will be no conflicts with her new job as Democratic National Committeewoman for Maryland.

The Baltimore woman said her resignation would "avoid any possible implications which may be attributed to a partisan leader of a bi-partisan group."

Mrs. Whitehurst succeeded M. Alice Canoles as the Democratic committeewoman as the result of action by the Maryland delegation to the Democratic national convention.

Most Decorated Soldier Assails U. S. Diplomats

NEW YORK, July 20 (AP)—Former Lt. Audie Murphy, America's most-decorated World War II soldier, today called United States diplomatic representatives in France "fat-headed" and said some are "laying down on their jobs."

He said they are "too lazy to get out and do their job."

Murphy, who holds more than 20 decorations for war service including the Congressional Medal of Honor, has just returned from a trip to France. He received two of France's highest medals while there.

He assailed American diplomats during a radio interview.

Devil Debate May Be Broadcast By Chain

ANNAPOLIS, Md., July 20 (AP) — Alexander W. Andrews, who doesn't believe there's a devil, and his adversaries who do are all set for their radio debate, probably next week.

But General Manager Edwin R. Mowbray, of WASL, said today he doesn't know how many people will hear the forensics.

The local station, which will put the devil debate on the air, is dickering with a national chain for a coast-to-coast broadcast.

Andrews, who started the fuss over whether Satan and hell really exist with a challenge to any three Protestant ministers to prove it, said he expects to tell his side in about three minutes. The 64-year-old ex-Sunday school teacher from Shadyside has offered his antagonists 50 minutes.

Rev. James L. Smiley, 83, vicar of St. Enne's Parish, already has his script ready. He said he expects "to convert" Andrews.

Rev. Smiley's colleagues have yet to be chosen from a host of volunteers from Baltimore and Washington churches, Mowbray said.

British Atomic Project Unveiled

HARWELL, England, July 20 (AP)—The most secret spot in England—the square mile of Berkshire where British atomic scientists work—was shown to the press today.

Sir John D. Cockcroft, chief of the project, warned in a short talk that miracles must not be expected. He said it will be at least 10 years before atomic energy will be a big factor in life. He added it will be at least that long before atomic energy becomes a practical means of providing heat and power for homes and factories.

Sir John refused to answer whether Great Britain "right now" could produce an atom bomb. "It's a question with political implications and of no concern to scientists," he said.

He said obstacles which have not been overcome in America, or anywhere else as far as British scientists know, stand in the way of harnessing of the power which atoms can produce, changing their natures in a pile.

But Harwell's secret square mile, an old RAF base, buzzes with activity. Several thousand persons, the exact number has not been disclosed, are busy in a dozen large buildings and many smaller structures.

Miners Given Suspended Sentences For Attack

GRUNDY, Va., July 20 (AP) — Ninety-seven of the 178 union miners indicted under Virginia's anti-lynch law pleaded guilty late today and received suspended penitentiary sentences of five years each.

The mass arraignment in Buchanan Circuit Court came late in the afternoon after two days of conferences behind closed doors by opposing attorneys in the case.

Specifically, the 97 men pleaded guilty to one indictment charging that they violated the mob violence provision of the anti-lynch law in an attack upon Robert J. Gillian, operator of the non-union strip mine, last night.

WEST VIRGINIA — Warm and humid today and tomorrow with a few scattered afternoon or evening thundershowers.

WESTERN PENNSYLVANIA — Warm and humid today and tomorrow with a few scattered thunderstorms.

A tossed fruit salad is easy to make and delightful to taste. Section grapefruit and oranges, add fairly large dicings of pears and nuts. Toss the fruit lightly in a bowl with prepared salad dressing. Serve in lettuce cups.

Gov. Meadows To Meet With Du Pont Negotiators

CHARLESTON, W. Va., July 20 (AP)—While pickets paraded outside his home and office, Gov. Meadows agreed today to meet again with negotiators in hopes of settling the troublesome duPont strike.

Meanwhile, a duPont employe's home was destroyed by fire at Campbell's Creek and State Fire Marshal Robert H. Kidd began an investigation saying there could be little doubt but what it had been deliberately set.

State Trooper B. E. Barker said the home was owned by Oliver H. Rohrig, who had indicated to him he was an active supporter of the CIO Chemical Workers Union and had remained on duty despite the strike called by UMW District 50 on July 12.

No Hitch Here

BALTIMORE, July 20 (AP)—Col. Henry C. Stanwood, director of Maryland's Office of Selective Service Records, disclosed today that 85 per cent of the members of the state's World War II draft boards are available for peacetime draft board duties.

Party Boss,

been told it had been impossible to post bonds because of the lateness of the hour.

Leibel ordered the men to be in court tomorrow morning to post bail.

Embarrasses Wallace Party

The Communist Party statement added:

"The American people can now see to what desperate provocations Truman is driven in an effort to win the election, by hook or crook. As the New York Sun flatly stated, the reported indictment of the Communists is neatly timed to embarrass the new people's party now holding its founding convention in Philadelphia."

That was a reference to Henry Wallace's New Party.

In Philadelphia, C. B. Baldwin, campaign manager for Wallace, said:

"We aren't making any statement on this because it doesn't involve the New Party. My only answer would be 'no comment.'"

Foster, who succeeded Earl Browder as chief of the American Communist Party, has been affiliated with the party since 1919, federal officials said. He has been three times party candidate for United States President.

The others are long-time party members, federal officials added. Several are facing deportation proceedings.

All those mention in the indictments specifically are charged with violating the Smith Act. Federal officials said the maximum penalty for conviction under this act is 10 years imprisonment and a fine of $10,000 for each charge.

Baltimore Radio Stations Accused Of Violating Rules On Crime News

BALTIMORE, July 20 (AP)—The Baltimore Supreme Bench today cited five radio stations and a radio news commentator for contempt of court on charges they violated its unique rules on crime news.

Those named were Maryland Broadcasting Company, owners and operators of station WITH; James P. Connolly, news editor of WITH; Hearst Radio, Inc., owners and operators of WBAL; Baltimore Broadcasting Corporation, owners and operators of WCBM; Baltimore Radio Show, Inc., owners and operators of WFBR, and Sidney H. Tinley, owner of WSID in suburban Essex.

They were given until August 16 to answer.

The charges all grew out of a case in which Eugene James, 31-year-old negro janitor, is accused of the knife murder of 11-year-old Marsha Brill. She was riding on her bicycle with playmates through a wooded section near her home in Northwest Baltimore on July 6.

James was indicted in Washington yesterday for the similar slaying of 11-year-old Carol Bardwell 10 days earlier. Carol was riding her bicycle in Washington's Rock Creek Park near her home. Her throat was slashed.

The Supreme Bench, made up of judges who preside over state courts in Baltimore, said the broadcasters gave reports concerning alleged statements, conduct and actions of James "embarrassing and obstructing the administration of justice."

Under the Supreme Bench rules, it is in contempt of court to publish or broadcast any statements an accused makes after he is arrested, to report or comment on his conduct, to tell what evidence the police have discovered, or discuss his past criminal record. His photograph may not be published without his consent.

Mrs. Whitehurst Resigns As Women's Council Head

BALTIMORE, July 20 (AP) — Mrs. John L. Whitehurst resigned today as president of the Maryland Women's Council so there will be no conflicts with her new job as Democratic National Committeewoman for Maryland.

The Baltimore woman said her resignation would "avoid any possible implications which may be attributed to a partisan leader of a bi-partisan group."

Mrs. Whitehurst succeeded M. Alice Canoles as the Democratic committeewoman as the result of action by the Maryland delegation to the Democratic national convention.

Most Decorated Soldier Assails U. S. Diplomats

NEW YORK, July 20 (AP)—Former Lt. Audie Murphy, America's most-decorated World War II soldier, today called United States diplomatic representatives in France "fat-headed" and said some are "laying down on their jobs."

He said they are "too lazy to get out and do their job."

Murphy, who holds more than 20 decorations for war service including the Congressional Medal of Honor, has just returned from a trip to France. He received two of France's highest medals while there.

He assailed American diplomats during a radio interview.

Devil Debate May Be Broadcast By Chain

ANNAPOLIS, Md., July 20 (AP) — Alexander W. Andrews, who doesn't believe there's a devil, and his adversaries who do are all set for their radio debate, probably next week.

But General Manager Edwin R. Mowbray, of WASL, said today he doesn't know how many people will hear the forensics.

The local station, which will put the devil debate on the air, is dickering with a national chain for a coast-to-coast broadcast.

Andrews, who started the fuss over whether Satan and hell really exist with a challenge to any three Protestant ministers to prove it, said he expects to tell his side in about three minutes. The 64-year-old ex-Sunday school teacher from Shadyside has offered his antagonists 50 minutes.

Rev. James L. Smiley, 83, vicar of St. Enne's Parish, already has his script ready. He said he expects "to convert" Andrews.

Rev. Smiley's colleagues have yet to be chosen from a host of volunteers from Baltimore and Washington churches, Mowbray said.

Foregoing High-Priced Meats Smart Consumer Move

All over the country, according to press reports, living costs are rising with summer temperatures, and Cumberland and adjacent areas are no exceptions. In a single month meat prices have risen from four to 14 cents a pound, while here, according to a survey made by The Cumberland News, the rise has been 10 to 15 per cent in the past week. It has resulted in a buyers' strike and as a result, consumers' demand has decreased between 30 and 40 per cent, according to observers. It is one of the surest means of bringing prices down, and the housewife will be smart to continue refusing to buy at prices now asked.

The rise in living costs has not been confined to meats. Butter prices have risen from three to six cents a pound, and milk a cent a quart in many places.

Moreover, prices will not decline with temperatures when the season changes, according to some predictions. Still more sensational increases in food prices, especially meat, are coming when the record prices packers are paying for beef-on-the-hoof are reflected in the retail shops.

All this is really no news to consumers who know what meat costs now and have been told by government experts that the worst is still ahead. But it puts a sharper point on the question every housewife is anxiously asking: Will living costs keep on rising or is there hope that they will eventually pause and turn downward?

As far as food prices are concerned, the answer is that in time they will level off. With a bumper corn crop on the way, they cannot continue spiraling forever. As for prices of non-agricultural products, the outlook is that they will move higher because of the third round of wage increases. But here, too, the law of supply and demand will check the trend sooner or later.

The Marshall Plan and rearmament will keep demand for many commodities and durable goods items strong. But there are indications that a change is coming. For example, President Young of the National Retail Hardware Association has just said that "pipelines are filling up" in the hardware field.

Others will fill up if production can be maintained. But when, or at what level, depends on relief shipments to Europe and rearmament.

A Few Government Figures To Shock American Taxpayer

Few members of Congress have kept harping on one particular theme more than Senator Harry Byrd of Virginia. Over the years his campaign to cut down wastes in the Federal Government has become almost a tradition. In particular has he harped on the high number of Federal employes.

And where has he got? The latest summary of civilian employment in the executive branch of the Federal Government released by the Joint Committee on Reduction of Nonessential Federal Expenditures, is most discouraging. Instead of showing improvement it shows:

First. As of June 19, 1948, civilian personnel in the executive branch numbered somewhere in excess of 2,050,000.

Second. This number is more than twice the World War I peak.

Third. It is more than three and one-half times the level at the end of the last previous Republican Congress and Administration.

Fourth. It is more than twice the prewar emergency peak of 1939.

Fifth. In the civilian establishments, departments and agencies, exclusive of the military establishment, civilian employment totals nearly 80,000 more than the World War II peak.

Sixth. The military establishment in April was employing nearly three times as many civilians per man in uniform as it employed at the World War II peak.

In other words, despite the efforts of Senator Byrd and other economy-minded members of Congress, and despite the professed aims of the Truman Administration, government payrolls are going up instead of down. Congress, itself, is partly to blame, for appropriation figures show that reductions in personal-service funds were not large. But the real blame belongs on the Administration which made a pretense at cutting payrolls but actually shifted personnel from a liquidated agency to new offices. Since January of this year, Senator Byrd's figures show, the number of employes in the executive branch has been increasing at the rate of several hundred a day, reaching 650 a day in April.

It was the President who rapped the tax reduction bill as endangering the financial stability of the Government and threatening a deficit. He apparently was thinking more of fattening the Government payroll than of the taxpayers who foot the bill.

New VA Service Looks Formidable On Its Face

On the face of it, the new appraisal service announced by the Veterans' Administration looks formidable. The veteran who undertakes to buy a house with a VA-guaranteed loan can expect to hear from the VA by letter informing him of "structural conditions including any defects."

The appraiser may even state that in his opinion the house is not worth as much as the price being asked. A copy of the letter would go to the bank or other lending institution.

Inspection is to be made of houses already built or under construction. The veteran is advised to make his own inspection, too, before signing the agreement.

There can be little doubt this new service was inspired by the scandals over shoddy construction of houses in various parts of the country. Appraisal of houses in ordinary dealing is the responsibility only of the lender and of the buyer before they come to terms. But not all lenders, apparently, have been accurate in their appraisals. Not all ex-GI buyers have known just what they were bargaining for.

If the VA appraiser is capable, honest and fearless, he may be of real help both to the veteran and to the lending institution. If the appraiser has any soft spots in his character, however they would become softer in the performance of this duty. Doubtless the VA realizes this danger and will use the greatest care in selecting its appraisers.

Whether appraisers will be permanent employees added to the federal payroll or part-time employees, is not revealed.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Spread Of Infection To The Blood

Many infections remain localized in one section. A boil, for example, rarely radiates beyond a few inches and a felon on the finger seldom extends beyond that point. But when the resistance of the tissues is lowered, they can no longer hold back the invading bacteria and, unless control measures are taken, blood poisoning (septicemia) may ensue.

Dr. Van Dellen

The early signs of a spreading infection are best demonstrated in the arms and legs. The inflamed region throbs and red streaks begin to extend in an upward direction. In this stage, the lymphatic channels are involved (lymphangitis). Furthermore, the skin in the groin or armpit becomes puffy and tender. The microbes have not as yet reached the blood stream but are encroaching upon the second line of defense. Bed rest, heat, and the use of one of the sulfonamides or penicillin usually bring relief in short order.

If nothing is done, a few microorganisms begin to seep into the circulation. As a rule, they are destroyed by the third line of defense—the liver and spleen—but as more and more gain entrance the system ultimately becomes overwhelmed and is no longer able to cope with the situation. Once the invasion is complete, bacteria travel to all parts of the body. In some organs particularly the lungs, heart valves, liver, and brain they congregate into nests, form abscesses, and multiply. Before long the system is so saturated that all hope of cure diminishes.

Septicemia is most likely to occur when the individual is in a poor state of health but the virulence of the germs is also important because the body is able to resist some strains better than others. The streptococcus is one of the most frequent offenders. Next comes the staphylococcus, pneumococcus, typhoid bacillus, and influenza organism. No age is exempt. Now and then blood poisoning is a terminal affair; the patient has been ill for weeks or months and when infection supervenes, he has little resistance left to fight the newcomer.

Practically all victims develop fever. In most instances, it is high and associated with rapid pulse. Chills are also common. As a rule, this symptom announces blood stream invasion and may be due to the fact that a shower of bacteria suddenly breaks into the vessels and is distributed throughout the body. The individual shakes violently and the teeth chatter. The sensation of cold is difficult to control even with blankets and hot water bottles galore.

Appetite wanes and youngsters are likely to exhibit nausea and vomiting. The patient is usually depressed, listless, and uninterested in his surroundings; others are alert, restless, and exceedingly apprehensive. Both extremes may exist depending upon the height of the temperature. Sweating is profuse and, because of the toxic effect, anemia and pallor ensue. Whenever abscesses develop, pain is likely to be acute.

It is in this condition that the antibiotics have had their most dramatic effect. By administering large amounts of penicillin or streptomycin, many sufferers have been snatched from death. In addition, blood transfusions are administered to increase resistance and check anemia.

TELLING THEM APART

Mrs. J. M. writes: If, in a crowd, there are ten pairs of identical twins, by what structure of the face can they be told apart? Is it the nose, chin, hairline, or what?

Reply

This is difficult to say but in general the facial expression, sparkle of the eyes, shape of nostrils, and lines on the face must all be studied. Sometimes one twin will oblige by manifesting a mole or other blemish, which will act as a distinguishing mark.

GLANDULAR CHANGES

J. K. writes: Does the menopause affect any other glands besides the ovaries?

Reply

In the strict sense no, but since all the endocrines work in harmony, one can hardly be affected without disturbing the others.

FACE WASHING

L. B. writes: Does washing the face with a cloth injure the tissues and bring on the appearance of old age faster? I have been told that it is better to use the hands.

Reply

In my opinion, it makes little difference as the ageing process comes from within and not from without.

STONY TISSUES

R. E. writes: What is a petrified spine?

Reply

A disturbance in which muscles and ligaments are converted into bone, making the spine a single, hard, nonflexible structure. This is slightly different from ossification in which the back is stiff because of marked arthritic changes between the vertebrae.

LIKELY COMBINATION

D. W. writes: Is uremia usually associated with high blood pressure?

Reply

Yes, in the majority.

Enlarged Liver

J. A. writes: Is it possible for a doctor to determine the size of the liver by X-rays?

REPLY

Yes, the outline of the organ can be seen clearly under the X-ray. But films are rarely required because enlargement of the liver can be felt by the examining physician.

B-29s Over Germany Could Drop Pamphlets, Candy Bars, Wristwatches Which, Windblown, Would Carry To Soviet Messages Of Friendship

Says DREW PEARSON

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Drew Pearson's column today takes the form of a letter to the U. S. secretary for air, suggesting a peaceful use for our B-29s in their maneuvers over Germany.)

Stuart Symington
Secretary for Air
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. Secretary:

You have now sent 60 giant B-29s to England to maneuver over Germany. This is an important manifestation of American strength and a majority of the American people—including the undersigned—will support you on this. But I should like to make a suggestion as to how you can also use these bombers for a dual purpose.

In other words, while making a demonstration of our latent force, they can also make a demonstration of our latent friendship.

In brief they can help to tell the Russian people the real truth about the peace-desiring people of the United States.

It may be that I am a terrible bore on the subject, but I am convinced that we must go over the Kremlin's head to the Russian people in order to convince them that the United States—contrary to Moscow propaganda—is composed of people who do not want war, even though they will fight if pushed far enough.

As long as the Russian government has no Senate, no Congress, and, most important of all, no public opinion to hold the check-rein on the Kremlin, our only common-sense policy is to get to the Russian people ourselves with the truth.

When the Moscow radio tells the Russian people that all the great buildings and bridges in the U. S. A. were designed by Russians we can laugh it off. But when the Moscow radio describes us as warmongers threatening to invade Russia, then it's an obvious build-up for a war which the Russian people don't want, but which the 14 men in the Kremlin have to justify.

During the war we spent millions of dollars dropping leaflets, cakes of soap, packages of tea over other nations in order to convince them that we were friendly to them as people (though not to their dictators). This expense was fully justified on the ground that it shortened the war and saved lives.

How much more important, and how many more lives could be saved by preventing war in the first place by going over the heads of the Kremlin and getting to the Russian people.

The State Department, of course, is trying to do this in a routine sort of way through its voice of America. However, radio sets are few in Russian and probably only a fraction of the people ever hear our propaganda.

So here is my suggestion.

The 60 giant B-29s you have sent to Europe will have their effect on the Kremlin. Let's also make them felt by the Russian people—in an entirely different way—by having them drop messages of friendship.

Actually the planes will not fly over Russia, so the messages couldn't be dropped direct. But they will fly a few miles from the border over Germany, and the wind currents are such that small balloons released from the B-29s would float over Russia.

The War Assets Administration informs me that it has half a million small balloons left over from the war, previously used for weather soundings. The government has been selling these for 37 cents apiece. In my opinion they could be worth about $3,700 apiece in good will and in war prevention if they floated down over Russia with hundreds of Russians in the villages scrambling for them and talking about them.

Can you imagine the difficulty the Kremlin would have in explaining away these balloons!

During the war, the Japanese took advantage of the weather currents to float balloons all the way across the Pacific Ocean carrying explosives. They were balloons of death. We can reverse the process with ballons of friendship.

Furthermore, we can reverse the process with no expense to the government. F. W. Danner of Akron, Ohio, has patriotically offered to print 1,000,000 copies of a message to the Russian people without charge. In addition, Percy Smith of 42 Products Ltd., Los Angeles, has written me that his company would be glad to supply bars of soap imprinted with a message. Soap is almost as precious as gold in Russia.

In addition the Schutter Candy Company of Chicago has volunteered a million candy bars, while the U. S. Time Corporation (Ingersoll) has said it would contribute a number of Mickey Mouse wristwatches over which the Russians go crazy.

These are just a few of the people who would be glad to come forward and help their country prevent war. It's not new for people to help their country win a war, but I find that a lot of people also are only too anxious to help their country prevent war.

In other words, these friendship messages could be dropped over Russia with no expense to the government whatsoever, other than the cost of gasoline to fly the planes—and you will have to use the same amount of gasoline on maneuvers anyway.

One of the surest ways to head off war is to show the Russian people that we, the American people, aren't what the 14 men in the Kremlin say we are.

As long as the Kremlin knows that 180,000,000 Russians will unflinchingly obey the order to march — without congressional debate, without criticism, and without knowing anything about the issues—then war can be just around the corner.

I repeat that all sorts of people, including the undersigned, will be glad to help with this project so that it won't cost the government a cent. It can't hurt and it may do some good. I hope this suggestion is not presumptuous and that you will let me know what you think of it.

Very sincerely yours,
DREW PEARSON.

Belief Prevails Russia Will Not Incite War; Odds On Peace

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Uncertainty — the enemy of stability — seems to have brought uneasiness in the business and financial world. Calling of the extra session of Congress by President Truman and apprehension over the situation abroad are generally believed to have unsettled the financial markets.

Another factor has created uncertainty. It is the "third round" of wage increases which in turn will bring higher prices. While there was much talk earlier this year of a "third round" of wage increases, it was believed the wage line could be held and that prices would be stabilized, too.

The necessary launching of a large spending program in Europe was inflationary. The labor unions have been quick to capitalize on the new wave of scarcity of manpower as well as materials.

Passage of the draft law has tended to maks manpower less plentiful. This inevitably had its effect on wage negotiations. Where labor is scarce, there is a tendency to avoid strikes at any cost.

Repercussions To Be Felt

In calling Congress back into session—especially in the unexpected way it materialized this time—the repercussions are bound to be felt throughout the busienss world. Business and industry had planned on a certain stability for the last six months of the year but the President's action brings doubt over new legislation that may be enacted by a special session.

There is at the moment another disorganizing factor which, while not immediate in its effect, will have a long-range impact. It is the change in the method of pricing cement, steel and other products which hitherto have been sold on a basis where the producer absorbs the freight charge. Much uncertainty, moreover, surrounds the future of plants located far away from basing points. All this added together makes for more worry and concern in business operations.

Underlying all other factors, and perhaps the most important of all in its effect on financial markets, is the crisis with Russia. The prospect of war no longer sends stocks upward as it used to many decades ago. Today the idea of another war brings fright and apprehension and causes people to wonder what new regulation of profits is coming to impair earning power and dividends.

Nobody, of course, can tell what the Russians may decide to do but it is apparent that the country is taking a far more serious view of the Russian crisis than Washington does. Maybe this is because the government here, outwardly at least, would like to impress the Russians with the gravity of the Berlin blockade. But the truth is that unless the Russians are really bent on precipitating an overt act, war is far away. There are many moves that can and would be made before any outbreak of hostilities could occur. For one thing, mindful of the importance of the United Nations as an organization to prevent war, the American, British and French governments are likely to put the case before the U.N. If Russia uses her procedural veto there to stop action and block a settlement, it will not be merely a possible war for which Russia would be exhibited as responsible but also a breakup of the whole international structure as exemplified in the U.N.

Not to Provoke War, Is Belief

The belief prevails here that Russia will not provoke a war or allow the situation to get to the point where war could conceivably happen. This belief is based on the knowledge that, in the last year or more, Russia has had even more favorable opportunities, from a military standpoint, to bring on a conflict than she has today.

The underlying desire of the Russian government is to force the western powers in some way to add to Russia's economic strength—either by more reparations or by a more favorable reshuffling of the continent's resources than Russia has been permitted heretofore. So long as the game is to negotiate for more material advantages, it is considered unlikely that Russia would risk not only internal disunity but a disintegration of the whole Balkan situation which would follow naturally if a war came.

The odds are still on the side of peace.

Labor Situation In New York Stores Has Reached A Crisis

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

Across the street from the Federal Building in downtown Foley Square in New York City, a group of officials and members of unions in the wholesale warehouse and retail and department store industries jeered at former right-wing members. The latter had been expelled for anti-Communist activities in the unions. They were now called "rats."

Both groups had been subpoenaed by the Congressional subcommittee on Education and Labor, investigating Communist influence in the immense retail department store industry of New York City, which employs thousands of workers. The chairman of the subcommittee is Charles J. Kersten, Republican of Wisconsin. Congressman Hartley was also present. He said that the unionists will be required to declare whether they are Communists or face prosecution for contempt of Congress.

Slur Right-Wingers

"Go get your dirty silver," the union officials shouted as they watched the right-wingers walk away from the court house. At noon, over four hundred pickets appeared with banners denouncing the Taft-Hartley Act and Congressman Hartley. Squads of police were called to control the milling spectators and sympathizers in the corridors outside the hearing room. Vociferous supporters of the leftists demanded to be admitted to the hearing room. The public relations "counsel" for the pro-Communist leaders is a former member of the staff of the Communist Daily Worker.

David Livingston, vice president of Local 65, was shown a 1938 publication of the Young Communist League, in which there was a picture of Lenin, Stalin and four others. Chairman Kersten, pointing to one of the pictures, asked Livingston: "Is that your picture?" Livingston replied that he was not sure, it was such a long time ago, but there was some resemblance. Mrs. Esther Letz, director of Local 65, and Arthur Osman, president of the same local, as well as Livingston, refused to answer the question on Communist membership despite assurance by the committee that their rights would be safeguarded fully. Chairman Kersten announced that the subcommittee would meet afterwards in executive session to consider a recommendation to cite the three for contempt.

In a last minute speech, Osman shouted to the members of the Congressional Committee: "We will run people like you out of Congress."

Situation Reaches Crisis

The labor situation in New York department stores has reached a crisis. Customers' complaints of lack of courtesy, attention, and service have been continuous and increasing. Inside the unions, factional fights between officials and right-wing anti-Communists have been growing. Loyal Americans are leaving the Communist unions. In a poll taken last year, an overwhelming majority of the rank and file union members were opposed to Communists holding office in labor unions.

Charges of Communist domination by officials have multiplied in the ranks of labor in recent weeks and since the passage of the Taft-Hartley Act.

In Russia and Europe, it has been a chief tactic of the Communists to bore into labor unions and take them over. It is one of the means by which they overthrew governments. The Taft-Hartley Law gave loyal Americans in organized labor a weapon by which to defend their unions from Communist conquest. Mr.Truman demands that this law be repealed.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Beware Of Politics!

THE President's call to Congress to reassemble on July 26 is of no advantage to the nation. Under our system of government, every member of the House of Representatives and one-third of the Senate are to come before their constituencies this year to account for their conduct and to ask for re-election. The Constitution so provides. As ours is a representative republic, it is part of our way of life that elections occur at fixed times and that those who run for public office should present themselves to the people who elect them.

No issue will be presented to the 80th Congress which could not better be handled by the 81st. And the reason is that the new Congress will have heard from the people; it will come to Washington fresh from the cities, towns and villages. It will know what the constituents want. It will not be so subject to pressures of Washington, to the lobbyists, columnists and commentators.

This does not interest Harry Truman. With the spitefulness of a small boy after his daddy has punished him, he sticks out his tongue at Congress. The advantage to him is that he will send flamboyant and impractical messages to Congress and then will make some off-the-cuff speeches based on his messages. Curiously, the President does not realize that his popularity has receded after each of his messages. He does not realize that he was respected, even by his political opponents, before he began to talk so much. Everybody felt that he meant well, and that he ought to have a chance.

Yet the President has become convinced that his pronouncements are invaluable to the country and to his political career and he will bombard the Congress with messages and imprecations and will then say to the country that he told Congress what to do and Congress did not do it. He does not recognize that under the Constitution the Congress is not a subordinate agency to the President. Of course, he will not say that the Democratic members of Congress also do no follow his lead; otherwise, it would have been impossible to pass so many measures over his veto.

All this is small politics, irksome and unpleasant, and will avail nothing. Also, it will not harm the United States, for we are like drunkards and idiots who somehow survive, in spite of everything, by the grace of God.

It is the counsel of despair in the foreign field that needs constant watching. There the harm can be irretrievable. There are enough bad spots in our international relations that anybody can start a war.

The Berlin situation alone holds more causes for war than Sarajevo, which started World War I. Certainly, anyone can start a general war over Berlin. The Palestine situation is made for a general war, and in the history of man, several of the bigger wars developed in just that area of the Earth's surface.

The China situation is perfect for a general war. Chiang Kai-shek is in real peril, largely because of the politics pursued by Harry Truman and George Marshall. It is possible to start a war with Soviet Russia in China, Manchuria and Korea at a moment's notice. For that, only George Marshall is responsible, as he disarmed Chiang's troops while Soviet Russia was arming the Chinese Communists with excellent arms captured from the Japanese.

So, if the same spitefulness evidenced by the unnecessary and impolitic recall of the 80th Congress should be applied to our foreign policy, there is no telling what damage can be done. And what makes me more fearful is that the Democratic Convention proved beyond doubt that Mr. Truman has rejected sound Democratic leadership and has cast his fortune with such men as David Niles, Leon Henderson, Oscar Ewing and other resuscitated New Dealers who go hay wire politically at the drop of a hat.

They provoked the split with the Solid South which wiser and more experienced men had handled with wisdom in the Resolution Committee. They have wrought havoc in pursuit of their private but irresponsible opinions. Should they advise the President on the handling of our foreign policy—God love and protect America!

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

Ever hear of a school where the three R's are "roulette, racing, and roll 'em, you're faded?"

Neither did I. But the Board of Education in Nevada has just denied that it teaches gambling in Reno schools.

That does sound interesting, having a college in gambling. It would be different from most schools. You would know class was ready to start when the professor put on his green eyeshade, rolled up his sleeves and said "deal me in."

Hanging on the wall in the auditorium right next to the picture of George Washington they'd have a picture of the man who broke the bank at Monte Carlo.

These kids wouldn't get in good with the teacher by bringing an apple. They'd go to the head of the class the minute they made good on their IOU's.

Of course, a lot of 'em would probably be late for class. Every night they'd have to travel to Las Vegas to do their homework.

And they wouldn't keep a kid after school for the usual reasons. Here they'd punish him if they caught him reading a history book behind his racing form.

Even the school cafeteria would show the gambling influence. When you walked by, the chef would say, "pick a vegetable."

And when you graduated they'd never hand you a diploma. The principal would slip you a fresh deck of cards, a dollar and say "you're now ready to win back your tuition."

Of course, I don't have any real experience in games of chance. The only thing I know is that every time I go out on that stage—I take a gamble.

Baering Down On The News

Before they nominate me Mr. Tomato of 1948 I would like to quiz the professor. Would General Eisenhower have accepted the Republican nomination?

My undercover man in the umbrella department tells me that the General was as receptive as a catcher's big glove.

But my outside man in the interior department says that Ike is through with public affairs. And he surely doesn't require a delegate's badge in his long heroic xyophon of military medals.

I have already congratulated the General on his decision to go back to school. He can catch up on some of the history he helped to make.

A Few Government Figures To Shock American Taxpayer

Few members of Congress have kept harping on one particular theme more than Senator Harry Byrd of Virginia. Over the years his campaign to cut down wastes in the Federal Government has become almost a tradition. In particular has he harped on the high number of Federal employes.

And where has he got? The latest summary of civilian employment in the executive branch of the Federal Government released by the Joint Committee on Reduction of Nonessential Federal Expenditures, is most discouraging. Instead of showing improvement it shows:

First. As of June 19, 1948, civilian personnel in the executive branch numbered somewhere in excess of 2,050,000.

Second. This number is more than twice the World War I peak.

Third. It is more than three and one-half times the level at the end of the last previous Republican Congress and Administration.

Fourth. It is more than twice the prewar emergency peak of 1939.

Fifth. In the civilian establishments, departments and agencies, exclusive of the military establishment, civilian employment totals nearly 80,000 more than the World War II peak.

Sixth. The military establishment in April was employing nearly three times as many civilians per man in uniform as it employed at the World War II peak.

In other words, despite the efforts of Senator Byrd and other economy-minded members of Congress, and despite the professed aims of the Truman Administration, government payrolls are going up instead of down. Congress, itself, is partly to blame, for appropriation figures show that reductions in personal-service funds were not large. But the real blame belongs on the Administration which made a pretense at cutting payrolls but actually shifted personnel from a liquidated agency to new offices. Since January of this year, Senator Byrd's figures show, the number of employes in the executive branch has been increasing at the rate of several hundred a day, reaching 650 a day in April.

It was the President who rapped the tax reduction bill as endangering the financial stability of the Government and threatening a deficit. He apparently was thinking more of fattening the Government payroll than of the taxpayers who foot the bill.

New VA Service Looks Formidable On Its Face

On the face of it, the new appraisal service announced by the Veterans' Administration looks formidable. The veteran who undertakes to buy a house with a VA-guaranteed loan can expect to hear from the VA by letter informing him of "structural conditions including any defects."

The appraiser may even state that in his opinion the house is not worth as much as the price being asked. A copy of the letter would go to the bank or other lending institution.

Inspection is to be made of houses already built or under construction. The veteran is advised to make his own inspection, too, before signing the agreement.

There can be little doubt this new service was inspired by the scandals over shoddy construction of houses in various parts of the country. Appraisal of houses in ordinary dealing is the responsibility only of the lender and of the buyer before they come to terms. But not all lenders, apparently, have been accurate in their appraisals. Not all ex-GI buyers have known just what they were bargaining for.

If the VA appraiser is capable, honest and fearless, he may be of real help both to the veteran and to the lending institution. If the appraiser has any soft spots in his character, however they would become softer in the performance of this duty. Doubtless the VA realizes this danger and will use the greatest care in selecting its appraisers.

Whether appraisers will be permanent employees added to the federal payroll or part-time employees, is not revealed.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Spread Of Infection To The Blood

Many infections remain localized in one section. A boil, for example, rarely radiates beyond a few inches and a felon on the finger seldom extends beyond that point. But when the resistance of the tissues is lowered, they can no longer hold back the invading bacteria and, unless control measures are taken, blood poisoning (septicemia) may ensue.

Dr. Van Dellen

The early signs of a spreading infection are best demonstrated in the arms and legs. The inflamed region throbs and red streaks begin to extend in an upward direction. In this stage, the lymphatic channels are involved (lymphangitis). Furthermore, the skin in the groin or armpit becomes puffy and tender. The microbes have not as yet reached the blood stream but are encroaching upon the second line of defense. Bed rest, heat, and the use of one of the sulfonamides or penicillin usually bring relief in short order.

If nothing is done, a few microorganisms begin to seep into the circulation. As a rule, they are destroyed by the third line of defense—the liver and spleen—but as more and more gain entrance the system ultimately becomes overwhelmed and is no longer able to cope with the situation. Once the invasion is complete, bacteria travel to all parts of the body. In some organs particularly the lungs, heart valves, liver, and brain they congregate into nests, form abscesses, and multiply. Before long the system is so saturated that all hope of cure diminishes.

Septicemia is most likely to occur when the individual is in a poor state of health but the virulence of the germs is also important because the body is able to resist some strains better than others. The streptococcus is one of the most frequent offenders. Next comes the staphylococcus, pneumococcus, typhoid bacillus, and influenza organism. No age is exempt. Now and then blood poisoning is a terminal affair; the patient has been ill for weeks or months and when infection supervenes, he has little resistance left to fight the newcomer.

Practically all victims develop fever. In most instances, it is high and associated with rapid pulse. Chills are also common. As a rule, this symptom announces blood stream invasion and may be due to the fact that a shower of bacteria suddenly breaks into the vessels and is distributed throughout the body. The individual shakes violently and the teeth chatter. The sensation of cold is difficult to control even with blankets and hot water bottles galore.

Appetite wanes and youngsters are likely to exhibit nausea and vomiting. The patient is usually depressed, listless, and uninterested in his surroundings; others are alert, restless, and exceedingly apprehensive. Both extremes may exist depending upon the height of the temperature. Sweating is profuse and, because of the toxic effect, anemia and pallor ensue. Whenever abscesses develop, pain is likely to be acute.

It is in this condition that the antibiotics have had their most dramatic effect. By administering large amounts of penicillin or streptomycin, many sufferers have been snatched from death. In addition, blood transfusions are administered to increase resistance and check anemia.

TELLING THEM APART

Mrs. J. M. writes: If, in a crowd, there are ten pairs of identical twins, by what structure of the face can they be told apart? Is it the nose, chin, hairline, or what?

Reply

This is difficult to say but in general the facial expression, sparkle of the eyes, shape of nostrils, and lines on the face must all be studied. Sometimes one twin will oblige by manifesting a mole or other blemish, which will act as a distinguishing mark.

GLANDULAR CHANGES

J. K. writes: Does the menopause affect any other glands besides the ovaries?

Reply

In the strict sense no, but since all the endocrines work in harmony, one can hardly be affected without disturbing the others.

FACE WASHING

L. B. writes: Does washing the face with a cloth injure the tissues and bring on the appearance of old age faster? I have been told that it is better to use the hands.

Reply

In my opinion, it makes little difference as the ageing process comes from within and not from without.

STONY TISSUES

R. E. writes: What is a petrified spine?

Reply

A disturbance in which muscles and ligaments are converted into bone, making the spine a single, hard, nonflexible structure. This is slightly different from ossification in which the back is stiff because of marked arthritic changes between the vertebrae.

LIKELY COMBINATION

D. W. writes: Is uremia usually associated with high blood pressure?

Reply

Yes, in the majority.

Enlarged Liver

J. A. writes: Is it possible for a doctor to determine the size of the liver by X-rays?

REPLY

Yes, the outline of the organ can be seen clearly under the X-ray. But films are rarely required because enlargement of the liver can be felt by the examining physician.

B-29s Over Germany Could Drop Pamphlets, Candy Bars, Wristwatches Which, Windblown, Would Carry To Soviet Messages Of Friendship

Says DREW PEARSON

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Drew Pearson's column today takes the form of a letter to the U. S. secretary for air, suggesting a peaceful use for our B-29s in their maneuvers over Germany.)

Stuart Symington
Secretary for Air
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. Secretary:

You have now sent 60 giant B-29s to England to maneuver over Germany. This is an important manifestation of American strength and a majority of the American people—including the undersigned—will support you on this. But I should like to make a suggestion as to how you can also use these bombers for a dual purpose.

Iin other words, while making a demonstration of our latent force, they can also make a demonstration of our latent friendship.

In brief they can help to tell the Russian people the real truth about the peace-desiring people of the United States.

It may be that I am a terrible bore on the subject, but I am convinced that we must go over the Kremlin's head to the Russian people in order to convince them that the United States—contrary to Moscow propaganda—is composed of people who do not want war, even though they will fight if pushed far enough.

As long as the Russian government has no Senate, no Congress, and, most important of all, no public opinion to hold the check-rein on the Kremlin, our only common-sense policy is to get to the Russian people ourselves with the truth.

When the Moscow radio tells the Russian people that all the great buildings and bridges in the U. S. A. were designed by Russians we can laugh it off. But when the Moscow radio describes us as warmongers threatening to invade Russia, then it's an obvious build-up for a war which the Russian people don't want, but which the 14 men in the Kremlin have to justify.

During the war we spent millions of dollars dropping leaflets, cakes of soap, packages of tea over other nations in order to convince them that we were friendly to them as people (though not to their dictators). This expense was fully justified on the ground that it shortened the war and saved lives.

How much more important, and how many more lives could be saved by preventing war in the first place by going over the heads of the Kremlin and getting to the Russian people.

The State Department, of course, is trying to do this in a routine sort of way through its voice of America. However, radio sets are few in Russian and probably only a fraction of the people ever hear our propaganda.

So here is my suggestion.

The 60 giant B-29s you have sent to Europe will have their effect on the Kremlin. Let's also make them felt by the Russian people—in an entirely different way—by having them drop messages of friendship.

Actually the planes will not fly over Russia, so the messages couldn't be dropped direct. But they will fly a few miles from the border over Germany, and the wind currents are such that small balloons released from the B-29s would float over Russia.

The War Assets Administration informs me that it has half a million small balloons left over from the war, previously used for weather soundings. The government has been selling these for 37 cents apiece. In my opinion they could be worth about $3,700 apiece in good will and in war prevention if they floated down over Russia with hundreds of Russians in the villages scrambling for them and talking about them.

Can you imagine the difficulty the Kremlin would have in explaining away these balloons!

During the war, the Japanese took advantage of the weather currents to float balloons all the way across the Pacific Ocean carrying explosives. They were balloons of death. We can reverse the process with ballons of friendship.

Furthermore, we can reverse the process with no expense to the government. F. W. Danner of Akron, Ohio, has patriotically offered to print 1,000,000 copies of a message to the Russian people without charge. In addition, Percy Smith of 42 Products Ltd., Los Angeles, has written me that his company would be glad to supply bars of soap imprinted with a message. Soap is almost as precious as gold in Russia.

In addition the Schutter Candy Company of Chicago has volunteered a million candy bars, while the U. S. Time Corporation (Ingersoll) has said it would contribute a number of Mickey Mouse wristwatches over which the Russians go crazy.

These are just a few of the people who would be glad to come forward and help their country prevent war. It's not new for people to help their country win a war, but I find that a lot of people also are only too anxious to help their country prevent war.

In other words, these friendship messages could be dropped over Russia with no expense to the government whatsoever, other than the cost of gasoline to fly the planes—and you will have to use the same amount of gasoline on maneuvers anyway.

One of the surest ways to head off war is to show the Russian people that we, the American people, aren't what the 14 men in the Kremlin say we are.

As long as the Kremlin knows that 180,000,000 Russians will unflinchingly obey the order to march — without congressional debate, without criticism, and without knowing anything about the issues—then war can be just around the corner.

I repeat that all sorts of people, including the undersigned, will be glad to help with this project so that it won't cost the government a cent. It can't hurt and it may do some good. I hope this suggestion is not presumptuous and that you will let me know what you think of it.

Very sincerely yours,
DREW PEARSON.

Belief Prevails Russia Will Not Incite War; Odds On Peace

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Uncertainty — the enemy of stability — seems to have brought uneasiness in the business and financial world. Calling of the extra session of Congress by President Truman and apprehension over the situation abroad are generally believed to have unsettled the financial markets.

Another factor has created uncertainty. It is the "third round" of wage increases which in turn will bring higher prices. While there was much talk earlier this year of a "third round" of wage increases, it was believed the wage line could be held and that prices would be stabilized, too.

The necessary launching of a large spending program in Europe was inflationary. The labor unions have been quick to capitalize on the new wave of scarcity of manpower as well as materials.

Passage of the draft law has tended to maks manpower less plentiful. This inevitably had its effect on wage negotiations. Where labor is scarce, there is a tendency to avoid strikes at any cost.

Repercussions To Be Felt

In calling Congress back into session—especially in the unexpected way it materialized this time—the repercussions are bound to be felt throughout the busienss world. Business and industry had planned on a certain stability for the last six months of the year but the President's action brings doubt over new legislation that may be enacted by a special session.

There is at the moment another disorganizing factor which, while not immediate in its effect, will have a long-range impact. It is the change in the method of pricing cement, steel and other products which hitherto have been sold on a basis where the producer absorbs the freight charge. Much uncertainty, moreover, surrounds the future of plants located far away from basing points. All this added together makes for more worry and concern in business operations.

Underlying all other factors, and perhaps the most important of all in its effect on financial markets, is the crisis with Russia. The prospect of war no longer sends stocks upward as it used to many decades ago. Today the idea of another war brings fright and apprehension and causes people to wonder what new regulation of profits is coming to impair earning power and dividends.

Nobody, of course, can tell what the Russians may decide to do but it is apparent that the country is taking a far more serious view of the Russian crisis than Washington does. Maybe this is because the government here, outwardly at least, would like to impress the Russians with the gravity of the Berlin blockade. But the truth is that unless the Russians are really bent on precipitating an overt act, war is far away. There are many moves that can and would be made before any outbreak of hostilities could occur. For one thing, mindful of the importance of the United Nations as an organization to prevent war, the American, British and French governments are likely to put the case before the U.N. If Russia uses her procedural veto there to stop action and block a settlement, it will not be merely a possible war for which Russia would be exhibited as responsible but also a breakup of the whole international structure as exemplified in the U.N.

Not to Provoke War, Is Belief

The belief prevails here that Russia will not provoke a war or allow the situation to get to the point where war could conceivably happen. This belief is based on the knowledge that, in the last year or more, Russia has had even more favorable opportunities, from a military standpoint, to bring on a conflict than she has today.

The underlying desire of the Russian government is to force the western powers in some way to add to Russia's economic strength—either by more reparations or by a more favorable reshuffling of the continent's resources than Russia has been permitted heretofore. So long as the game is to negotiate for more material advantages, it is considered unlikely that Russia would risk not only internal disunity but a disintegration of the whole Balkan situation which would follow naturally if a war came.

The odds are still on the side of peace.

Labor Situation In New York Stores Has Reached A Crisis

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

Across the street from the Federal Building in downtown Foley Square in New York City, a group of officials and members of unions in the wholesale warehouse and retail and department store industries jeered at former right-wing members. The latter had been expelled for anti-Communist activities in the unions. They were now called "rats."

Both groups had been subpoenaed by the Congressional subcommittee on Education and Labor, investigating Communist influence in the immense retail department store industry of New York City, which employs thousands of workers. The chairman of the subcommittee is Charles J. Kersten, Republican of Wisconsin. Congressman Hartley was also present. He said that the unionists will be required to declare whether they are Communists or face prosecution for contempt of Congress.

Slur Right-Wingers

"Go get your dirty silver," the union officials shouted as they watched the right-wingers walk away from the court house. At noon, over four hundred pickets appeared with banners denouncing the Taft-Hartley Act and Congressman Hartley. Squads of police were called to control the milling spectators and sympathizers in the corridors outside the hearing room. Vociferous supporters of the leftists demanded to be admitted to the hearing room. The public relations "counsel" for the pro-Communist leaders is a former member of the staff of the Communist Daily Worker.

David Livingston, vice president of Local 65, was shown a 1938 publication of the Young Communist League, in which there was a picture of Lenin, Stalin and four others. Chairman Kersten, pointing to one of the pictures, asked Livingston: "Is that your picture?" Livingston replied that he was not sure, it was such a long time ago, but there was some resemblance. Mrs. Esther Letz, director of Local 65, and Arthur Osman, president of the same local, as well as Livingston, refused to answer the question on Communist membership despite assurance by the committee that their rights would be safeguarded fully. Chairman Kersten announced that the subcommittee would meet afterwards in executive session to consider a recommendation to cite the three for contempt.

In a last minute speech, Osman shouted to the members of the Congressional Committee: "We will run people like you out of Congress."

Situation Reaches Crisis

The labor situation in New York department stores has reached a crisis. Customers' complaints of lack of courtesy, attention, and service have been continuous and increasing. Inside the unions, factional fights between officials and right-wing anti-Communists have been growing. Loyal Americans are leaving the Communist unions. In a poll taken last year, an overwhelming majority of the rank and file union members were opposed to Communists holding office in labor unions.

Charges of Communist domination by officials have multiplied in the ranks of labor in recent weeks and since the passage of the Taft-Hartley Act.

In Russia and Europe, it has been a chief tactic of the Communists to bore into labor unions and take them over. It is one of the means by which they overthrew governments. The Taft-Hartley Law gave loyal Americans in organized labor a weapon by which to defend their unions from Communist conquest. Mr.Truman demands that this law be repealed.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Beware Of Politics!

THE President's call to Congress to reassemble on July 26 is of no advantage to the nation. Under our system of government, every member of the House of Representatives and one-third of the Senate are to come before their constituencies this year to account for their conduct and to ask for re-election. The Constitution so provides. As ours is a representative republic, it is part of our way of life that elections occur at fixed times and that those who run for public office should present themselves to the people who elect them.

No issue will be presented to the 80th Congress which could not better be handled by the 81st. And the reason is that the new Congress will have heard from the people; it will come to Washington fresh from the cities, towns and villages. It will know what the constituents want. It will not be so subject to pressures of Washington, to the lobbyists, columnists and commentators.

This does not interest Harry Truman. With the spitefulness of a small boy after his daddy has punished him, he sticks out his tongue at Congress. The advantage to him is that he will send flamboyant and impractical messages to Congress and then will make some off-the-cuff speeches based on his messages. Curiously, the President does not realize that his popularity has receded after each of his messages. He does not realize that he was respected, even by his political opponents, before he began to talk so much. Everybody felt that he meant well, and that he ought to have a chance.

Yet the President has become convinced that his pronouncements are invaluable to the country and to his political career and he will bombard the Congress with messages and imprecations and will then say to the country that he told Congress what to do and Congress did not do it. He does not recognize that under the Constitution the Congress is not a subordinate agency to the President. Of course, he will not say that the Democratic members of Congress also do no follow his lead; otherwise, it would have been impossible to pass so many measures over his veto.

All this is small politics, irksome and unpleasant, and will avail nothing. Also, it will not harm the United States, for we are like drunkards and idiots who somehow survive, in spite of everything, by the grace of God.

It is the counsel of despair in the foreign field that needs constant watching. There the harm can be irretrievable. There are enough bad spots in our international relations that anybody can start a war.

The Berlin situation alone holds more causes for war than Sarajevo, which started World War I. Certainly, anyone can start a general war over Berlin. The Palestine situation is made for a general war, and in the history of man, several of the bigger wars developed in just that area of the Earth's surface.

The China situation is perfect for a general war. Chiang Kai-shek is in real peril, largely because of the politics pursued by Harry Truman and George Marshall. It is possible to start a war with Soviet Russia in China, Manchuria and Korea at a moment's notice. For that, only George Marshall is responsible, as he disarmed Chiang's troops while Soviet Russia was arming the Chinese Communists with excellent arms captured from the Japanese.

So, if the same spitefulness evidenced by the unnecessary and impolitic recall of the 80th Congress should be applied to our foreign policy, there is no telling what damage can be done. And what makes me more fearful is that the Democratic Convention proved beyond doubt that Mr. Truman has rejected sound Democratic leadership and has cast his fortune with such men as David Niles, Leon Henderson, Oscar Ewing and other resuscitated New Dealers who go hay wire politically at the drop of a hat.

They provoked the split with the Solid South which wiser and more experienced men had handled with wisdom in the Resolution Committee. They have wrought havoc in pursuit of their private but irresponsible opinions. Should they advise the President on the handling of our foreign policy—God love and protect America!

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

Ever hear of a school where the three R's are "roulette, racing, and roll 'em, you're faded?"

Neither did I. But the Board of Education in Nevada has just denied that it teaches gambling in Reno schools.

That does sound interesting, having a college in gambling. It would be different from most schools. You would know class was ready to start when the professor put on his green eyeshade, rolled up his sleeves and said "deal me in."

Hanging on the wall in the auditorium right next to the picture of George Washington they'd have a picture of the man who broke the bank at Monte Carlo.

These kids wouldn't get in good with the teacher by bringing an apple. They'd go to the head of the class the minute they made good on their IOU's.

Of course, a lot of 'em would probably be late for class. Every night they'd have to travel to Las Vegas to do their homework.

And they wouldn't keep a kid after school for the usual reasons. Here they'd punish him if they caught him reading a history book behind his racing form.

Even the school cafeteria would show the gambling influence. When you walked by, the chef would say, "pick a vegetable."

And when you graduated they'd never hand you a diploma. The principal would slip you a fresh deck of cards, a dollar and say "you're now ready to win back your tuition."

Of course, I don't have any real experience in games of chance. The only thing I know is that every time I go out on that stage—I take a gamble.

Baering Down On The News

Before they nominate me Mr. Tomato of 1948 I would like to quiz the professor. Would General Eisenhower have accepted the Republican nomination?

My undercover man in the umbrella department tells me that the General was as receptive as a catcher's big glove.

But my outside man in the interior department says that Ike is through with public affairs. And he surely doesn't require a delegate's badge in his long heroic xyophon of military medals.

I have already congratulated the General on his decision to go back to school. He can catch up on some of the history he helped to make.

If you think I'm tidding, open the New York City Telephone Directory and check up on me. And while you're at it, look sharp and you may spot one of these awesome monickers yourself. If you do, extract a drop of blood from your thumb, dip your pen in it and letter the name out on a piece of thin tissue. You will then be a full-fledged member of the Ancient and Honorable Order of Cognomen Collectors.

Name collecting, I hasten to add, has always been the noblest of hobbies. Some benighted souls collect paintings, stamps, match boxes and pieces of string, but the prince of collectors is he who stalks and snares the unbelievable examples of human handles. Viz—the name-fancier.

I admit that the venerable art of name collecting is a vanishing but don't let that disturb you. The practitioners of it, the keepers of the faith, are a loyal and enthusiastic group. When one of them returns from a field trip, which generally consists of trekking through phone books and cotillion rosters, he will spend weeks exhibiting his specimens to brother connoisseurs and basking in the warmth of their ooh and aahs. An expert I know has been dining out for the past six months simply because somewhere in the fastnesses of the African veldt, he had bagged one of the rarest specimens of all time, Theanderblast Mishgedeigle Sump, Esq.

Like all arts, name collecting has its tall tales and legends which are told wherever the fraternity gathers. My favorite has to do with one of the most indefatigable of the directory browsers, a magazine writer with the unlikely name of Joe Smith.

Several months ago, a Hollywood studio brought Joe out to work on a scenario based on one of his own stories. He was given an office, a desk, a phone and — you guessed it — a telephone directory of Greater Los Angeles.

For two days, Joe worked determinedly at his typewriter, conscious of his responsibilities and of the big salary he was receiving. But try as he would, his eye kept straying to the plump, promising volume on the window sill. On the third day he took the phone off the hook, lowered the window shade, sank into an easy chair, placed the book on his eager knees and opened it.

And the first name which caught his eye was Gisella Werberzerck Piffl.

"This I can't believe," he said to himself. "Even in Hollywood such a name is impossible."

•—•—•

But Joe was wrong. It so happens that there really is a Gisella Werberzerck Piffl in Los Angeles. Before the war, she was a character actress of considerable repute in Austria, and at that time her name was simply Gisella Werberzerck. Subsequently she married a restaurateur named Herr Piffl, and when Mr. Hitler took over, she and her spouse fled to Hollywood. Here, because of her heavy accent, this talented actress has had to content herself with playing bit parts, mostly maids, which don't even rate screen credit.

Joe Smith, of course, knew none of this. He stared at the name for a long time, rolling its rich, succulent syllables on his tongue. Then, suddenly and with resolution, he picked up the phone and dialed the number.

"Hello," he said in a tremulous voice. "Is this — uh — Gisella Piffl?"

"Yah," a pleasant voice answered.

"Gisella Werberzerck Piffl?"

"Yah, das iss she."

•—•—•

Joe didn't know what to say next. "Gisella," he ad libbed, "this is an old friend of yours, Theanderblast Mishgedeigle Sump. I used to go to the University of Wisconsin with you, remember?"

"Nein," said the voice. "Vass neffer in Vischkonzin the schdate, ledding alone Vischkonzin the schkool."

"I'm terribly sorry," said the writer. "I must have the wrong Gisella Werberzerck Piffl." . . . .

And now if you don't mind, scholars, I'll bring this column to a close. Yesterday I was riffling through the phone book and I happened to notice that Babette Umschedd and Zebede Umprenz are listed next to each other.

Excuse me, won't you? I've got to make a phone call . . . .

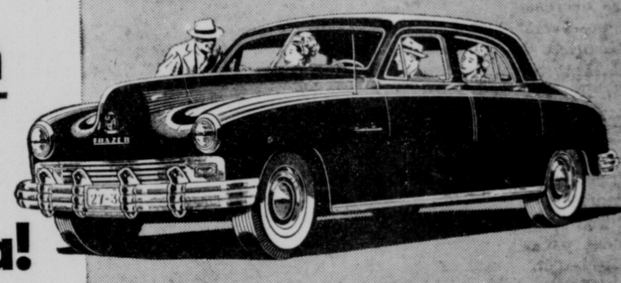
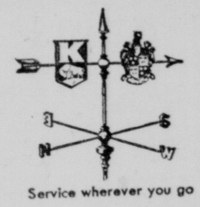
KAISER



FRAZER



Service wherever you go

In just two years we've built and sold more fine cars than any other new manufacturer in automobile history.

Why? Because America fell in love with the KAISER and the FRAZER on sight. Folks are streaming into Kaiser-Frazer showrooms and learning from present owners how dependable these two great cars are. They're learning — from people who drive them — how soundly they are built . . . how economical they are . . . how much joy there is in owning one.

THESE ARE THE MOST-COPIED CARS IN AMERICA, road-proved by 250,000 owners in two billion miles of driving.

Because plenty of Americans insist on comfort, convenience, style and value, traditional leaders had to "move over" — as Kaiser-Frazer became the fourth largest manufacturer of motor cars in the world in two short years.

Why wait? Enjoy your new car this summer. You'll get fair treatment and highest trade-in allowance.

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

Somewhere on the isle of Manhattan lives a man by the name of Szymon Szwarc.

On the same island live Hyacinth Muckle, Weda Yap, Igna Wank, John T. deBlois Wack, A. Renietella Wapples, Hatzala Vaad and a gent named Frank Ix.

Billy Rose

If you think I'm kidding, open the New York City Telephone Directory and check up on me. And while you're at it, look sharp and you may spot one of these awesome monickers yourself. If you do, extract a drop of blood from your thumb, dip your pen in it and letter the name out on a piece of thin tissue. You will then be a full-fledged member of the Ancient and Honorable Order of Cognomen Collectors.

Name collecting, I hasten to add, has always been the noblest of hobbies. Some benighted souls collect paintings, stamps, match boxes and pieces of string, but the prince of collectors is he who stalks and snares the unbelievable examples of human handles. Viz—the name-fancier.

I admit that the venerable art of name collecting is a vanishing but don't let that disturb you. The practitioners of it, the keepers of the faith, are a loyal and enthusiastic group. When one of them returns from a field trip, which generally consists of trekking through phone books and cotillion rosters, he will spend weeks exhibiting his specimens to brother connoisseurs and basking in the warmth of their ooh and aahs. An expert I know has been dining out for the past six months simply because somewhere in the fastnesses of the African veldt, he had bagged one of the rarest specimens of all time, Theanderblast Mishgedeigle Sump, Esq.

Like all arts, name collecting has its tall tales and legends which are told wherever the fraternity gathers. My favorite has to do with one of the most indefatigable of the directory browsers, a magazine writer with the unlikely name of Joe Smith.

Several months ago, a Hollywood studio brought Joe out to work on a scenario based on one of his own stories. He was given an office, a desk, a phone and — you guessed it — a telephone directory of Greater Los Angeles.

For two days, Joe worked determinedly at his typewriter, conscious of his responsibilities and of the big salary he was receiving. But try as he would, his eye kept straying to the plump, promising volume on the window sill. On the third day he took the phone off the hook, lowered the window shade, sank into an easy chair, placed the book on his eager knees and opened it.

And the first name which caught his eye was Gisella Werberzerck Piffl.

"This I can't believe," he said to himself. "Even in Hollywood such a name is impossible."

●—●—●

But Joe was wrong. It so happens that there really is a Gisella Werberzerck Piffl in Los Angeles. Before the war, she was a character actress of considerable repute in Austria, and at that time her name was simply Gisella Werberzerck. Subsequently she married a restaurateur named Herr Piffl, and when Mr. Hitler took over, she and her spouse fled to Hollywood. Here, because of her heavy accent, this talented actress has had to content herself with playing bit parts, mostly maids, which don't even rate screen credit.

Joe Smith, of course, knew none of this. He stared at the name for a long time, rolling its rich, succulent syllables on his tongue. Then, suddenly and with resolution, he picked up the phone and dialed the number.

"Hello," he said in a tremulous voice. "Is this — uh — Gisella Piffl?"

"Yah," a pleasant voice answered.

"Gisella Werberzerck Piffl?"

"Yah, das iss she."

●—●—●

Joe didn't know what to say next. "Gisella," he ad libbed, "this is an old friend of yours, Theanderblast Mishgedeigle Sump. I used to go to the University of Wisconsin with you, remember?"

"Nein," said the voice. "Vass neffer in Vischkonzin the schdate, ledding alone Vischkonzin the schkool."

"I'm terribly sorry," said the writer. "I must have the wrong Gisella Werberzerck Piffl." . . . .

And now if you don't mind, scholars, I'll bring this column to a close. Yesterday I was riffling through the phone book and I happened to notice that Babette Umschedd and Zebede Umprenz are listed next to each other.

Excuse me, won't you? I've got to make a phone call . . . .

Marriage Announced

The marriage of Miss Hilma Mildred Sanders, San Francisco, Calif., to Charles Lee Wolford, San Francisco, formerly of here, has been announced by Mrs. Nellie Johnson, St. Petersburg, Fla., mother of the bride.

The bridegroom, formerly associated with WTBO, is now employed by the United States Government.

Festive Frou-Frou

Add excitement to your everyday hair-do with a scant handful of buttons! Sounds silly, doesn't it? Actually, buttons slide easily onto bobby pins or hair pins. They can be quickly placed in braids, or in curls, or to accent a wave. Tuck two or three filigree ball buttons around a chignon. Colorful flower-patterned buttons, jewel studded originales or bow knot motifs, will add nice decoration to a braid or a curl group.

MISS POTOMAC CROWNED—Ruth Hott, 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Atlee Hott, Paw Paw, W. Va., was named Miss Potomac of 1948 Monday night at Paw Paw in a preliminary to the Miss Maryland pageant to be held in Cumberland August 2. She is pictured above (right) being crowned by Miss Jean Dixon, Cumberland, who was Miss Maryland of 1947.

County Hairdressers Name National, State Delegates

Conclude Activities Until September

The Allegany Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association voted a summer recess and named delegates for the national and state conventions at the dinner meeting Monday night at Central YMCA.

It was decided to cancel the August meeting and resume activities by September 20. Mrs. Virginia Powell presided and prayer was offered by Mrs. Irene Critzman.

Delegates to the National Convention are Mrs. Powell and Miss Eloise Rodriguez. It is to be held in Chicago, September 26, 27 and 28. Mrs. George Robertson was selected to represent Maryland to do the model hair arrangement for the "Parade of States," which is to represent the "Preakness."

Miss Lois Lumn, president; Elwood Wiles, secretary of the state group; and Mrs. Lelia Pope, all of Hagerstown, were guests at the meeting and talked of the 16th annual convention and "Golden Curl" contest of the Maryland State Association which is to be held November 7-8 in Hotel Alexander, Hagerstown. They urged all members to attend, and announced that Madame Marguerite, New York, will be featured.

The delegates selected to go to Hagerstown are Mrs. Robertson, Mrs. Catherine Spruill, Mrs. Mae Emery, Mrs. Vauda Kirby, Mrs. Mamie Scott and Mrs. Critzman.

Thomas F. Conlon, Jr., gave a talk on hairdressers agency's insurance.

Lions To Entertain With Annual Outing, Picnic

Albert Windish To Be Host July 28

The annual outing and stag party of the Cumberland Lions Club will be held July 28 at the home of Albert Windish, Union Grove Road. This date is designated as Cumberland Day at the races, and it is expected that all places of business in the city will be closed for the afternoon. The outing will take the place of the regular meeting at noon.

Invitations have been extended to members of all the Lions clubs of Allegany County.

Activities will begin at 1 o'clock and will include baseball and softball games, horseshoe pitching, croquet and other sports until dusk, at which time a picnic will be served. Card games will conclude the evening.

Frank Spoerl is chairman of arrangements. Members of the committee serving with him are James Mullan, James Stevenson and Earl Grimm.

Marriage Announced

The marriage of Miss Hilma Mildred Sanders, San Francisco, Calif., to Charles Lee Wolford, San Francisco, formerly of here, has been announced by Mrs. Nellie Johnson, St. Petersburg, Fla., mother of the bride.

The bridegroom, formerly associated with WTBO, is now employed by the United States Government.

Festive Frou-Frou

Add excitement to your everyday hair-do with a scant handful of buttons! Sounds silly, doesn't it? Actually, buttons slide easily onto bobby pins or hair pins. They can be quickly placed in braids, or in curls, or to accent a wave. Tuck two or three filigree ball buttons around a chignon. Colorful flower-patterned buttons, jewel studded originales or bow knot motifs, will add nice decoration to a braid or a curl group.

MISS POTOMAC CROWNED—Ruth Hott, 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Atlee Hott, Paw Paw, W. Va., was named Miss Potomac of 1948 Monday night at Paw Paw in a preliminary to the Miss Maryland pageant to be held in Cumberland August 2. She is pictured above (right) being crowned by Miss Jean Dixon, Cumberland, who was Miss Maryland of 1947.

County Hairdressers Name National, State Delegates

Conclude Activities Until September

The Allegany Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association voted a summer recess and named delegates for the national and state conventions at the dinner meeting Monday night at Central YMCA.

It was decided to cancel the August meeting and resume activities by September 20. Mrs. Virginia Powell presided and prayer was offered by Mrs. Irene Critzman.

Delegates to the National Convention are Mrs. Powell and Miss Eloise Rodriguez. It is to be held in Chicago, September 26, 27 and 28. Mrs. George Robertson was selected to represent Maryland to do the model hair arrangement for the "Parade of States," which is to represent the "Preakness."

Miss Lois Lumn, president; Elwood Wiles, secretary of the state group; and Mrs. Lelia Pope, all of Hagerstown, were guests at the meeting and talked of the 16th annual convention and "Golden Curl" contest of the Maryland State Association which is to be held November 7-8 in Hotel Alexander, Hagerstown. They urged all members to attend, and announced that Madame Marguerite, New York, will be featured.

The delegates selected to go to Hagerstown are Mrs. Robertson, Mrs. Catherine Spruill, Mrs. Mae Emery, Mrs. Vauda Kirby, Mrs. Mamie Scott and Mrs. Critzman.

Thomas F. Conlon, Jr., gave a talk on hairdressers agency's insurance.

Other members present were Mrs. Leora Lewis, Mrs. Spruill, Miss Joyce Feltz, Mrs. Virginia Sunderlin, Mrs. Esther Smith, Mrs. Mae Emory, Mrs. Ruby Griffith, Miss Ethel Henry, Miss Elsie Henry, Mrs. Catherine Welton, Miss Rodriguez, Mrs. Robertson, Miss Nyna Fey, Mrs. Kirby, Mrs. Scott, Miss Mary Catherine Cessna, Mrs. Pauline Smith and Miss Jean Huland.

Bowling Green Fire Auxiliary To Hold Benefit Supper

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Bowling Green Volunteer Firemen completed plans for a benefit supper, voted to assist the firemen with their bazaar and to purchase more dishes for the fire hall, at the meeting last night with Mrs. Arthur C. Page presiding.

The supper is to be held tonight from 4 until 8 o'clock, and is to raise funds to purchase more dishes for the fire hall. Mrs. A. N. Robinette and Mrs. Evelyn Harden are in charge of the supper.

It was reported that over $70 worth of dishes have been purchased and it was voted to purchase $15 or $20 more today. Mrs. Samuel Smith and Mrs. George Dick are in charge of the project.

The auxiliary voted to assist the men with their bazaar which is to be held August 16 through 21. A joint committee meeting of the auxiliary and firemen will be held tonight at 8:30, when final plans will be formulated.

Mrs. Irene Dayton, Mrs. Allan Deffenbaugh, Mrs. George Dick and Mrs. Marie Dunlap were named hostesses for the monthly social to be held August 3.

Routine business was also transacted and prayer offered by Mrs. Troy Haddix.

Just Between Us

If You Concentrate On Self All The Time, You're Lost

By NANCY MOTTRAM

(Q) "Dear Nancy: I am nearly 17 years old, and am very self-conscious. Whenever I'm with a group, I can't help being conscious of the things I do and say, and how I appear to other people. I thought as I grew older, I'd lose that feeling but instead, it seems to get worse. I'd like to conquer it, but I don't know how, and I'd appreciate your advice on the subject."

Nancy Mottram

(A) Stop thinking of yourself. Whenever you join a crowd, forget how you feel, and put all your concentration on your companions. It may be hard at first, but if you make up your mind to notice the others and observe the way they talk and act and listen to the things they say, you will find yourself beginning to lose your habit and joining in without a qualm. Most of all, you need to be sure of yourself. You'll develop self-confidence gradually, and one of the most important first steps is to be confident that you look your best at all times. It may seem a small thing, but it can be of great help to you when you set out to lose that bothersome complex.

(Q) "Dear Nancy: After three months of going steady, I began to get the 'brush-off' treatment. This boy made dates with me on different occasions, and then never bothered to keep them, or to call and explain. I heard from some of my friends that he was dating other girls, but when I asked him, he denied it. Finally, I saw him out with someone else, myself, and after that, I didn't hear from him any more. I find I still like him, and I want to date him again, but I don't know how to go about making up, as we just speak whenever we see each other. What do you think I should do?"

(A) As far as "getting him back" is concerned, is it worth it? He certainly didn't show any consideration for you in any way, so would it be wise to start your friendship with him again? He deliberately didn't keep the rules, and to top it off, didn't have the courage to admit it. Even though you find you're still fond of him, you'll only be letting yourself in for more complications if you do succeed in making up and history could very well repeat itself. Instead of risking more unhappiness, consider your relationship with him a closed chapter, and occupy your time with lads who can be counted on to be thoughtful—and fair.

(Q) "Dear Nancy: Several days ago, I lost a wallet. Later that same day, I received a telephone call from a person who said he'd found it, and that evening, he brought it to my house. As there was only a small amount of change and some pictures in it, I merely thanked him and didn't give him a reward. However, I'm not absolutely sure I did the right thing, so I'd like to find out the correct way to handle this situation in case I ever run into that situation again."

(A) In this case, a thank-you would be all that would be required. But in the event that you lost an expensive article, and the finder went out of his way to see that it was returned to you, it would be a grateful gesture to reward the person for his trouble.

If you have a problem at school or at home, write Miss Mottram for her help.

Visitor Here Wed

Miss Almeda Oler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Oler, Baltimore, frequent visitor here, was married to William A. Price, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard S. Price, Sr., Arbutus, recently by Rev. A. N. Newell in Hubert Memorial Evangelical Church.

A niece of Mrs. Paul J. Stein, Walnut Street, the bride wore the traditional white satin wedding gown.

If a man let his beard grow a lifetime, it would be approximately 105 inches long at the time of his death. If you don't believe your columnist knows what he's talking about, try it sometime and see.

Fall Seminar To Be Held Here Sept. 3

Local members of the WSCS attended the district conference Leadership Training School at Western Maryland College, July 9-16, and extended an invitation for the fall seminar to be held here in Grace Church, September 3. Under the auspices of the Hagerstown District, it is being planned by Mrs. John G. Cook, president; and Mrs. S. T. Fitch, Shepherdstown, district secretary of missionary education and service. The president of Grace WSCS will have charge of local arrangements.

Mrs. Cook, Frostburg, participated in the study of "The Bible and Human Rights," taught by Dr. Paul S. Schilling, former resident, and "Growth of Spiritual Life." Others attending were Mrs. Rachael Iames, leader of Zone 2 and member of Zion Church; Mrs. Alton Walston, Mrs. Herbert Logsdon, Mrs. Susan Smith, Cresaptown WSCS, and Miss Mary Margaret Perdew, Central Church.

Members of the Wesleyan Service Guild held a weekend seminar with Miss Virginia Dixon, Mrs. Georgia Wolford, Miss Marian Dennison and Miss Lucretia Boucher attending from the Centre Street Guild.

Just Between Us

If You Concentrate On Self All The Time, You're Lost

By NANCY MOTTRAM

(Q) "Dear Nancy: I am nearly 17 years old, and am very self-conscious. Whenever I'm with a group, I can't help being conscious of the things I do and say, and how I appear to other people. I thought as I grew older, I'd lose that feeling but instead, it seems to get worse. I'd like to conquer it, but I don't know how, and I'd appreciate your advice on the subject."

(A) Stop thinking of yourself. Whenever you join a crowd, forget how you feel, and put all your concentration on your companions. It may be hard at first, but if you make up your mind to notice the others and observe the way they talk and act and listen to the things they say, you will find yourself beginning to lose your habit and joining in without a qualm. Most of all, you need to be sure of yourself. You'll develop self-confidence gradually, and one of the most important first steps is to be confident that you look your best at all times. It may seem a small thing, but it can be of great help to you when you set out to lose that bothersome complex.

Nancy Mottram

(Q) "Dear Nancy: After three months of going steady, I began to get the 'brush-off' treatment. This boy made dates with me on different occasions, and then never bothered to keep them, or to call and explain. I heard from some of my friends that he was dating other girls, but when I asked him, he denied it. Finally, I saw him out with someone else, myself, and after that, I didn't hear from him any more. I find I still like him, and I want to date him again, but I don't know how to go about making up, as we just speak whenever we see each other. What do you think I should do?"

(A) As far as "getting him back" is concerned, is it worth it? He certainly didn't show any consideration for you in any way, so would it be wise to start your friendship with him again? He deliberately didn't keep the rules, and to top it off, didn't have the courage to admit it. Even though you find you're still fond of him, you'll only be letting yourself in for more complications if you do succeed in making up and history could very well repeat itself. Instead of risking more unhappiness, consider your relationship with him a closed chapter, and occupy your time with lads who can be counted on to be thoughtful—and fair.

(Q) "Dear Nancy: Several days ago, I lost a wallet. Later that same day, I received a telephone call from a person who said he'd found it, and that evening, he brought it to my house. As there was only a small amount of change and some pictures in it, I merely thanked him and didn't give him a reward. However, I'm not absolutely sure I did the right thing, so I'd like to find out the correct way to handle this situation in case I ever run into that situation again."

(A) In this case, a thank-you would be all that would be required. But in the event that you lost an expensive article, and the finder went out of his way to see that it was returned to you, it would be a grateful gesture to reward the person for his trouble.

If you have a problem at school or at home, write Miss Mottram for her help.

Visitor Here Wed

Miss Almeda Oler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Oler, Baltimore, frequent visitor here, was married to William A. Price, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard S. Price, Sr., Arbutus, recently by Rev. A. N. Newell in Hubert Memorial Evangelical Church.

A niece of Mrs. Paul J. Stein, Walnut Street, the bride wore the traditional white satin wedding gown.

If a man let his beard grow a lifetime, it would be approximately 105 inches long at the time of his death. If you don't believe your columnist knows what he's talking about, try it sometime and see.

Fall Seminar To Be Held Here Sept. 3

Local members of the WSCS attended the district conference Leadership Training School at Western Maryland College, July 9-16, and extended an invitation for the fall seminar to be held here in Grace Church, September 3. Under the auspices of the Hagerstown District, it is being planned by Mrs. John G. Cook, president; and Mrs. S. T. Fitch, Shepherdstown, district secretary of missionary education and service. The president of Grace WSCS will have charge of local arrangements.

Mrs. Cook, Frostburg, participated in the study of "The Bible and Human Rights," taught by Dr. Paul S. Schilling, former resident, and "Growth of Spiritual Life." Others attending were Mrs. Rachael Iames, leader of Zone 2 and member of Zion Church; Mrs. Alton Walston, Mrs. Herbert Logsdon, Mrs. Susan Smith, Cresaptown WSCS, and Miss Mary Margaret Perdew, Central Church.

Members of the Wesleyan Service Guild held a weekend seminar with Miss Virginia Dixon, Mrs. Georgia Wolford, Miss Marian Dennison and Miss Lucretia Boucher attending from the Centre Street Guild.

Moorefield Couple Wed In Cumberland

MOOREFIELD, W. Va.—Miss Edna Eugenia Hott, daughter of Mrs. Edna Hott and the late D. E. Hott, and John Paul Halterman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Brown Halterman, were married July 5 in Cumberland, Md. Rev. William A. Eisenberger performed the doublering ceremony.

The bride wore a light beige suit with brown accessories and a corsage of yellow rosebuds.

Mrs. Halterman was graduated from Moorefield High School in 1945 and attended Potomac State College at Keyser. She is now employed by the Valley Cheese Company. Mr. Halterman was graduated from Moorefield High School in 1947 and is associated with his parents in a dry cleaning business.

The couple spent their honeymoon at Lost River State Park and will move into an apartment in the Hutter house on Main Street as soon as it is finished.

Gallup Poll

Many Voters Believe Wallace Party Is Run By Communists

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., July 20—Perhaps one of the reasons why the Wallace Third Party has not been able to increase its following is the belief held by many American voters that Communists dominate the party.

Politicians of both major parties have tried to pin the Communist tag on the followers of Henry A. Wallace since his party was launched six months ago. Apparently their efforts have succeeded, because when a national cross-section of voters are asked whether they agree or disagree that the Wallace Third Party is run by Communists, these are their answers:

Yes, run by Communists	51%
No, not run by Communists	21
No opinion	28

Politically speaking, it makes slight difference whether the charge is accurate or not, because obviously voters cast their ballots according to their own oersonal beliefs. Wallace himself has made several denials of the charge, and there is some speculation that his Third Party will openly break with the Communists during the Philadelphia convention which begins today.

Even among groups of voters to whom it supposedly makes the greatest appeal, the Communist label for the Third Party is strongly accepted. These include younger voters, farmers, and union members. However, the large group of independent voters, among whom Wallace will have to recruit a major part of his following, are less inclined to say the party is dominated by Communists. The following table gives the figures by occupation, age and party affiliation:

Occupation	Agree	Dis-agree	No opin.
Prof. & Bus.	54%	28%	18%
White Collar	51	25	24
Farmer	54	16	30
Manual	49	18	33
Unin Members	48	22	30
Age
21-29 years	47	27	26
30-49 years	50	22	28
50 & over	53	17	30
Party Affiliation
Republicans	59	16	25
Democrats	50	19	31
Independents	42	32	26

While the Wallace Third Party has been tagged as Communistic, the two major parties themselves are far from free of damaging labels. For instance, when people are asked whether they believe it to be true that "the Republican Party is run by a few big businessmen of the country," this is what they say:

Yes, run by a few big businessmen	47%
No, not run by a few big businessmen	37
No opinion	16

Voters in the survey were also asked whether they agreed or disagreed with this statement: "The Democratic Party is run by labor leaders of the country?" The answers to this question were:

Yes, run by labor leaders	40%
No, not run by labor leaders	43
No opinion	17

When it comes to the two major parties there is considerably more disagreement among the various population groups as to whether the statements are true or false. But a third or more of all groups agree with the accusations of outside control.

Party orators will constantly reiterate these charges throughout the campaign. Polls taken in later stages of the campaign will reflect any material changes in voter attitudes.

MOTHER SAYS MUSCLE-RUB IS A GODSEND FOR RHEUMATIC PAIN
If you are suffering the agony of Rheumatic-Arthritic pains listen to how Mrs. Leo Doerflinger of Dunkirk, N. Y. helped her rheumatic pains and her mother's. She says: "I had such pain in my legs and knees. I heard about Muscle-Rub and got a bottle. Now I feel like a new person. My mother, 77 years old, has Rheumatism in her fingers, shoulders and arms. I used Muscle-Rub on her and in 20 minutes the pains were relieved. I will never be without Muscle-Rub."
Your druggist has Muscle-Rub in stock right now, so if you are suffering pain, get a bottle today. Muscle-Rub is a doctor's formula and is an external treatment. And it's sold on this guarantee: If just half a bottle doesn't bring relief you get your money back. Get Muscle-Rub today.

Gallup Poll

Many Voters Believe Wallace Party Is Run By Communists

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., July 20—Perhaps one of the reasons why the Wallace Third Party has not been able to increase its following is the belief held by many American voters that Communists dominate the party.

Politicians of both major parties have tried to pin the Communist tag on the followers of Henry A. Wallace since his party was launched six months ago. Apparently their efforts have succeeded, because when a national cross-section of voters are asked whether they agree or disagree that the Wallace Third Party is run by Communists, these are their answers:

Yes, run by Communists	51%
No, not run by Communists	21
No opinion	28

Politically speaking, it makes slight difference whether the charge is accurate or not, because obviously voters cast their ballots according to their own oersonal beliefs. Wallace himself has made several denials of the charge, and there is some speculation that his Third Party will openly break with the Communists during the Philadelphia convention which begins today.

Even among groups of voters to whom it supposedly makes the greatest appeal, the Communist label for the Third Party is strongly accepted. These include younger voters, farmers, and union members. However, the large group of independent voters, among whom Wallace will have to recruit a major part of his following, are less inclined to say the party is dominated by Communists. The following table gives the figures by occupation, age and party affiliation:

Occupation	Agree	Dis-agree	No opin.
Prof. & Bus.	54%	28%	18%
White Collar	51	25	24
Farmer	54	16	30
Manual	49	18	33
Unin Members	48	22	30
Age
21-29 years	47	27	26
30-49 years	50	22	28
50 & over	53	17	30
Party Affiliation
Republicans	59	16	25
Democrats	50	19	31
Independents	42	32	26

While the Wallace Third Party has been tagged as Communistic, the two major parties themselves are far from free of damaging labels. For instance, when people are asked whether they believe it to be true that "the Republican Party is run by a few big businessmen of the country," this is what they say:

Yes, run by a few big businessmen	47%
No, not run by a few big businessmen	37
No opinion	16

Voters in the survey were also asked whether they agreed or disagreed with this statement: "The Democratic Party is run by labor leaders of the country?" The answers to this question were:

Yes, run by labor leaders	40%
No, not run by labor leaders	43
No opinion	17

When it comes to the two major parties there is considerably more disagreement among the various population groups as to whether the statements are true or false. But a third or more of all groups agree with the accusations of outside control.

Party orators will constantly reiterate these charges throughout the campaign. Polls taken in later stages of the campaign will reflect any material changes in voter attitudes

Dude Ranches

A great deal has been written about dude ranches, and most of them are located in the western part of the United States and Canada. But I made a discovery the other day—one is hidden away a few miles from my little island retreat here in Nova Scotia. I could hardly believe my eyes. I thought dude ranches were in the wide-open spaces, but I was tempted to investigate this one and was amazed to learn that almost beyond my door was a great stable of horses, cottages for guests, and trails leading far into the wooded areas.

I learned something new, too—that there are companies who go for a ride into the trails at night, starting at midnight, and often having a refreshment period thrown in. It's called the Circle "J." Ranch, and it's only about fifteen miles out of Halifax. They have a big barn where the old-fashioned dances are held, and all over the walls of the big structure are mementoes of the days of old Dobbin. My one visit was indeed a unique experience. You go back to a great many nostalgic experiences here in these maritime provinces.

A friend told me that this Circle "J." Ranch is the only dude ranch east of Quebec and north of the Adirondacks. Well, before the summer is over I may be tempted to get aback of the favorite animal of my boyhood days and see what happens—plenty happened in those early days. But it was a great experience. Few animals are more intelligent than a well-treated horse. I spent nearly a score of years among them, and learned much.

I am glad, however, these faithful beasts of ours do not have to do the drudgery work of former years. I think they rather enjoy taking both men and women for a ride! How quick they are to scent the character of the rider! I had a pony the first fifteen years of my life, and I used to talk to her, and I am sure that she understood a great deal I said to her. I rode her bareback, with just a blanket and strap to keep me on. A saddle in those days didn't appeal to me. It looked too fancy. I don't know why they call these ranches "Dude" ranches, though. The people I have seen at them look like anything but dudes!

Homemakers Called To Aid In Food Conservation

The homemaker can make a major contribution to the National drive to eliminate food waste caused by insect infestation by keeping an eagle eye on every one of her food cupboards, according to U. S. D. A.

With all packages and containers tightly closed, with regular cleaning and with weekly checkups, the homemaker has assurance her own cupboards are clean, but during the summer months, cleaning and check-ups must be frequent. Insects may come into the home from the outside gardens, through apartment walls, or in the grocer's box when he delivers. No one is entirely safe, but everyone can be careful. Farmers and distributors who handle much larger quantities of foods are doing their part. They are working together, taking every possible protective measure to save food. The United States Department of Agriculture has prepared special publications on food conservation, available through county agents, agricultural colleges and the U.S.D.A. Office of Information.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Where There's Smoke, There's Bound To Be Fire Of Some Sort

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

The old saying that where there's smoke, there must be fire is a very trite one, but it's just as true today as the first time it ever was said. It's the saying that always comes to my mind when I get a letter from somebody complaining that malicious rumors are being circulated about him or her.

Now the sort of "fire" indicated by this kind of "smoke" may be either of two types. It might be, for one thing, that the person complaining of the rumors has a definite type of mental quirk which leads people to believe that others are trying to harm them in some way, either by false gossip or by outright action. This sort of thing is called a persecution complex, and calls for treatment by a doctor qualified to handle people with ideas of this sort.

The second possibility is that the malicious rumors have a basis for actual fact, and that the object of them is trying to find a way to get out of some situation that is provoking this undesirable publicity.

I am inclined to believe that the 16-year-old girl, who signs her letter "Bewildered", is in the first group and in need of a doctor, although I may be wrong.

Here is what she writes me:

"Five months ago my house burned down, and ever since I have been separated from my parents and my three brothers. Now I am finding out what my neighbors are really like. They are a bunch of gossipers.

"They have spread rumors about me saying that I wander the streets every night with sailors on each arm, drinking and smoking.

"The other day I was talking to a girl who used to live next door and she quickly said good-bye. When I asked her what was the matter, she said if her mother ever found out she had spoken to me, she would be punished.

"I wish you would tell me what to do. I don't smoke, and hate even the mention of liquor. I don't like boys, and I never had a date, so I don't see how anybody can prove the stories that are going around about me."

Now, it is possible that this girl is in a highly nervous condition as a result of her losing her home and having to live apart from her family, and that this has thrown her into a state of hysteria in which she has taken to daydreaming as a means of escape. It is quite possible that none of the things she imagines have happened at all, but are merely figments of her upset imagination.

It might be well, I think, if this girl would talk to her parents the next time she sees them, and tell them the things she has told me. If it is not possible for her to see them, then, as I suggested above, she should go to a doctor and tell her story to him. He will know how to advise her.

On the other hand, if it is actually true that she is a subject of gossip, that is something else again, and she had better examine her conduct to see what she has been doing that has given people cause to talk about her. For malicious gossip, while it may be exaggerated, almost always has a basis in fact.

Homemakers Called To Aid In Food Conservation

The homemaker can make a major contribution to the National drive to eliminate food waste caused by insect infestation by keeping an eagle eye on every one of her food cupboards, according to U. S. D. A.

With all packages and containers tightly closed, with regular cleaning and with weekly checkups, the homemaker has assurance her own cupboards are clean, but during the summer months, cleaning and check-ups must be frequent. Insects may come into the home from the outside gardens, through apartment walls, or in the grocer's box when he delivers. No one is entirely safe, but everyone can be careful. Farmers and distributors who handle much larger quantities of foods are doing their part. They are working together, taking every possible protective measure to save food. The United States Department of Agriculture has prepared special publications on food conservation, available through county agents, agricultural colleges and the U.S.D.A. Office of Information.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Where There's Smoke, There's Bound To Be Fire Of Some Sort

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

The old saying that where there's smoke, there must be fire is a very trite one, but it's just as true today as the first time it ever was said. It's the saying that always comes to my mind when I get a letter from somebody complaining that malicious rumors are being circulated about him or her.

Now the sort of "fire" indicated by this kind of "smoke" may be either of two types. It might be, for one thing, that the person complaining of the rumors has a definite type of mental quirk which leads people to believe that others are trying to harm them in some way, either by false gossip or by outright action. This sort of thing is called a persecution complex, and calls for treatment by a doctor qualified to handle people with ideas of this sort.

The second possibility is that the malicious rumors have a basis for actual fact, and that the object of them is trying to find a way to get out of some situation that is provoking this undesirable publicity.

I am inclined to believe that the 16-year-old girl, who signs her letter "Bewildered", is in the first group and in need of a doctor, although I may be wrong.

Here is what she writes me:

"Five months ago my house burned down, and ever since I have been separated from my parents and my three brothers. Now I am finding out what my neighbors are really like. They are a bunch of gossipers.

"They have spread rumors about me saying that I wander the streets every night with sailors on each arm, drinking and smoking.

"The other day I was talking to a girl who used to live next door and she quickly said good-bye. When I asked her what was the matter, she said if her mother ever found out she had spoken to me, she would be punished.

"I wish you would tell me what to do. I don't smoke, and hate even the mention of liquor. I don't like boys, and I never had a date, so I don't see how anybody can prove the stories that are going around about me."

Now, it is possible that this girl is in a highly nervous condition as a result of her losing her home and having to live apart from her family, and that this has thrown her into a state of hysteria in which she has taken to daydreaming as a means of escape. It is quite possible that none the things she imagines have happened at all, but are merely figments of her upset imagination.

It might be well, I think, if this girl would talk to her parents the next time she sees them, and tell them the things she has told me. If it is not possible for her to see them, then, as I suggested above, she should go to a doctor and tell her story to him. He will know how to advise her.

On the other hand, if it is actually true that she is a subject of gossip, that is something else again, and she had better examine her conduct to see what she has been doing that has given people cause to talk about her. For malicious gossip, while it may be exaggerated, almost always has a basis in fact.

Celanese Union Shop Poll Slated Week Of Aug. 2

The National Labor Relations Board has ordered a union security election to be held at the local plant of the Celanese Corporation of America August 2 through August 6.

Notice of the pending event has been furnished the company and Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, by Ross M. Madden, regional NLRB director. Playford Aldridge, union president, released a copy of a letter sent by Madden to Edward R. Allan, personal manager at the plant.

Allan said yesterday he has not received a copy of the letter but explained that the company will carry out the order of the NLRB.

The letter from Madden to Allan, according to Aldridge, was as follows:

"On the basis of investigation made to date in the above matter (union security election) it appears appropriate now to conduct a secret ballot to determine whether or not certain of your employes desire to authorize the petitioner to make an agreement with their employer requiring membership in the union as a condition of continued employment.

"Accordingly pursuant to Section 9(E1) of the National Labor Relations Act, as amended, and Section 203.67 of the board's rules and regulations an election by secret ballot will be conducted from August 2, 1948, through August 6, 1948. We will forward notices of election to you this week and request that they be posted in conspicuous places throughout your plant. Your cooperation in the matter will be appreciated."

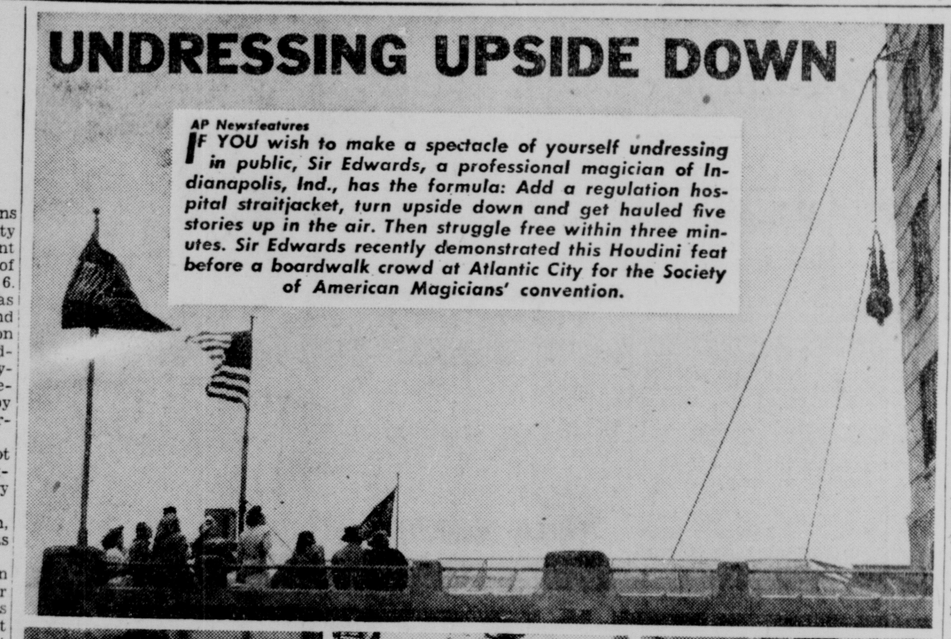
IF YOU wish to make a spectacle of yourself undressing in public, Sir Edwards, a professional magician of Indianapolis, Ind., has the formula: Add a regulation hospital straitjacket, turn upside down and get hauled five stories up in the air. Then struggle free within three minutes. Sir Edwards recently demonstrated this Houdini feat before a boardwalk crowd at Atlantic City for the Society of American Magicians' convention.



Cop adjusts straitjacket . . . not much arm or leg room . . . 5 floors up, he unmade it!

Darling Shops Eviction Halted

ANNAPOLIS, Md., July 20 (AP)—The Court of Appeals favored a Cumberland store in its decision handed down today.

In a split 5-1 decision, the court ruled that Darling Shops Delaware Corporation was entitled to stay in a Cumberland building until it got three months' notice to vacate.

Chief Judge Ogle Marbery said for the majority that "the landlord was not entitled to the judgement for the restitution of the possession of the premises," since the tenant did not receive three months notice.

Cumberland Realty Company notified Darling on November 14, 1947, to move January 31, 1948, the court said.

It upset an Allegany County decree in favor of the landlord.

Darling has rented space at 101-105 Baltimore Street, Cumberland, since 1937.

The Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association reports its members have voted to postpone for one year a ban on playing private and Catholic schools which do not employ full-time teacher-coaches.

Postponement was effected to permit public schools to continue athletic relations through the next football, basketball and track seasons with about 64 Catholic schools unable to hire teacher-coaches on a full time basis.

Three hundred and eighty-seven of the public schools which balloted in a special poll voted for the postponement, 211 against. About 400 schools did not vote.

The ban would have prohibited games between P.I.A.A. and non-member schools after September 1, 1948 unless they were scheduled before last January 1. The effective date of the ban is set back to September 1, 1949.

LaSalle was on the grid schedule of Bedford, a P.I.A.A. member for the past several years, but the teams will not meet this fall. The Explorers, however, are scheduled to meet Berlin, another Pennsylvania public school for the first time in football this year.

Umpire "Bill" McGowan Suspended By Harridge

CHICAGO, July 20 (INS) — President Will Harridge of the American League today announced the immediate suspension of William McGowan, dean of the loop's umpires.

Harridge's office said the suspension resulted from McGowan's conduct on the field at last night's Washington-Cleveland game in the nation's capital, but refused to give further details.

American League public relations director Earl Hilligan said he was not free to discuss the case, but added that a full announcement would be made after completion of an investigation.

McGowan became an American circuit umpire in 1925 and is the oldest in the league in point of service.

Greek Resident Asks For Clothing; Describes Privations In Her Country

Letter Sent From Kavalla, Greece

Some indication of the dire need of the Greek people for material aid is contained in a letter recently received by a local resident who sent two boxes of clothing several months ago to the town of Kavalla Greece.

The daughter-in-law of the woman receiving the clothing wrote to ask for any garments which could be spared for her husband and herself.

Originally written in Greek, the letter was translated by a Cumberland man who came to this country from Greece a number of years ago.

Beginning with the salutation "Dear good-hearted lady," the letter reads:

"I don't know who you are, but I am writing this letter to let you know who I am. To write this letter in English, I cannot do.

"The man in our town who usually does our writing is out of town at the present time. I am writing this in Greek, because you can find someone to translate it easier than I can find someone to write it in English.

"I am the daughter-in-law of the woman you sent the two boxes of clothes. I have been married for four months to her son and we have no clothes to wear and live in an empty house.

"Nobody but God knows how we live here. Besides having no clothes, we have no form of employment, there's no work available.

"My uncle, my mother-in-law's brother, said you sent plenty of clothes. But my mother-in-law tells us she needs them all for her daughter. She has been kind enough to give me a blouse and skirt from the boxes you sent, and I thank you, dear lady.

"Most of the people here have relatives in your country, who have sent them clothes and things to wear. It seems as though some of the people have everything and some have nothing.

"In the event you send any more boxes to this country, we would be glad to receive anything you want to send. It doesn't have to be much anything you can spare."

The letter is signed by Marica Liminou, Kaxo Lakovikia, Kavalla, Greece.

The mother-in-law has also written to thank the Cumberland resident for the two boxes, and said a neighbor could use infant's wear and men's clothing.

Celanese Union Shop Poll Slated Week Of Aug. 2

The National Labor Relations Board has ordered a union security election to be held at the local plant of the Celanese Corporation of America August 2 through August 6.

Notice of the pending event has been furnished the company and Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, by Ross M. Madden, regional NLRB director. Playford Aldridge, union president, released a copy of a letter sent by Madden to Edward R. Allan, personal manager at the plant.

Allan said yesterday he has not received a copy of the letter but explained that the company will carry out the order of the NLRB.

The letter from Madden to Allan, according to Aldridge, was as follows:

"On the basis of investigation made to date in the above matter (union security election) it appears appropriate now to conduct a secret ballot to determine whether or not certain of your employes desire to authorize the petitioner to make an agreement with their employer requiring membership in the union as a condition of continued employment.

"Accordingly pursuant to Section 9(E1) of the National Labor Relations Act, as amended, and Section 203.67 of the board's rules and regulations an election by secret ballot will be conducted from August 2, 1948, through August 6, 1948. We will forward notices of election to you this week and request that they be posted in conspicuous places throughout your plant. Your cooperation in the matter will be appreciated."

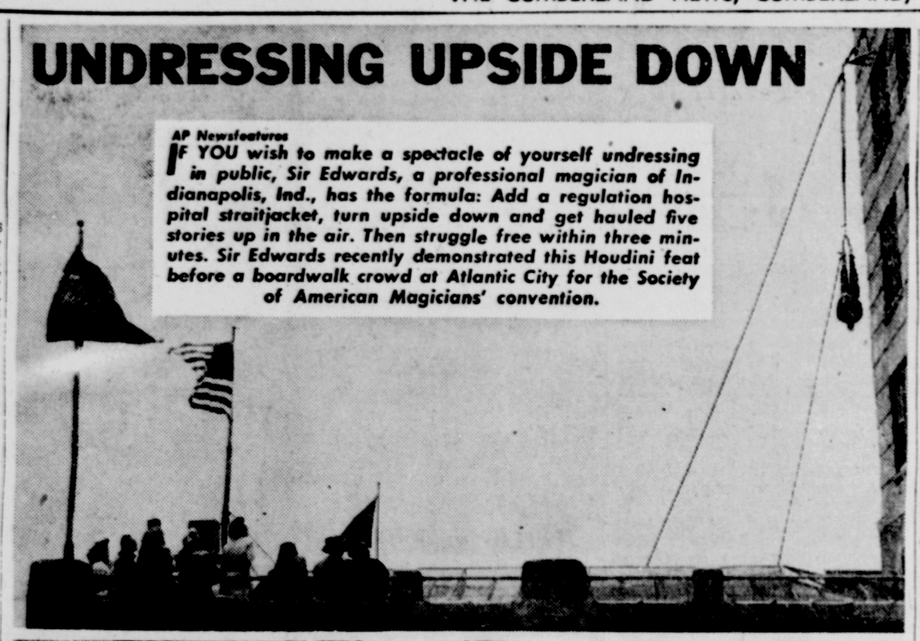
UNDRESSING UPSIDE DOWN

AP Newsfeatures

IF YOU wish to make a spectacle of yourself undressing in public, Sir Edwards, a professional magician of Indianapolis, Ind., has the formula: Add a regulation hospital straitjacket, turn upside down and get hauled five stories up in the air. Then struggle free within three minutes. Sir Edwards recently demonstrated this Houdini feat before a boardwalk crowd at Atlantic City for the Society of American Magicians' convention.



Cop adjusts straitjacket . . . not much arm or leg room . . . 5 floors up, he unmade it!

Darling Shops Eviction Halted

ANNAPOLIS, Md., July 20 (AP)—The Court of Appeals favored a Cumberland store in its decision handed down today.

In a split 5-1 decision, the court ruled that Darling Shops Delaware Corporation was entitled to stay in a Cumberland building until it got three months' notice to vacate.

Chief Judge Ogle Marbery said for the majority that "the landlord was not entitled to the judgement for the restitution of the possession of the premises," since the tenant did not receive three months notice.

Cumberland Realty Company notified Darling on November 14, 1947, to move January 31, 1948, the court said.

It upset an Allegany County decree in favor of the landlord.

Darling has rented space at 101-105 Baltimore Street, Cumberland, since 1937.

Mules caused a race horse to be disqualified last week at Havre de Grace.

Starter Eddie Blind, who holds the same position at Fairgo, reported that Baby Pauly had shied from the four mules who pull the starting gate into the centerfield.

At the 16th pole, Baby Pauly hit the inside rail, then seeing the mules, shied away from them to bump Kentmere Miss, who was moving up on the outside.

The disqualification resulted in the officials placing Baby Pauly fourth after she had finished in front of her field.

The Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association reports its members have voted to postpone for one year a ban on playing private and Catholic schools which do not employ full-time teacher-coaches.

Postponement was effected to permit public schools to continue athletic relations through the next football, basketball and track seasons with about 64 Catholic schools unable to hire teacher-coaches on a full time basis.

Three hundred and eighty-seven of the public schools which balloted in a special poll voted for the postponement, 211 against. About 400 schools did not vote.

The ban would have prohibited games between P.I.A.A. and non-member schools after September 1, 1948 unless they were scheduled before last January 1. The effective date of the ban is set back to September 1, 1949.

LaSalle was on the grid schedule of Bedford, a P.I.A.A. member for the past several years, but the teams will not meet this fall. The Explorers, however, are scheduled to meet Berlin, another Pennsylvania public school for the first time in football this year.

Last week when Satchel Paige, the 44-year-old negro "rookie" pitcher with the Cleveland Indians beat the A's it was noted that every time he wound up an inning he carefully picked up his glove and carried it to the dugout with him.

It was force of habit with Paige. On the barnstorming circuit for years he learned that leaving the glove on the field is an open invitation to theft.

Umpire "Bill" McGowan Suspended By Harridge

CHICAGO, July 20 (INS) — President Will Harridge of the American League today announced the immediate suspension of William McGowan, dean of the loop's umpires.

Harridge's office said the suspension resulted from McGowan's conduct on the field at last night's Washington-Cleveland game in the nation's capital, but refused to give further details.

American League public relations director Earl Hilligan said he was not free to discuss the case, but added that a full announcement would be made after completion of an investigation.

McGowan became an American circuit umpire in 1925 and is the oldest in the league in point of service.

Greek Resident Asks For Clothing; Describes Privations In Her Country

Letter Sent From Kavalla, Greece

Some indication of the dire need of the Greek people for material aid is contained in a letter recently received by a local resident who sent two boxes of clothing several months ago to the town of Kavalla Greece.

The daughter-in-law of the woman receiving the clothing wrote to ask for any garments which could be spared for her husband and herself.

Originally written in Greek, the letter was translated by a Cumberland man who came to this country from Greece a number of years ago.

Beginning with the salutation "Dear good-hearted lady," the letter reads:

"I don't know who you are, but I am writing this letter to let you know who I am. To write this letter in English, I cannot do.

"The man in our town who usually does our writing is out of town at the present time. I am writing this in Greek, because you can find someone to translate it easier than I can find someone to write it in English.

"I am the daughter-in-law of the woman you sent the two boxes of clothes. I have been married for four months to her son and we have no clothes to wear and live in an empty house.

"Nobody but God knows how we live here. Besides having no clothes, we have no form of employment, there's no work available.

"My uncle, my mother-in-law's brother, said you sent plenty of clothes. But my mother-in-law tells us she needs them all for her daughter. She has been kind enough to give me a blouse and skirt from the boxes you sent, and I thank you, dear lady.

"Most of the people here have relatives in your country, who have sent them clothes and things to wear. It seems as though some of the people have everything and some have nothing.

"In the event you send any more boxes to this country, we would be glad to receive anything you want to send. It doesn't have to be much anything you can spare."

The letter is signed by Marica Liminou, Kaxo Lakovikia, Kavalla, Greece.

The mother-in-law has also written to thank the Cumberland resident for the two boxes, and said a neighbor could use infant's wear and men's clothing.

District Title At Stake Today In Legion Game

Farrady And Love Post Teams Play At 'Coney

It's Lonaconing versus Frostburg today when the junior baseball teams of James P. Love Post do battle with Farrady Post for the championship of the Mountain District American Legion League at Athletic Park, Lonaconing, at 5:30 p. m.

Frostburg, managed by Paul Stewart, won eastern division honors in the circuit on Monday by defeating Fort Cumberland Post here by the score of 5-3 to break a deadlock for first place. Frostburg won the division title with a record of eight wins and three losses. Other teams competing were Midland, Grantsville and Cumberland.

Lonaconing, piloted by Harry Sallada, captured western division honors by winning ten consecutive games from Westernport, Kitzmiller and Oakland.

Bobby Lee, winner of six consecutive league games, including two no-hitters, will likely get the pitching assignment for 'Coney in today's contest while Eberly or Jenkins will be on the firing line for the Mountain City nine.

Today's winner will gain the right to play Hagerstown for western Maryland honors in a best-of-three-games series opening either Friday or Saturday. A doubleheader will open the series at 1:30 p. m., and the games will be staged on the field of the team winning today's game.

Wellersburg Beats Allegany Grove, 5-0

Corriganville Spills Hyndman Firemen, 4-2

Frank Toler tossed a five-hitter yesterday as Wellersburg's pacesetters defeated Allegany Grove by the score of 5-0 in a County Softball League game at Allegany Grove.

Petenbrink and Kennell shared four of Wellersburg's eight hits.

Corriganville surprised by handing the Hyndman Firemen a 4-2 setback at Hyndman. Lloyd Kline sparked the winners' attack with a double and two singles while Bobby Miller had a triple and a single for the Firemen.

Narrows Park took Potomac Valley's Cubs into camp at the Park by the score of 6-3. The winners were outhit, 8 to 5, Broadwater and Sherman accounting for four of the blows while B. Horn tripled and Ken Troutman got a double for the Park.

The Telephone Workers downed the Corner Merchants at Taylor Field, 8-2. Diamond paced the winners with a double and two singles while Nesbit and Deckel each hit safely twice for the Merchants.

Bedford Road committed ten fielding miscues in losing to Ellerslie at Bedford Road, 9-2. Moose and Clites got four hits each for Ellerslie while Kline led Bedford Road with a pair of safeties. Scores:

Amvets To Play 'Coney Today, Fort Cumberland Post Quits Tournament

Wet grounds yesterday caused postponement of games in the Maryland Semi - Pro Baseball Tournament at Memorial Park, Westernport, and an effort will be made to stage the Amvets-Lonaconing game there today at 5:15 p. m.

It marked the third time that rain caused postponement of tournament games.

Fort Cumberland Post, American Legion, withdrew from the tourney last night, leaving Westvaco, the Amvets and Lonaconing to battle it out for the title. The Cumberland Legion was scheduled to play Westvaco yesterday.

Manager Norman Gerdeman of the Amvets last night announced that the Westvaco-Amvets Bi-State League game scheduled at Community Park for Saturday has been postponed on account of a carnival occupying the local park.

District Title At Stake Today In Legion Game

Farrady And Love Post Teams Play At 'Coney

It's Lonaconing versus Frostburg today when the junior baseball teams of James P. Love Post do battle with Farrady Post for the championship of the Mountain District American Legion League at Athletic Park, Lonaconing, at 5:30 p. m.

Frostburg, managed by Paul Stewart, won eastern division honors in the circuit on Monday by defeating Fort Cumberland Post here by the score of 5-3 to break a deadlock for first place. Frostburg won the division title with a record of eight wins and three losses. Other teams competing were Midland, Grantsville and Cumberland.

Lonaconing, piloted by Harry Sallada, captured western division honors by winning ten consecutive games from Westernport, Kitzmiller and Oakland.

Bobby Lee, winner of six consecutive league games, including two no-hitters, will likely get the pitching assignment for 'Coney in today's contest while Eberly or Jenkins will be on the firing line for the Mountain City nine.

Today's winner will gain the right to play Hagerstown for western Maryland honors in a best-of-three-games series opening either Friday or Saturday. A doubleheader will open the series at 1:30 p. m., and the games will be staged on the field of the team winning today's game.

Wellersburg Beats Allegany Grove, 5-0

Corriganville Spills Hyndman Firemen, 4-2

Frank Toler tossed a five-hitter yesterday as Wellersburg's pacesetters defeated Allegany Grove by the score of 5-0 in a County Softball League game at Allegany Grove.

Petenbrink and Kennell shared four of Wellersburg's eight hits.

Corriganville surprised by handing the Hyndman Firemen a 4-2 setback at Hyndman. Lloyd Kline sparked the winners' attack with a double and two singles while Bobby Miller had a triple and a single for the Firemen.

Narrows Park took Potomac Valley's Cubs into camp at the Park by the score of 6-3. The winners were outhit, 8 to 5, Broadwater and Sherman accounting for four of the blows while B. Horn tripled and Ken Troutman got a double for the Park.

The Telephone Workers downed the Corner Merchants at Taylor Field, 8-2. Diamond paced the winners with a double and two singles while Nesbit and Deckel each hit safely twice for the Merchants.

Bedford Road committed ten fielding miscues in losing to Ellerslie at Bedford Road, 9-2. Moose and Clites got four hits each for Ellerslie while Kline led Bedford Road with a pair of safeties. Scores:

Reds Overpower Boston's Braves For 9-6 Victory

Cincinnati Batsmen Clout Three Homers

CINCINNATI, O., July 20 (INS)—Cincinnati's Reds, losers in six of their last seven home games, overpowered the league-leading Boston Braves 9 to 6 today in a game marked by five home runs.

The homers were helped along by a strong wind.

Poling circuit blows for the locals were Ted Kluszewski, Johnny Wyrostek and Danny Litwhiler. Tommy Holmes and Jeff Heath connected for the Braves.

Bill Voiselle was the losing pitcher, being knocked out in the sixth. Herman Wehmeier was the winner.

Amvets To Play 'Coney Today, Fort Cumberland Post Quits Tournament

Wet grounds yesterday caused postponement of games in the Maryland Semi - Pro Baseball Tournament at Memorial Park, Westernport, and an effort will be made to stage the Amvets-Lonaconing game there today at 5:15 p. m.

It marked the third time that rain caused postponement of tournament games.

Fort Cumberland Post, American Legion, withdrew from the tourney last night, leaving Westvaco, the Amvets and Lonaconing to battle it out for the title. The Cumberland Legion was scheduled to play Westvaco yesterday.

Manager Norman Gerdeman of the Amvets last night announced that the Westvaco-Amvets Bi-State League game scheduled at Community Park for Saturday has been postponed on account of a carnival occupying the local park.

Kramer Notches Ninth Straight Win For Boston

Bosox Sweep Series With St. Louis, 8-3

BOSTON, July 20 (INS)—Boston's Jack Kramer won his ninth straight game today as the Red Sox swept a four-game series with the St. Louis Browns 8 to 3. The win advanced the Sox to within one game of the third-place New York Yankees.

Kramer, one of several Boston winter purchases from the Brownies, racked up his 11th win against three setbacks. All runs scored against him came on Les Moss's two-run homer in the second and Don Lund's four-master in the ninth. Box:

TIGERS EDGE YANKS

NEW YORK, July 20 (INS)—Hoot Evers drove home George Kell with a ninth-inning run today to give Detroit a 2 to 1 victory over the New York Yankees. Pitcher Virgil Trucks racked up his fourth straight win and eighth of the year.

Allie Reynolds, pitching his first complete game in over a month, had gone in front when the Yanks scored a single run in the fifth. However, Outfielder Pat Mullin banged his 13th home run in the seventh to tie the count.

The victory gave Detroit the three-game series two to one and dropped the Champion Yankees to within one game of the fourth place Boston Red Sox. Box:

Joe Louis To Fight Lesnevich In September, Fleischer Says

New York Gets Bout, Ring Editor Reports

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, July 20 (AP)—Joe Louis will come out of retirement to defend his heavyweight title against light heavyweight king Gus Lesnevich at the Yankee Stadium, Sept. 22, according to a copyright article by Editor Nat Fleischer in the September issue of Ring Magazine.

Fleischer said Louis indicated that he is weakening in his retirement stand and is willing to come back for just one more fight. First Lesnevich must win decisively over Freddie Mills at London July 26.

Says He Can Beat Gus

"I can't go on from one round of golf to another," Louis is quoted as telling Fleischer, "I have to look forward to something more exciting. Maybe I should meet Lesnevich. I can beat him. I still will be able to retire unbeaten like Gene Tunney."

Lesnevich now is in London, getting ready for his July 26 bout with Mills, a fight he must win to keep alive any chances of a September date with Louis.

Louis will be in Mike Jacobs' office Friday, ostensibly to collect his share of the movie receipts from the second Walcott fight. This is estimated at "about $100,000."

Sol Strauss, acting promoter of the Twentieth Century Sporting Club, insists no pressure is being brought on Louis to reconsider his retirement.

Asked if he had any indication from Louis that he was wavering in his stand, Strauss said, "I can only say that I think there is a probability that he'll fight again."

Stadium Is Reserved

Strauss does have Sept. 22 at the Yankee Stadium reserved for a heavyweight fight, which he says he hopes will be Lesnevich-Louis.

"Joe Velia (Lesnevich's manager) promised me he'd fight Louis in September," said Strauss who has been in communication with the Cliffside Park, N. J. fight manager since his arrival in London.

"In fact," said Strauss, "if the Louis-Walcott fight had been held as scheduled and not rained out, Lesnevich would not have gone to London for the Mills fight. Gus was to sit next to me in the working press section. In fact, they still haven't signed for the Lesnevich-Mills fight, although they are going to have the fight."

"We don't need to sign Louis anyhow," said Strauss, "he still is under exclusive contract with us, no matter what you may have heard. Rather, he's under contract with Mike Jacobs. That runs until 1951.

May Draw Million Gate

"If Joe wants to fight, we'll be only too glad to make all the arrangements. I don't think you will get any definite word from him before the Lesnevich-Mills bout."

"I think a Louis-Lesnevich fight would draw over a million dollars. You know how much 40 per cent of a million dollars is. That's pretty hard to turn down."

Dykes May Pilot Phils

PHILADELPHIA, July 20 (INS)—Jimmy Dykes, manager of the Hollywood Stars, was reported tonight to be one of three men being considered as a successor to Ben Chapman to pilot the Phillies.

The report, which the National League club would not comment on, named the two other candidates as Cardinal outfielder Terry Moore and Ray Blades, an ex-Cardinal who now is a coach for the Brooklyn Dodgers.

A Regular Thing

CLEVELAND (AP) — When Bob Lemon, outfielder-turned-pitcher of the Cleveland Indians, notched a no-hit game earlier this season, it was the third straight season in which an Indian hurler had achieved that feat. Bob Feller started it in 1946 with an opening day blanking of the New York Yankees. Don Black topped his comeback with a job last season over the A's, his old teammates, Lemon set back the Detroit Tigers without a safe blow.

LOU YOUNG, FORMER PENN COACH, DIES

PHILADELPHIA, July 20 (AP) — Louis Alonzo (Lou) Young, coach of the University of Pennsylvania's 1925 Rose Bowl team, died yesterday after a brief illness.

Young, whose Penn football teams from 1923 to 1929 won 49 games, lost 15 and tied two, succumbed to a cerebral hemorrhage. His 1924 team, undefeated but tied once, lost to California 14 to 0 in the Rose Bowl.

Young entered Penn in 1910 and made the varsity football team as an end in 1911. Later he became a halfback and captained the 1913 eleven.

He became the Penn coach in 1923.

LOU YOUNG, FORMER PENN COACH, DIES

PHILADELPHIA, July 20 (AP) — Louis Alonzo (Lou) Young, coach of the University of Pennsylvania's 1925 Rose Bowl team, died yesterday after a brief illness.

Young, whose Penn football teams from 1923 to 1929 won 49 games, lost 15 and tied two, succumbed to a cerebral hemorrhage. His 1924 team, undefeated but tied once, lost to California 14 to 0 in the Rose Bowl.

Young entered Penn in 1910 and made the varsity football team as an end in 1911. Later he became a halfback and captained the 1913 eleven.

He became the Penn coach in 1923.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, July 20—(INS)—Peggy Cummins is out of 20th Century-Fox —a rather said finale to the loud tom-tom beating when she was brought to Hollywood from England for "Forever Amber."

Peggy Cummins

Peggy did not appear in the released "Amber," as you know. The picture was remade with Linda Darnell. And after that heartbreak, Peggy's luck seemed to go sour. In spite of a really excellent performance in "Moss Rose," she never quite got going again as a hot attraction.

Far from being out in the cold, however, the little Cummins girl goes to England to make "The Case Of Lady Brooke" for Alexander Korda and Gregory Ratoff.

Myrna Loy is the star, but Ratoff, who has always believed in Peggy, says her role is a top one.

Another contract expected to chill is Bette Davis with Warner Brothers. This, it is said, will be by mutual consent—in fact, very mutual on both sides.

Davis wants to make no more than one production a year. She wants to be free to select her scripts and sign with the companies who have just the right material for her.

But before she wants anything else, she wants a good long rest which she will take at Butternut Farm.

Here comes another name change for a leading lady—yet, Candy Toxton, Cover Girl beauty, formerly with MGM, gets into the lead opposite Humphrey Bogart in "Knock On Any Door" under the new title of Susan Perry.

When Candy signed a long term contract with Columbia they told her they did not like her name. After a meeting of the minds, it was decided that she should sign up as Susan Perry. So, if you hear of George Raft dating a gal by that name, it is just his old flame, Candy.

"Knock On Any Door" is Bogart's first independent for Columbia so this picture kicks off with a clean slate for everybody.

There is something maddening about the timing of the Academy Awards. Some years are so lean in outstanding performances it is hard to vote a "best."

But 1948 lines up as a heart-breaker. From the women alone—there are already so many brilliant performances about to break, they might all be winners in an ordinary year.

There is Jane Wyman's poignantly brilliant deaf-mute in "Johnny Belinda." There is Barbara Stanwyck's hair-raising performance of sheer terror in "Sorry, Wrong Number." Olivia De Havilland in "The Snake Pit" is still another blue ribbon portrayal. So is Ingrid Bergman in "Joan Of Arc"—say those who have seen her. We also have Irene Dunne's beautiful, warm, unforgettable playing in "I Remember Mama."

It is all enough to drive a top star to acting serials on television.

When Bud Abbott and Lou Costello make their first independent for William and Edward Nassour, they will be a brand new Bud and Lou.

When I asked, "how do you do that?" the answer was, "none of the usual Abbott and Costello gags will be used." That I gotta see.

Anyway, the Messrs. Nasour tell me their production will be strictly a comedy thriller with a jungle background. They are hoping to clear the title, "Don't Bring 'Em Back Alive," which may take a bit of doing because of Frank Buck's long association with "Bring 'Em Back Alive."

Hollywood in shorts: Corinne Calvay and John Bromfield lunching, and so in love, at the Ojai Valley Inn. He is the boy who looks a little like Burt Lancaster.

Ayn Rand refusing to talk an advance movie sale about her new novel. The "Fountainhead" author says it is only half completed and she doesn't know which company can give it the best production values—particularly in casting. It is a big industrial thriller with an inventor hero.

Frank Fay flew in and made a bee-line for Charley Foy's. He remains (in town—not at Foy's) for seven weeks before "Harvey" opens in Boston in September.

Milton Berle and Rhonda Fleming a newsome under the stars at the Hollywood Bowl.

Cecil De Mille bought himself a huge lake front lot on Emerald Bay at Lake Tahoe. That eight-pound trout caught by his manager, Russell Treacy, might have had something to do with closing the "deal" in a hurry.

That's all today.

In most American pioneer towns of 70 or 80 years ago, the community's only bath tub was located in the barber shop, and whenever a citizen wished to take a bath, he had to rent it. Even with such a tub scarcity as this, there were no records of anyone having been killed in a rush for these barber shop accessories.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, July 20—(INS)—Peggy Cummins is out of 20th Century-Fox —a rather said finale to the loud tom-tom beating when she was brought to Hollywood from England for "Forever Amber."

Peggy Cummins

Peggy did not appear in the released "Amber," as you know. The picture was remade with Linda Darnell. And after that heartbreak, Peggy's luck seemed to go sour. In spite of a really excellent performance in "Moss Rose," she never quite got going again as a hot attraction.

Far from being out in the cold, however, the little Cummins girl goes to England to make "The Case Of Lady Brooke" for Alexander Korda and Gregory Ratoff.

Myrna Loy is the star, but Ratoff, who has always believed in Peggy, says her role is a top one.

Another contract expected to chill is Bette Davis with Warner Brothers. This, it is said, will be by mutual consent—in fact, very mutual on both sides.

Davis wants to make no more than one production a year. She wants to be free to select her scripts and sign with the companies who have just the right material for her.

But before she wants anything else, she wants a good long rest which she will take at Butternut Farm.

Here comes another name change for a leading lady—yet, Candy Toxton, Cover Girl beauty, formerly with MGM, gets into the lead opposite Humphrey Bogart in "Knock On Any Door" under the new title of Susan Perry.

When Candy signed a long term contract with Columbia they told her they did not like her name. After a meeting of the minds, it was decided that she should sign up as Susan Perry. So, if you hear of George Raft dating a gal by that name, it is just his old flame, Candy.

"Knock On Any Door" is Bogart's first independent for Columbia so this picture kicks off with a clean slate for everybody.

There is something maddening about the timing of the Academy Awards. Some years are so lean in outstanding performances it is hard to vote a "best."

But 1948 lines up as a heart-breaker. From the women alone—there are already so many brilliant performances about to break, they might all be winners in an ordinary year.

There is Jane Wyman's poignantly brilliant deaf-mute in "Johnny Belinda." There is Barbara Stanwyck's hair-raising performance of sheer terror in "Sorry, Wrong Number." Olivia De Havilland in "The Snake Pit" is still another blue ribbon portrayal. So is Ingrid Bergman in "Joan Of Arc"—say those who have seen her. We also have Irene Dunne's beautiful, warm, unforgettable playing in "I Remember Mama."

It is all enough to drive a top star to acting serials on television.

When Bud Abbott and Lou Costello make their first independent for William and Edward Nassour, they will be a brand new Bud and Lou.

When I asked, "how do you do that?" the answer was, "none of the usual Abbott and Costello gags will be used." That I gotta see.

Anyway, the Messrs. Nasour tell me their production will be strictly a comedy thriller with a jungle background. They are hoping to clear the title, "Don't Bring 'Em Back Alive," which may take a bit of doing because of Frank Buck's long association with "Bring 'Em Back Alive."

Hollywood in shorts: Corinne Calvay and John Bromfield lunching, and so in love, at the Ojai Valley Inn. He is the boy who looks a little like Burt Lancaster.

Ayn Rand refusing to talk an advance movie sale about her new novel. The "Fountainhead" author says it is only half completed and she doesn't know which company can give it the best production values—particularly in casting. It is a big industrial thriller with an inventor hero.

Frank Fay flew in and made a bee-line for Charley Foy's. He remains (in town—not at Foy's) for seven weeks before "Harvey" opens in Boston in September.

Milton Berle and Rhonda Fleming a newsome under the stars at the Hollywood Bowl.

Cecil De Mille bought himself a huge lake front lot on Emerald Bay at Lake Tahoe. That eight-pound trout caught by his manager, Russell Treacy, might have had something to do with closing the "deal" in a hurry.

That's all today.

In most American pioneer towns of 70 or 80 years ago, the community's only bath tub was located in the barber shop, and whenever a citizen wished to take a bath, he had to rent it. Even with such a sub scarcity as this, there were no records of anyone having been killed in a rush for these barber shop accessories.

Burza Hanlin Named Officer At Westernport

Former Chief Turned In Resignation June 1

WESTERNPORT—Burza Hanlin, who tendered his resignation June 1 as chief of police of Westernport, was appointed a junior officer of the town on six months probation at a salary of $175 per month at the regular meeting of Mayor William C. Ravenscroft and City Commissioners Monday night in a session which lasted over three hours and a half.

The motion that Hanlin's application be accepted was made by Dr. Lewis F. Engle and seconded by John Matthews. Police Commissioner Clarence McBee and George Kight opposed the former officer's appointment and Mayor Ravenscroft cast the deciding vote.

Before Hanlin's appointment was made last night the resignation of William Stultz, World War II veteran, who succeeded Hanlin as an officer, was accepted, effective August 1. Stultz stated he was going to enter Virginia Polytechnic Institute and would be a member of the football squad.

Mrs. Katherine G. Dailey, Main Street, was appointed city clerk, effective July 1, succeeding her brother, J. Carr Getty, who resigned to take a clerical position with McIntyre's Bakery.

Mrs. Dailey is a graduate of Bruce High School and the Nursing School of Mercy Hospital, Baltimore. She was employed at the King's County Hospital, New York, doing general duty for seven years. She is the widow of the late Michael Dailey, who was manager of the Piedmont office of the Potomac Edison Company at the time of his death. Delphia C. McGee also made an application for the position of city clerk.

Getty had been city clerk since 1941 but from 1942-1945 he served with the Army and saw service in the European Theater of Operations.

Commissioner Engle was sworn in by Magistrate John Laughlin to fill the unexpired term of Commissioner William C. Ravenscroft. The latter was appointed at a special meeting July 16 to serve the unexpired term as mayor of the late Edward S. Moran.

A resolution was adopted extending their condolences to Mrs. Moran and family in the loss of their husband and father. The town clerk was directed to send the family a copy of this resolution.

A communication was received from the family of the late Edward S. Moran thanking them for their kind expression of sympathy.

Mayor Ravenscroft at the first meeting of the council since his appointment as mayor made some changes in the duties of the council. He named Dr. Lewis F. Engle police commissioner and former Police Commissioner Clarence McBee in charge of streets and sanitation. Matthews will continue to serve as commissioner of water and lights.

It was ordered that the police car be parked down town near the city building and not be used by the police for cruising in the daytime and the key left with the city clerk. Police will be permitted to patrol the town at night in the police car.

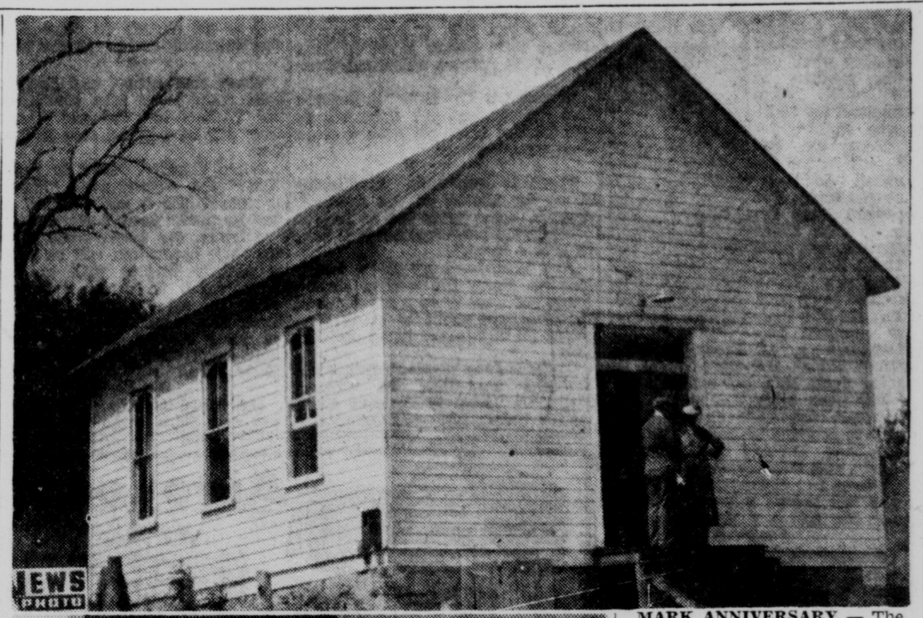
The purchase of six stop signs was authorized.

Commissioner Engle called attention that the flood wall along the Potomac River near First Street needs repair and it was agreed work should begin when the river is low enough.

Mrs. Lavenia Coffman asked that the street in front of her home on Main Street be fixed and was told it would be investigated.

Charles Ross appeared relative to the crossing of the Western Maryland Railway Company at the upper end of Main Street which cars have to use to get to that portion on Front Street. The crossing is about nine feet wide. He suggested that one about 30 feet wide be placed there so that cars could cross in an angle. He was informed the matter would be taken up with the railroad company.

Charles Howard, Greene Street, stated that an open sewer of Mrs. Susan Clark made it soggy in front of his place.



MARK ANNIVERSARY — The congregation of Woodlawn Methodist Church (above) marked the 50th anniversary of the laying of the cornerstone Sunday with five members who attended the original ceremony present at the anniversary celebration. They are Anthony Kaefer, National; Mrs. Clarabelle Sulser, Woodland; Mrs. Rose Cunningham, Klondike; Mrs. Alice McGee, Midland, and Mrs. Hester Stevenson Robinson, Midland. In the picture at the left, Rev. Raymond M. Crowe, present pastor, is seen with the three oldest members of the congregation. They are Mrs. Sulser, (standing in front), and (left to right) Miss Mae House, Sunday School superintendent, and Miss Jessie House.

Body Of Piedmont Soldier Returned

PIEDMONT, W. Va.—The body of Pfc. Charles Bond Harshbarger, Piedmont, who was killed in action February 17, 1944, while serving with the United States Army in Italy, will be returned here Saturday for reburial.

A son of Mrs. Louise Pence Harshbarger and the late Charles Barney Harshbarger, Pfc. Harshbarger was inducted into the United States Army March 16, 1943, and after receiving basic training at Camp Butner, N. C., went overseas January 28, 1944.

He was a graduate of Piedmont High School and was employed by the Piedmont Ice Company before entering the Army.

Besides his mother he is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Delores Butler and Mrs. Elizabeth Saville, and one brother, Robert Harshbarger, all of Piedmont.

WSCS Picnic Today

PIEDMONT, W. Va. — A picnic outing of the WSCS of Trinity Methodist Church will be held tomorrow at the cottage of Dr. and Mrs. Raymond W. Reeves on Deep Creek Lake.

The bus will leave the church at 2 p. m.

A vesper service will be held at sunset. Miss Toni Dayton will give a vocal solo and Mrs. Ann Grindle a reading.

Ravenscroft and City Commissioners Monday night in a session which lasted over three hours and a half.

The motion that Hanlin's application be accepted was made by Dr. Lewis F. Engle and seconded by John Matthews. Police Commissioner Clarence McBee and George Kight opposed the former officer's appointment and Mayor Ravenscroft cast the deciding vote.

Before Hanlin's appointment was made last night the resignation of William Stultz, World War II veteran, who succeeded Hanlin as an officer, was accepted, effective August 1. Stultz stated he was going to enter Virginia Polytechnic Institute and would be a member of the football squad.

Mrs. Katherine G. Dailey, Main Street, was appointed city clerk, effective July 1, succeeding her brother, J. Carr Getty, who resigned to take a clerical position with McIntyre's Bakery.

Mrs. Dailey is a graduate of Bruce High School and the Nursing School of Mercy Hospital, Baltimore. She was employed at the King's County Hospital, New York, doing general duty for seven years. She is the widow of the late Michael Dailey, who was manager of the Piedmont office of the Potomac Edison Company at the time of his death. Delphia C. McGee also made an application for the position of city clerk.

Getty had been city clerk since 1941 but from 1942-1945 he served with the Army and saw service in the European Theater of Operations.

Commissioner Engle was sworn in by Magistrate John Laughlin to fill the unexpired term of Commissioner William C. Ravenscroft. The latter was appointed at a special meeting July 16 to serve the unexpired term as mayor of the late Edward S. Moran.

A resolution was adopted extending their condolences to Mrs. Moran and family in the loss of their husband and father. The town clerk was directed to send the family a copy of this resolution.

A communication was received from the family of the late Edward S. Moran thanking them for their kind expression of sympathy.

Mayor Ravenscroft at the first meeting of the council since his appointment as mayor made some changes in the duties of the council. He named Dr. Lewis F. Engle police commissioner and former Police Commissioner Clarence McBee in charge of streets and sanitation. Matthews will continue to serve as commissioner of water and lights.

It was ordered that the police car be parked down town near the city building and not be used by the police for cruising in the daytime and the key left with the city clerk. Police will be permitted to patrol the town at night in the police car.

The purchase of six stop signs was authorized.

Commissioner Engle called attention that the flood wall along the Potomac River near First Street needs repair and it was agreed work should begin when the river is low enough.

Mrs. Lavenia Coffman asked that the street in front of her home on Main Street be fixed and was told it would be investigated.

Charles Ross appeared relative to the crossing of the Western Maryland Railway Company at the upper end of Main Street which cars have to use to get to that portion on Front Street. The crossing is about nine feet wide. He suggested that one about 30 feet wide be placed there so that cars could cross in an angle. He was informed the matter would be taken up with the railroad company.

Charles Howard, Greene Street, stated that an open sewer of Mrs. Susan Clark made it soggy in front of his place.

MARK ANNIVERSARY — The congregation of Woodlawn Methodist Church (above) marked the 50th anniversary of the laying of the cornerstone Sunday with five members who attended the original ceremony present at the anniversary celebration. They are Anthony Kaefer, National; Mrs. Clarabelle Sulser, Woodland; Mrs. Rose Cunningham, Klondike; Mrs. Alice McGee, Midland, and Mrs. Hester Stevenson Robinson, Midland. In the picture at the left, Rev. Raymond M. Crowe, present pastor, is seen with the three oldest members of the congregation. They are Mrs. Sulser, (standing in front), and (left to right) Miss Mae House, Sunday School superintendent, and Miss Jessie House.

Body Of Piedmont Soldier Returned

PIEDMONT, W. Va.—The body of Pfc. Charles Bond Harshbarger, Piedmont, who was killed in action February 17, 1944, while serving with the United States Army in Italy, will be returned here Saturday for reburial.

A son of Mrs. Louise Pen[illegible] Harshbarger and the late Charles Barney Harshbarger, Pfc. Harshbarger was inducted into the United States Army March 16, 1943, and after receiving basic training at Camp Butner, N. C., went overseas January 28, 1944.

He was a graduate of Piedmont High School and was employed by the Piedmont Ice Company before entering the Army.

Besides his mother he is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Delores Butler and Mrs. Elizabeth Saville, and one brother, Robert Harshbarger, all of Piedmont.

WSCS Picnic Today

PIEDMONT, W. Va. — A picnic outing of the WSCS of Trinity Methodist Church will be held tomorrow at the cottage of Dr. and Mrs. Raymond W. Reeves on Deep Creek Lake.

The bus will leave the church at 2 p. m.

A vesper service will be held at sunset. Miss Toni Dayton will give a vocal solo and Mrs. Ann Grindle a reading.

Teen-Age Facilities To Be Discussed

FROSTBURG—At the July meeting of Farrady Unit No. 24, American Legion Auxiliary, held last week, a committee consisting of Mesdames Alvenia Cole, Marie Snyder, Helen Blocher, Annie Laber and Martha McNeill was named to confer with the Mayor and City Commissioners regarding facilities for teen-age activities.

The unit elected five members as delegates to the state convention to be held in Ocean City in September, Mesdames Leah Yates, Martha McNeill, Helen Blocher, Clara Walbert and Blanch Festerman. Alternates are Pearl Eberly, Ruth Snyder, Anna Shannon, Cornelia Lancaster, and Marie Snyder.

Mrs. Cole, Mountain District vice-president, is a delegate at large and Mrs. Freda Spiker, president, will be its representative.

Mrs. McNeill, chairman, and Mesdames Annie Laber, Helen Blocher, Cornelia Lancaster and Earl Miller were named a nominating committee to report at the August meeting.

'On Trial' Becomes Wednesday Night Show For Summer

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, July 20—On Trial, the ABC weekly forum formerly Sundays, is now becoming a Wednesday night broadcast. It's new time is 10:30.

In shifting, the program plans to devote the next 16 weeks to a discussion of the major planks of the party platforms. For that purpose it plans to run Paul H. Porter, former OPA head, and John Harlan Amen, associate counsel for the U. S. at the Nuremburg trials, as participants.

This program is conducted something on the order of a court room action, with attorneys, judge and everything. It is the question being discussed that goes "On Trial."

Another move affects County Fair, a Saturday matinee-r, whose sponsor is putting in at 9 on CBS in place of Your Song and Mine for the summer. Win Elliott runs this one, a combination, quiz, stunt and giveaway.

Jimmy Melton's program on CBS at 9:30 is to originate from Chicago's civic opera house, when Soprano Nancy Carr is to be guest.

Dr. Christian, after visit to his home land of Denmark, is due to pick up the thread of his broadcasting dramas on CBS at 8:30. The doctor, you know, is played by Jean Hersholt. Title of this particular play is given as "Big Brother," unless there be a change meanwhile.

Increased Efficiency

Where there is but one bathroom for the whole family, partitions or curtains can be installed around the different bathroom units to increase efficiency. Thus, one child may take a bath and another dress while father shaves, each in complete privacy—a big convenience during the family's morning traffic rush.

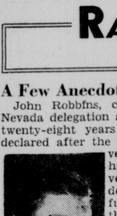
Radio in Review

By JOHN CROSBY

A Few Anecdotes



John Crosby

John Robbins, chairman of the Nevada delegation and a veteran of twenty-eight years of conventions, declared after the Democratic convention that radio had spoiled conventions for the delegate. "Confusion is worse than it used to be. It's difficult for the delegate in his seat to know what's happening on the rostrum only a few feet away."

After viewing the two conventions, one by television and the other personally, I can understand his point. The amount of confusion, even among reporters who gallop around the hall, is great. The delegate sitting in his seat in the hall is far less well informed than the man at home with his radio even though he is the one presumably making the decisions. Every one else is kept in constant touch with news pertaining to his vote—news from the caucuses, news from the White House, news from the smoke-filled rooms; he sits there in the hot, foul air, cut off from all communication except the rolling and meaningless phrases of the speaker, wondering what Sam Rayburn is whispering to Jim Farley and, if he is far back in the hall, even wondering who they are.

• — • — •

The speed of transmission of television and radio are one of the wonders of the modern world but neither the one nor the other has increased the speed of thought to any degree; they have just increased the speed of error. James Roosevelt, for example, left a television interview, walked ten feet from the interview room to a television receiver where he saw and heard Leon Henderson commenting on what he had just said. "Already I'm being misquoted," he muttered.

• — • — •

"Life" paid $150,000 to N.B.C. (exclusive of costs) for the combined "Life-N.B.C. television broadcast" one of the more expensive promotion stunts of our time. Dumont promptly teamed up with "Newsweek." The effect of this brief, unnatural courtship was to make television bugs of a good many men whose lives have been spent in periodicals. Bulking, gangling, unbalding Andrew Heiskell, publisher of "Life" remained glued to "Life"-N.B.C.'s Room 22 throughout both conventions, spouting ideas, many of them "Life"-flavored. "Life" reporters and N.B.C. commentators eyed each other with coolness at first, grew into bosom buddies toward the end. Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce, wife of "Life" editor-in-chief, Henry Luce, materialized ethereally in the television pool room, asked many questions about all the gadgets, including one which proved a severe strain on the composure of all within earshot: "But who's paying for all this?"

• — • — •

President Truman got a little tired of sitting in Senator J. Howard McGrath's office at Convention Hall waiting for his entrance and drifted downstairs to a loading platform overlooking the main line of the Pennsylvania Railroad. This had been one spot where television men retreated occasionally from the stifling hall for a breath of fresh air. They were immediately chased off the platform, muttering, by Secret Service men. The President had just taken a seat when two shots rang out. Secret Service men sprang to the President's protection, revolvers in hand. Turned out to be a couple of torpedoes placed on the track by railroad men to warn an oncoming freight that workmen were repairing the track.

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Market Lands On Its Feet After Three Days Of Tumbling Prices

NEW YORK, July 20 (AP)—The stock market landed on its feet today after three days of tumbling prices.

Turnover of 1,460,000 shares was considerably under yesterday's 2,560,000 but nevertheless a nice bit of business for the financial district.

Superior Oil rebounded six points on a single sale after a 20-point plunge Monday.

Gains running to an extreme of five points were posted for Skelly Oil 141, Richfield Oil 42¼, Standard Oil (NJ) 81⅛, United States Steel 78½, Republic Steel 28⅜, General Motors 60⅛, Boeing Aircraft 24⅝, Curtiss-Wright 11⅞, Southern Railway 45⅞, Santa Fe 110¼, General Electric 39⅜, and American Woolen 52⅝.

The advance in Curtiss-Wright to a new 1948 peak represented a continuation of a one-man rally which persisted when the balance of the market was busy falling on its face from Thursday to Monday.

The aircraft stock got its start following news of a couple of $1 dividends. Demand was given another fillip with disclosure that $7,000,000 of United States Air Force contracts have been placed with the Wright Aeronautical Corporation, the company's engine-building division.

Selected railroad loans advanced in an otherwise irregular bond market.

United States government bonds advanced small fractions in over-the-counter dealings.

Maine Central bonds were inactive as a committee inquired into the prospects of resuming preferred dividends or reorganization. No dividends have been paid on the 30,000 shares of five per cent preferred and the current accrual is $82.50.

The volume was $4,781,000, a drop from yesterday's $5,755,000.

Among the stronger domestic loans were Central Railroad of New Jersey 5s, which advanced 2½ to 71, and Katy adjustment 5s, which went ahead a similar figure to 74½.

Other gainers of a point or more included Missouri Pacific 5s of 1977, New Haven income 4½s, Lehigh Valley stamped 4½s and Chicago and Northwestern 4½s.

Unused Churches Worry Britain

LONDON (AP)—The great number of churches standing dusty and unused all over England is "scandalous," says the Bishop of Norwich, Dr. P. M. Herbert.

At his instigation the assembly of the Church of England—comprising laity as well as church officials—has established an investigating committee to see what can be done with them.

"The church is coming into disrepute because this problem is not being tackled," the bishop told the assembly. "At present there is no power by which a consecrated building can be sold or leased. Neither are there any satisfactory powers with regard to deconsecration of the site."

Bishop Herbert made no estimate of the total number of unused churches but cited examples. In his diocese, he said, there were three parish churches within a quarter of a mile of each other in an area with only 250 population. In Norwich itself, there are 36 churches for a population of 60,000.

Free-For-All Tonsil Derby

INDIANA, Pa. (AP)—This western Pennsylvania community had its second annual "tonsil removal day" recently and now nearly half a hundred youngsters are comparing notes on their operations!

The Rotary Club sponsored the plan last year, offering to provide operations for all school children whose parents couldn't afford them. This year 47 youngsters showed up.

A temporary hospital was set up in a school building. A state health nurse directed the clinic, 44 nurses volunteered their services, 10 Red Cross aides pitched in, and seven doctors worked in relays snipping tonsils.

Red Champagne Is Sparkling Red

TASHKENT, Russia (AP)—A new champagne, "Sparkling Red," is to be produced by the Soviet Champagne factory here. Uzbeg champagne has become popular in the USSR in recent years and the local factory has been going night and day. During the last five months more than 20 carloads have been sent to one section of the country and about 50 carloads to another.

'On Trial' Becomes Wednesday Night Show For Summer

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, July 20—On Trial, the ABC weekly forum formerly Sundays, is now becoming a Wednesday night broadcast. It's new time is 10:30.

In shifting, the program plans to devote the next 16 weeks to a discussion of the major planks of the party platforms. For that purpose it plans to use Paul H. Porter, former OPA head, and John Harlan Amen, associate counsel for the U. S. at the Nuremburg trials, as participants.

This program is conducted something on the order of a court room action, with attorneys, judge and everything. It is the question being discussed that goes "On Trial."

Another move affects County Fair, a Saturday matinee-r, whose sponsor is putting in at 9 on CBS in place of Your Song and Mine for the summer. Win Elliott runs this one, a combination, quiz, stunt and give-away.

Jimmy Melton's program on CBS at 9:30 is to originate from Chicago's civic opera house, when Soprano Nancy Carr is to be guest.

Dr. Christian, after visit to his home land of Denmark, is due to pick up the thread of his broadcasting dramas on CBS at 8:30. The doctor, you know, is played by Jean Hersholt. Title of this particular play is given as "Big Brother," unless there be a change meanwhile.

Increased Efficiency

Where there is but one bathroom for the whole family, partitions or curtains can be installed around the different bathroom units to increase efficiency. Thus, one child may take a bath and another dress while father shaves, each in complete privacy—a big convenience during the family's morning traffic rush.

SALLY'S SALLIES

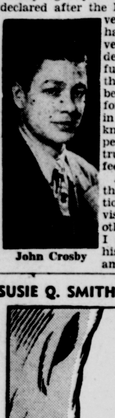
"Don't worry over the new hat, dear. I won't have to get so many facials."

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

A Few Anecdotes

John Robbins, chairman of the Nevada delegation and a veteran of twenty-eight years of conventions, declared after the Democratic convention that radio had spoiled conventions for the delegate. "Confusion is worse than it used to be. It's difficult for the delegate in his seat to know what's happening on the rostrum only a few feet away."



John Crosby

After viewing the two conventions, one by television and the other personally, I can understand his point. The amount of confusion, even among reporters who gallop around the hall, is great. The delegate sitting in his seat in the hall is far less well informed than the man at home with his radio even though he is the one presumably making the decisions. Every one else is kept in constant touch with news pertaining to his vote—news from the caucuses, news from the White House, news from the smoke-filled rooms; he sits there in the hot, foul air, cut off from all communication except the rolling and meaningless phrases of the speaker, wondering what Sam Rayburn is whispering to Jim Farley and, if he is far back in the hall, even wondering who they are.

●—●—●

The speed of transmission of television and radio are one of the wonders of the modern world but neither the one nor the other has increased the speed of thought to any degree; they have just increased the speed of error. James Roosevelt, for example, left a television interview, walked ten feet from the interview room to a television receiver where he saw and heard Leon Henderson commenting on what he had just said. "Already I'm being misquoted," he muttered.

●—●—●

"Life" paid $150,000 to N.B.C. (exclusive of costs) for the combined "Life-N.B.C. television broadcasts, one of the more expensive promotion stunts of our time. Dumont promptly teamed up with "Newsweek." The effect of this brief, unnatural courtship was to make television bugs of a good many men whose lives have been spent in periodicals. Bulking, gangling, unbalding Andrew Heiskell, publisher of "Life," remained glued to "Life"-N.B.C.'s Room 22 throughout both conventions, spouting ideas, many of them "Life"-flavored. "Life" reporters and N.B.C. commentators eyed each other with coolness at first, grew into bosom buddies toward the end. Mrs. Clare Booth Luce, wife of "Life" editor-in-chief, Henry Luce, materialized ethereally in the television pool room, asked many questions about all the gadgets, including one which proved a severe strain on the composure of all within earshot: "But who's paying for all this?"

●—●—●

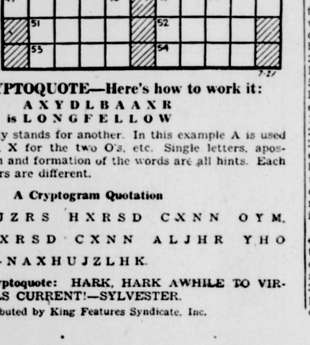
Yesterday's Answer



DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Market Lands On Its Feet After Three Days Of Tumbling Prices

NEW YORK, July 20 (AP)—The stock market landed on its feet today after three days of tumbling prices.

Turnover of 1,460,000 shares was considerably under yesterday's 2,560,000 but nevertheless a nice bit of business for the financial district.

Superior Oil rebounded six points on a single sale after a 20-point plunge Monday.

Gains running to an extreme of five points were posted for Skelly Oil 141, Richfield Oil 42¼, Standard Oil (NJ) 81⅛, United States Steel 78½, Republic Steel 28¾, General Motors 60½, Boeing Aircraft 24⅝, Curtiss-Wright 11⅞, Southern Railway 45⅞, Santa Fe 110¼, General Electric 39⅝, and American Woolen 52⅝.

The advance in Curtiss-Wright to a new 1948 peak represented a continuation of a one-man rally which persisted when the balance of the market was busy falling on its face from Thursday to Monday.

The aircraft stock got its start following news of a couple of $1 dividends. Demand was given another fillip with disclosure that $7,000,000 of United States Air Force contracts have been placed with the Wright Aeronautical Corporation, the company's engine-building division.

Selected railroad loans advanced in an otherwise irregular bond market.

United States government bonds advanced small fractions in over-the-counter dealings.

Maine Central bonds were inactive as a committee inquired into the prospects of resuming preferred dividends or reorganization. No dividends have been paid on the 30,000 shares of five per cent preferred and the current accural is $82.50.

The volume was $4,781,000, a drop from yesterday's $5,755,000.

Among the stronger domestic loans were Central Railroad of New Jersey 5s, which advanced 2½ to 71, and Katy adjustment 5s, which went ahead a similar figure to 74½.

Other gainers of a point or more included Missouri Pacific 5s of 1977, New Haven income 4½s, Lehigh Valley stamped 4½s and Chicago and Northwestern 4½s.

Unused Churches Worry Britain

LONDON (AP)—The great number of churches standing dusty and unused all over England is "scandalous," says the Bishop of Norwich, Dr. P. M. Herbert.

At his instigation the assembly of the Church of England—comprising laity as well as church officials—has established an investigating committee to see what can be done with them.

"The church is coming into disrepute because this problem is not being tackled," the bishop told the assembly. "At present there is no power by which a consecrated building can be sold or leased. Neither are there any satisfactory powers with regard to deconsecration of the site."

Bishop Herbert made no estimate of the total number of unused churches but cited examples. In his diocese, he said, there were three parish churches within a quarter of a mile of each other in an area with only 250 population. In Norwich itself, there are 36 churches for a population of 60,000.

Free-For-All Tonsil Derby

INDIANA, Pa. (AP)—This western Pennsylvania community had its second annual "tonsil removal day" recently and now nearly half a hundred youngsters are comparing notes on their operations!

The Rotary Club sponsored the plan last year, offering to provide operations for all school children whose parents couldn't afford them. This year 47 youngsters showed up.

A temporary hospital was set up in a school building. A state health nurse directed the clinic, 44 nurses volunteered their services, 10 Red Cross aides pitched in, and seven doctors worked in relays snipping tonsils.

Red Champagne Is Sparkling Red

TASHKENT, Russia (AP)—A new champagne, "Sparkling Red," is to be produced by the Soviet Champagne factory here. Uzbeg champagne has become popular in the USSR in recent years and the local factory has been going night and day. During the last five months more than 20 carloads have been sent to one section of the country and about 50 carloads to another.

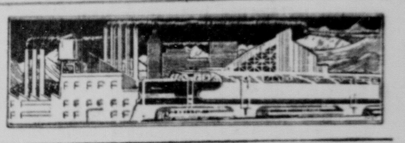
NEWS FROM THE TRI-STATE AREA



Keyser Attorney Recommends City Recreation Board

Cites Interest Shown In Swimming Pool

KEYSER, W. Va.—A letter from James H. Swadley, Jr., city attorney of Keyser, addressed to Mayor John C. Freeland, recommending the formation of a Recreation Board based on interest that is being manifested in the construction of a swimming pool in Keyser, was read by City Clerk A. A. Jordan at the regular council meeting yesterday afternoon.

Upon motion of the councilmen the letter was tabled awaiting action of the co-ordinating committee which met last night and discussed plans for the construction of a municipal swimming pool for Keyser.

Included in the letter was a review of the deposit in the State sinking fund in Charleston in the amount of $18,550.54, which is set aside for the construction of a pool in accordance with the levy election of 1940 and the mandate of the Keyser voters at the levy and bond elections that followed.

The city attorney pointed out in the letter that it is not known at the present time as to the amount of additional funds that will be needed to build the pool but that in all probability such funds would be obtained by incurring bonded indebtedness.

Two Bonding Methods

He outlined the two methods of incurring bonded indebtedness available to West Virginia municipalities: (1) General Obligation Bond financing, and (2) Revenue Bond financing. The former, he stated, is liquidated by a tax levy provided for that purpose, adding that Keyser is now using its maximum allowed levy in liquidating the General Obligation Water Improvement Issue of 1924 and the recent Fire Hall issues. The letter stated further that it will be almost impossible to provide another General Obligation issue for the city until 1951 due to the outstanding issues.

In view of the above, Attorney Swadley stated that the only alternative, at the present time, would be Revenue Bond financing, such an issue being liquidated through the revenues received from the operation of the pool itself. That type of financing, he pointed out, demands a very careful, minute study of the project's operation in order that the city could be assured that the revenues would be sufficient to meet the fixed operating costs as well as liquidate the bond issue.

Realizing the necessary steps to be taken by the city in the pool project and the city's other recreation needs, Attorney Swadley suggested the city give to its residents the unified public recreation program that every municipality needs which is provided, he said, in the West Virginia Code, Annotated, entitled, "Public Recreation and Play Grounds."

Such statute, the attorney said, gives to each West Virginia municipality the authority to provide, establish, maintain and conduct a system of public recreation, including recreation centers, parks, swimming pools, play grounds, and any and all other recreation facilities and activities.

Serve Without Pay

Under such provision, the letter continued, the city may conduct such a system of public recreation and playgrounds through a Department of Recreation or delegate the administration to a Recreation Board created by the municipality which may operate in conjunction with other local bodies. A Recreation Board thus created must consist of not less than five nor more than nine persons, all of whom shall serve without pay.

The article also provides, the attorney added, "That any two or more governing bodies may pointly establish and conduct any such system" and provide by agreement for the apportionment of expenses. Such a system would be financed by tax levy, he stated.

In concluding, Swadley pointed out in the letter that Keyser is not too small a municipality to have such a permanent public recreation program and by utilizing such a system the recreational needs may be provided.

Other business transacted at the regular meeting of the council yesterday included the approval of an ordinance prohibiting vagrancy within the city of Keyser and providing penalties. The ordinance was submitted by Attorney Swadley upon the request of the Police Department of the City of Keyser.

The ordinance provides that it shall be unlawful for any person to loiter on the streets, alleys, or public places of the city without employment while not engaged in the pursuit of some lawful business or profession or for any healthy person to beg on the streets or in a public place within the city limits as a means of support, or for any person to wander about the city after 11 p. m., or for any person to remain idle without visible means of support. Any person violating such provision shall be subject to arrest and shall be fined not less than $10 nor more than $50 and may be, at the discretion of the judge, confined in jail for a term of not less than 10 days nor more than 60 days.

Pigs Forbidden

An ordinance prohibiting residents within the corporate limits of the city from having pigs on their premises and from having chicken pens and chickens within 25 feet of a habitation, was introduced at the meeting of the council. This ordinance was prepared by Attorney Swadley at the request of the council.

E. Wade Thomas, chief of the Keyser Vigilant Reel and Hose Company, appeared before the council requesting that the city defray the expenses of four members of the fire company to a fire school to be held in Morgantown, W. Va., next Monday through Thursday. The approval to pay such expenses, amounting to more than $200, was granted by the Mayor and Council.

Members of the council also approved an increase in the hourly rate of pay for a regular city employe who was drawing less per hour than extra or part-time employes. The raise was from 63 cents per hour to 65 cents per hour.

Building permits approved by the council included the following:

E. A. Warnick to remodel a house at 163 Mozelle Street, remodeling to include an addition of four rooms, 14 by 20 feet, frame construction, at an approximate cost of $2,000.

Dr. Thad T. Huffman was granted permission to erect a two-car garage at 30 North Main Street, to be of concrete block, 20 by 24 feet, at an approximate cost of $800.

E. L. Mason was granted approval to hang an electric metal sign in front of his place of business, 119 D Street.

J. S. Pyles was granted permission to construct a garage at the rear of Lot 29 James Street, of concrete block, 16 by 20 feet, at an approximate cost of $600.

H. S. Davis received permission to install a 2,000 gallon gasoline tank under the sidewalk at his garage, 101 West Street.

Permit For Three Houses

Moorehouse Brothers were granted permission to construct three 5-room houses on C Street, all to be of concrete block, 25 by 30 feet, at an approximate cost of $4,000 each.

Mrs. Finley Hott was given permission to erect a one-stall garage with apartment on the second floor at 48 Front Street. The building is to be of concrete block, 20 by 28 feet, at an approximate cost of $1,500.

A. W. Friend was granted permission to erect a five-room bungalow on Lot No. 4, Kalbaugh Addition, of brick veneer, 28 by 30 feet, at an approximate cost of $9,000.

Mrs. Digman, a native of Preston County, W. Va., was a daughter of the late Thomas and Mary Harrison. She and Rev. Digman moved from here to Bridgeport a number of years ago after residing here over 20 years. Rev. Digman died this past spring. He helped organize the Westernport Church of the Brethren.

Surviving are one son, Edward Digman, Bridgeport; a foster daughter, Mrs. Stella Hanlin, Westernport; four brothers, Joseph R. Harrison, Landover, Md.; O. A. and M. R. Harrison, Westernport, and Crowder Harrison, Bridgeport.

The funeral service will be held at the home tomorrow afternoon.

Spray Kills Bees

MARTINSBURG, W. Va. (AP) — Beekeepers have reported a considerable loss of bees during the past season, believed due largely to lead spray used by orchardists on apple trees.

The beekeepers say the residue of this poisonous lead spray settles on the clover crop which bees visit for pollen.

Dr. Carlton Taylor of West Virginia University's College of Agriculture says he will urge an educational program among orchardists aimed toward correcting the situation.

Farrells Observe Golden Wedding

MT. SAVAGE — Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Farrell celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Sunday with a turkey dinner attended by more than 75 guests.

The tables were decorated with white sweetpeas and yellow asters. Calendulas and a three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom centered the table. Tall white candles with streamers of yellow ribbons completed the decorations.

From 3 p. m. until 7 p. m. more than 200 friends and relatives called.

The celebration began Saturday morning when Father George Larkin, Baltimore, a relative of the family, celebrated a thanksgiving mass. Rev. George Hopkins, Baltimore, also a relative of the Farrells, and Rev. Michael Smyth were in the sanctuary. The mass was followed by a breakfast at the Farrell home, at which the three priests were guests.

Those from out of town who attended the reception Sunday afternoon were Rev. Regis Larkin, Mrs. Ella Pressman, son Harry and daughter Lillian, Frostburg; Mr. and Mrs. John B. Clancy and family, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Clancy, Sr., and daughter Gertrude; Edward Coyle and son, and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Farrell and family, Cumberland.

Miss Mary McGrogan, Connellsville, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Philip McGrogan, Mrs. Stella Bell, Leisenring, Pa.; Mrs. Bernadette Harry and son S. J., Connellsville; Mr. and Mrs. Lewis McKenzie, Akron, O.; William Black, Akron; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Farrell, Jr., Akron, and O. Edgar Fields, Pittsburgh.

Buttons Break Into Print!

A host of prints are brightening the fashion horizon this season. And styling buttons for them can be a real adventure. Prints are the one style where button originales of contrasting color can be safely used. Buttons can repeat the plain color trim; or accent the small bright color note in the actual print, and thus make it more important.

Chic AND Charming

AWNING STRIPES . . . This summer's awning-stripe vogue applies to beach, country and city fashions. For town, a New York designer uses the stripes on the horizontal for the bodice, and in deep V's for the skirt of this spun rayon dress with a softly-tailored look. Shown in green and white with round pearl buttons fastening the bodice in front.

Mary Mae Getz Becomes Bride Of U. S. Fresch, Jr.

PETERSBURG, W. Va.—Grace Lutheran Church, Petersburg, was the scene of the wedding when Miss Mary Mae Getz, R. N., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Getz, became the bride of Urvin S. Fresch, Jr., Rockville, Md., July 15 at 2 p. m.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. S. Kullman, Doe Hill, Va., before an altar decorated with assorted flowers.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in white and carried a bouquet of sweetheart roses and babysbreath. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Dennis L. Coyle, Baltimore, who was dressed in pink and carried a bouquet of roses.

The bridegroom was attended by his brother, William Fresch, Rockville.

The bride's mother wore a corsage of gardenias and the groom's mother a corsage of red roses.

Miss Irene Dahmer, Petersburg, presided at the piano.

The bride is a graduate of Petersburg High School, class of 1943, and of the Church Home and Infirmary, Baltimore, class of 1946. For the past two years she has been employed at Bethesda Suburban Hospital, Bethesda, Md.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Urvin S. Fresch, Sr., Rockville, and is employed in the Navy Engineering Department, Washington.

Following the wedding a reception was given at the home of the bride's parents in honor of the newlyweds, who later left on a honeymoon trip through the northern states and Canada.

Upon their return they will be at home in Rockville.

Those from a distance attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Fresch, Sr., William Fresch and Miss Mary Fresch, Rockville, David H. Whiteley and daughter, Donna Sue, and Mrs. Dennis L. Coyle, Baltimore.

Funeral Held For Library Founder

BERKELEY SPRINGS, W. Va. (AP) — A funeral service was held here yesterday for Mrs. Jessie Castleman Siler, 81-year-old wife of a Berkeley Springs attorney.

She was generally credited with founding the Morgan County Library 30 years ago and had given much of her time to it.

Mrs. Siler died in a hospital at Hagerstown, Md., Sunday of a heart attack after 15 weeks of illness.

She was a native of Clarke County in Virginia and a member of one of its pioneer families. Survivors include a son, J. Hammond Siler, Jr., Richmond.

Theft Reported At Conservation Plant

MOOREFIELD, W. Va.—Cpl. E. L. Roush of the Moorefield Detachment of the West Virginia State Police has reported a breaking and entering at the State Soil Conservation Commission plant near McCauley Saturday night or Sunday.

Paul Fogle, manager of the plant, reported the theft Sunday. Approximately $150 worth of equipment, tools and supplies were stolen. Included were three drums of gasoline, 16 gallons of antifreeze, two large truck batteries, a box of tools and a small sum of money. The theft occurred after 10 o'clock Saturday night.

Authorities are continuing an investigation.

Mollie Marinitsis Starts Sentence

MARTINSBURG, W. Va. (AP) — Mollie Marinitsis at long last has started serving a two-to-20 year sentence on an arson charge in connection with the burning of a house on her father's farm in 1945.

She was convicted more than three years ago but the case was appealed to the West Virginia Supreme Court.

Judge H. M. Calhoun passed sentence when the conviction was affirmed and the defendant was transferred yesterday to the West Virginia Women's Prison at Pence Springs.

Midland Personals

Mrs. Dennis Ellifritz, Frostburg, visited her brother, Rev. Raymond Crowe, at the Methodist parsonage yesterday.

NEWS FROM THE TRI-STATE AREA

Keyser Attorney Recommends City Recreation Board

Cites Interest Shown In Swimming Pool

KEYSER, W. Va.—A letter from James H. Swadley, Jr., city attorney of Keyser, addressed to Mayor John C. Freeland, recommending the formation of a Recreation Board based on interest that is being manifested in the construction of a swimming pool in Keyser, was read by City Clerk A. A. Jordan at the regular council meeting yesterday afternoon.

Upon motion of the councilmen the letter was tabled awaiting action of the co-ordinating committee which met last night and discussed plans for the construction of a municipal swimming pool for Keyser.

Included in the letter was a review of the deposit in the State sinking fund in Charleston in the amount of $18,550.54, which is set aside for the construction of a pool in accordance with the levy election of 1940 and the mandate of the Keyser voters at the levy and bond elections that followed.

The city attorney pointed out in the letter that it is not known at the present time as to the amount of additional funds that will be needed to build the pool but that in all probability such funds would be obtained by incurring bonded indebtedness.

Two Bonding Methods

He outlined the two methods of incurring bonded indebtedness available to West Virginia municipalities: (1) General Obligation Bond financing, and (2) Revenue Bond financing. The former, he stated, is liquidated by a tax levy provided for that purpose, adding that Keyser is now using its maximum allowed levy in liquidating the General Obligation Water Improvement Issue of 1924 and the recent Fire Hall issues. The letter stated further that it will be almost impossible to provide another General Obligation issue for the city until 1951 due to the outstanding issues.

In view of the above, Attorney Swadley stated that the only alternative, at the present time, would be Revenue Bond financing, such an issue being liquidated through the revenues received from the operation of the pool itself. That type of financing, he pointed out, demands a very careful, minute study of the project's operation in order that the city could be assured that the revenues would be sufficient to meet the fixed operating costs as well as liquidate the bond issue.

Realizing the necessary steps to be taken by the city in the pool project and the city's other recreation needs, Attorney Swadley suggested the city give to its residents the unified public recreation program that every municipality needs which is provided, he said, in the West Virginia Code, Annotated, entitled, "Public Recreation and Play Grounds."

Such statute, the attorney said, gives to each West Virginia municipality the authority to provide, establish, maintain and conduct a system of public recreation, including recreation centers, parks, swimming pools, play grounds, and any and all other recreation facilities and activities.

Serve Without Pay

Under such provision, the letter continued, the city may conduct such a system of public recreation and playgrounds through a Department of Recreation or delegate the administration to a Recreation Board created by the municipality which may operate in conjunction with other local bodies. A Recreation Board thus created must consist of not less than five nor more than nine persons, all of whom shall serve without pay.

The article also provides, the attorney added, "That any two or more governing bodies may pointly establish and conduct any such system" and provide by agreement for the apportionment of expenses. Such a system would be financed by tax levy, he stated.

In concluding, Swadley pointed out in the letter that Keyser is not too small a municipality to have such a permanent public recreation program and by utilizing such a system the recreational needs may be provided.

Other business transacted at the regular meeting of the council yesterday included the approval of an ordinance prohibiting vagrancy within the city of Keyser and providing penalties. The ordinance was submitted by Attorney Swadley upon the request of the Police Department of the City of Keyser.

The ordinance provides that it shall be unlawful for any person to loiter on the streets, alleys, or public places of the city without employment while not engaged in the pursuit of some lawful business or profession or for any healthy person to beg on the streets or in a public place within the city limits as a means of support, or for any person to wander about the city after 11 p. m., or for any person to remain idle without visible means of support. Any person violating such provision shall be subject to arrest and shall be fined not less than $10 nor more than $50 and may be, at the discretion of the judge, confined in jail for a term of not less than 10 days nor more than 60 days.

Pigs Forbidden

An ordinance prohibiting residents within the corporate limits of the city from having pigs on their premises and from having chicken pens and chickens within 25 feet of a habitation, was introduced at the meeting of the council. This ordinance was prepared by Attorney Swadley at the request of the council.

E. Wade Thomas, chief of the Keyser Vigilant Reel and Hose Company, appeared before the council requesting that the city defray the expenses of four members of the fire company to a fire school to be held in Morgantown, W. Va., next Monday through Thursday. The approval to pay such expenses, amounting to more than $200, was granted by the Mayor and Council.

Members of the council also approved an increase in the hourly rate of pay for a regular city employe who was drawing less per hour than extra or part-time employes. The raise was from 63 cents per hour to 65 cents per hour.

Building permits approved by the council included the following:

E. A. Warnick to remodel a house at 163 Mozelle Street, remodeling to include an addition of four rooms, 14 by 20 feet, frame construction, at an approximate cost of $2,000.

Dr. Thad T. Huffman was granted permission to erect a two-car garage at 30 North Main Street, to be of concrete block, 20 by 24 feet, at an approximate cost of $800.

E. L. Mason was granted approval to hang an electric metal sign in front of his place of business, 119 D Street.

J. S. Pyles was granted permission to construct a garage at the rear of Lot 29 James Street, of concrete block, 16 by 20 feet, at an approximate cost of $600.

H. S. Davis received permission to install a 2,000 gallon gasoline tank under the sidewalk at his garage, 101 West Street.

Permit For Three Houses

Moorehouse Brothers were granted permission to construct three 5-room houses on C Street, all to be of concrete block, 25 by 30 feet, at an approximate cost of $4,000 each.

Mrs. Finley Hott was given permission to erect a one-stall garage with apartment on the second floor at 48 Front Street. The building is to be of concrete block, 20 by 28 feet, at an approximate cost of $1,500.

A. W. Friend was granted permission to erect a five-room bungalow on Lot No. 4, Kalbaugh Addition, of brick veneer, 28 by 30 feet, at an approximate cost of $9,000.

TRI-STATE DEATHS

MRS. ANDREW MILLER

KEYSER, W. Va. — Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Miller, 61, wife of Andrew James Miller, died suddenly yesterday morning at her home, 304 Newton Street, Keyser.

Born in Grant County, she was the daughter of the late John Henry and Anna Parker Smith.

Survivors in addition to her husband include eight daughters, Mrs. Myrtle Ferrebee, Mt. Storm; Mrs. Nellie Cosner, New Creek Drive; Mrs. Mollie Lewis, Mrs. Edna Hise, Mrs. Carrie Lewis, Miss Beatrice Miller, Mrs. Helen Poland, all of Keyser; and Mrs. Sadie Largent, Philadelphia; three sons, Elmer C. Miller and Robert A. Miller, both of Keyser, and Clarence Miller, Limestone; one sister, Mrs. Mary Parker, Keyser, and one brother, Augustus Smith, Williamsport, W. Va.

A funeral service will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Church of the Brethren with Rev. I. S. Long, pastor, officiating. Interment will be in the Smith family cemetery.

MRS. ARNOLD SERVICE

FROSTBURG,—A funeral service for Mrs. Belle Arnold, who died late Friday night at her home, East College Avenue, was held Monday afternoon with Rev. Raymond M. Crowe, pastor of the Midland Methodist Church, officiating.

Pallbearers were Gurney Coleman, Earl Boyer, Melburn Spiker, Theodore Brode, Tracey Eaton and Harry Whetstone. Burial was in the Percy Graveyard.

MRS. ELIZABETH SMITH

LONACONING — Mrs. Elizabeth Stafford Smith, 76, widow of William Martin Smith, Detmold, died in Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, Monday afternoon, where she had been a patient for 25 days.

She was a native of Kentucky, daughter of John and Janet Snedin Stafford, and came to Lonaconing at an early age. Her husband, who worked in the coal mines, died four years ago.

Three sons survive. They are Thomas, John and Earl Smith, Lonaconing. Ten grandchildren and one great-grandchild, and one sister, Mrs. Hayward Duckworth, Detmold, also survive.

The body is at the home, 106 West Main Street, where funeral services will be held Thursday at 2 p. m. Burial will be in Oak Hill Cemetery.

ROBERT G. HACKETT

BEDFORD, Pa., — Robert G. Hackett, a former Bedford resident and a graduate of Bedford High School, died July 5 at West Palm Beach, Fla., where he had been a resident for the past two years.

He was a son of the late Benjamin C. and Myrtle Gardner Hackett.

Surviving are his widow, a former Pittsburgh, resident; a daughter, Georgia, 7, and a sister, Mrs. Vera Karns. He was the nephew of Mrs. Henry H. Pearce and Robert C. Gardner, Ellerslie, Md.

The funeral was conducted July 8 at a West Palm Beach funeral home, with Rev. O. D. Blair, pastor of the Methodist Church of that city, officiating. Interment was in West Palm Beach.

MRS. NANNIE DIGMAN

WESTERNPORT — Mrs. Nannie Harrison Digman, 79, wife of the late Rev. S. P. Digman, formerly of here, died Monday morning at her home, Bridgeport, W. Va. She had been in ill health for a number of years.

Mrs. Digman, a native of Preston County, W. Va., was a daughter of the late Thomas and Mary Harrison. She and Rev. Digman moved from here to Bridgeport a number of years ago after residing here over 20 years. Rev. Digman died this past spring. He helped organize the Westernport Church of the Brethren.

Surviving are one son, Edward Digman, Bridgeport; a foster daughter, Mrs. Stella Hanlin, Westernport; four brothers, Joseph R. Harrison, Landover, Md.; O. A. and M. R. Harrison, Westernport, and Crowder Harrison, Bridgeport.

The funeral service will be held at the home tomorrow afternoon.

Spray Kills Bees

MARTINSBURG, W. Va. (AP) — Beekeepers have reported a considerable loss of bees during the past season, believed due largely to lead spray used by orchardists on apple trees.

The beekeepers say the residue of this poisonous lead spray settles on the clover crop which bees visit for pollen.

Dr. Carlton Taylor of West Virginia University's College of Agriculture says he will urge an educational program among orchardists aimed toward correcting the situation.

Farrells Observe Golden Wedding

MT. SAVAGE — Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Farrell celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Sunday with a turkey dinner attended by more than 75 guests.

The tables were decorated with white sweetpeas and yellow asters. Calendulas and a three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom centered the table. Tall white candles with streamers of yellow ribbons completed the decorations.

From 3 p. m. until 7 p. m. more than 200 friends and relatives called.

The celebration began Saturday morning when Father George Larkin, Baltimore, a relative of the family, celebrated a thanksgiving mass. Rev. George Hopkins, Baltimore, also a relative of the Farrells, and Rev. Michael Smyth were in the sanctuary. The mass was followed by a breakfast at the Farrell home, at which the three priests were guests.

Those from out of town who attended the reception Sunday afternoon were Rev. Regis Larkin, Mrs. Ella Pressman, son Harry and daughter Lillian, Frostburg; Mr. and Mrs. John B. Clancy and family, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Clancy, Sr., and daughter Gertrude; Edward Coyle and son, and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Farrell and family, Cumberland.

Miss Mary McGrogan, Connellsville, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Philip McGrogan, Mrs. Stella Bell, Leisenring, Pa.; Mrs. Bernadette Harry and son S. J., Connellsville; Mr. and Mrs. Lewis McKenzie, Akron, O.; William Black, Akron; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Farrell, Jr., Akron, and O. Edgar Fields, Pittsburgh.

Buttons Break Into Print!

A host of prints are brightening the fashion horizon this season. And styling buttons for them can be a real adventure. Prints are the one style where button originales of contrasting color can be safely used. Buttons can repeat the plain color trim; or accent the small bright color note in the actual print, and thus make it more important.

Chic and Charming

AWNING STRIPES . . . This summer's awning-stripe vogue applies to beach, country and city fashions. For town, a New York designer uses the stripes on the horizontal for the bodice, and in deep V's for the skirt of this spun rayon dress with a softly-tailored look. Shown in green and white with round pearl buttons fastening the bodice in front.

Mary Mae Getz Becomes Bride Of U. S. Fresch, Jr.

PETERSBURG, W. Va.—Grace Lutheran Church, Petersburg, was the scene of the wedding when Miss Mary Mae Getz, R. N., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Getz, became the bride of Urvin S. Fresch, Jr., Rockville, Md., July 15 at 2 p. m.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. S. Kullman, Doe Hill, Va., before an altar decorated with assorted flowers.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in white and carried a bouquet of sweetheart roses and babysbreath. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Dennis L. Coyle, Baltimore, who was dressed in pink and carried a bouquet of roses.

The bridegroom was attended by his brother, William Fresch, Rockville.

The bride's mother wore a corsage of gardenias and the groom's mother a corsage of red roses.

Miss Irene Dahmer, Petersburg, presided at the piano.

The bride is a graduate of Petersburg High School, class of 1943, and of the Church Home and Infirmary, Baltimore, class of 1946. For the past two years she has been employed at Bethesda Suburban Hospital, Bethesda, Md.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Urvin S. Fresch, Sr., Rockville, and is employed in the Navy Engineering Department, Washington.

Following the wedding a reception was given at the home of the bride's parents in honor of the newlyweds, who later left on a honeymoon trip through the northern states and Canada.

Upon their return they will be at home in Rockville.

Those from a distance attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Fresch, Sr., William Fresch and Miss Mary Fresch, Rockville, David H. Whiteley and daughter, Donna Sue, and Mrs. Dennis L. Coyle, Baltimore.

Funeral Held For Library Founder

BERKELEY SPRINGS, W. Va. (AP) — A funeral service was held here yesterday for Mrs. Jessie Castleman Siler, 81-year-old wife of a Berkeley Springs attorney.

She was generally credited with founding the Morgan County Library 30 years ago and had given much of her time to it.

Mrs. Siler died in a hospital at Hagerstown, Md., Sunday of a heart attack after 15 weeks of illness.

She was a native of Clarke County in Virginia and a member of one of its pioneer families. Survivors include a son, J. Hammond Siler, Jr., Richmond.

Theft Reported At Conservation Plant

MOOREFIELD, W. Va.—Cpl. E. L. Roush of the Moorefield Detachment of the West Virginia State Police has reported a breaking and entering at the State Soil Conservation Commission plant near McCauley Saturday night or Sunday.

Paul Fogle, manager of the plant, reported the theft Sunday. Approximately $150 worth of equipment, tools and supplies were stolen. Included were three drums of gasoline, 16 gallons of anti-freeze, two large truck batteries, a box of tools and a small sum of money. The theft occurred after 10 o'clock Saturday night.

Authorities are continuing an investigation.

Mollie Marinitsis Starts Sentence

MARTINSBURG, W. Va. (AP) — Mollie Marinitsis at long last has started serving a two-to-20 year sentence on an arson charge in connection with the burning of a house on her father's farm in 1945.

She was convicted more than three years ago but the case was appealed to the West Virginia Supreme Court.

Judge H. M. Calhoun passed sentence when the conviction was affirmed and the defendant was transferred yesterday to the West Virginia Women's Prison at Pence Springs.

Midland Personals

Mrs. Dennis Ellifritz, Frostburg, visited her brother, Rev. Raymond Crowe, at the Methodist parsonage yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Baker and children returned home after visiting Mr. and Mrs. Charles McElfish and daughter, Baltimore. They were accompanied home by Mrs. Baker's mother, Mrs. Leah Baker.

Miss Edna Moore has returned to Baltimore after spending her vacation with her mother, Mrs. Margaret Moore, Gilmore.

Miss Mary Martin, a school teacher, is attending summer school at the University of Maryland.

LONACONING PERSONALS

Capitol Bus Application Opposed By Blue Ridge

WASHINGTON, July 20—(AP)—A Blue Ridge Transportation Company official said today the firm would be hard hit if the application of Capitol Bus Company, for a route from Harrisburg, Pa., to Washington is granted.

"The impact would be serious," F. D. Spoffard, assistant to the president of Blue Ridge, told a joint hearing board of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The Capitol Bus Company seeks to extend its present service from Harrisburg to Gettysburg, Pa., on to Washington by way of Emmitsburg, Lewisburg, Frederick and Gaithersburg, all in Maryland.

Philathea Class Meeting Held

WESTERNPORT — The monthly meeting of the Philathea Sunday School Class was held recently at the home of Mrs. Virginia White with Laura Miller as assistant hostess.

A donation was made to the Negro Vacation Bible School of Piedmont.

Those present were Mesdames Mary Donovan, P. E. Berry, Mary Virginia Lambert, Mary Sutherland, Bessie Miller, Opal Harris, Hazel Morris, Jeanetta Pritts, Juanita Walker and Beverly White and Freda Lambert, a new member.

Refreshments were served. The next meeting will be held August 12 at the home of Mary Virginia Lambert.

Midland Homemakers Meeting Tonight

MIDLAND—The Midland Homemakers Club will meet tonight at 7:30 in Red Men's Hall.

The members who attended the Rural Women's Short Course at the University of Maryland will give their reports.

Final arrangements will be made at the meeting for all members who plan to go to the Layman Farm for the annual chicken dinner August 18.

Choir Festival Is Set At Arthurdale

ARTHURDALE, W. Va. (AP)—The eleventh Mountain Choir Festival will be held here Sunday with nine guest choirs from Maryland, Pennsylvania and West Virginia scheduled to take part.

Rev. Felix Robinson, founder of the Mountain Choir Festival Association and director of the event, said the 200-voice festival choir will give a concert Sunday night. It will be accompanied by the West Virginia University Symphony Orchestra.

It is composed of singers from Taylor, Preston, Marion, Harrison and Monongalia counties.

The guest groups will perform in an afternoon concert.

The festival was founded in 1934. It was discontinued in 1942 and revived in 1946.

The festival will be open to the public free of charge this year.

Card of Thanks

We take this means of publicly expressing sincere thanks to our friends and neighbors who were so sympathetic and helpful during the illness and following the death of our beloved Mother, Mrs. Mary Jane Andrews. We are grateful to the Rev. Wendall Allen, for the floral tributes and to all others who in any manner assisted us.

Motorists Appeal Revoked Licenses

Two motorists who paid fines of $100 each on charges of exceeding 70 miles an hour, yesterday filed an appeal in Circuit Court against the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, whom they charge revoked their licenses in addition to the fines.

The men, Clarence R. Hemmis and Eldon Sponaugle, were arrested June 2 on Route 220 by Maryland State Police and fined several days later when given hearings in Trial Magistrates Court.

Police said the pair was "racing" on the highway near Westernport with one man operating an automobile and the other a motorcycle.

Both were summoned to appear at a Commissioner of Motor Vehicles hearing in Allegany County Court House on July 19 to show cause, if any, why the commission should not revoke their operator's licenses as a result of the offenses.

Yesterday's petitions for appeal hearings resulted from the commission's decision to revoke the operator's permits.

William L. Wilson, Jr., is attorney for both plaintiffs.

Dr. Cooper To Get British Decoration

A local physician, Dr. Leonard S. Cooper, 828 Shriver Avenue, will receive the British Military Cross, one of England's highest decorations, from the British Ambassador at the Embassy in Washington today.

Dr. Cooper joined the British Medical Corps in 1944 and served for two and a half years, attaining the rank of captain.

He will be decorated for his part in an assault in Belgium, in which he cared for the wounded under fire on the bank of a canal at night.

Dr. Cooper's wife and parents will accompany him to Washington, where the ceremony will begin at 4:15.

Cumberland's Sales Hit Record High

Cumberland's retail sales reached a record high of $58,950,000 in 1947, according to a recent Sales Magazine survey, which credits the city with having more "spendable" money per family than is the case in most cities of the United States.

The city's buying power is listed as .050 per cent of the nation's retail business and .032 per cent of the state's business, which according to the survey, indicates a superior market.

Will Is Probated

The late James Wesley Cook's will, admitted for probate yesterday in Orphans Court, bequeathed all properties to his wife, Henrietta Frances Gerdeman Cook, 713 North Mechanic Street, and named her executrix. The will was dated November 16, 1945.

"Buffalo Bill" Cody once engaged a man in a duel because the heckler claimed he looked like a goat with his tiny chin beard.

NOTICE TO PAVING CONTRACTORS

Sealed Proposals addressed to the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland, Maryland, and endorsed, "Proposal for the Resurfacing of Virginia Avenue," will be received at the office of the City Clerk, City Hall, Cumberland, Maryland, on or before ten o'clock A. M., E.D.S.T., August 2, 1948, at which time they will be publicly opened and read.

The work consists of the Resurfacing of Virginia Avenue from its intersection with Oldtown Road to its intersection with Laing Avenue with black top paving material (Maryland State Roads Specification "B", Hot Mix), and shall include the furnishing and laying of approximately 860 tons of said Maryland State Roads Specification "B", to complete the necessary leveling course and surface or finish course, together with tack coat (Maryland RC-1), approximately 750 gallons, and all other work contingent thereto.

The successful bidder will be required to enter into a contract with the City, and a bond in the amount equal to fifty percent of the amount of the contract price will be required for the faithful performance thereof.

Each Proposal must be accompanied by a certified check drawn to the order of the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland, Maryland, in the sum of Five Hundred Dollars ($500.00), which check will be forfeited as liquidated damages in case an award is made and the contract and bond are not promptly and properly executed. The checks of unsuccessful bidders will be returned after the contract is awarded.

The Mayor and City Council reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

Bertha Lee Drinkwater vs. Charles C. Drinkwater. No. 20780 Equity, in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

The object of this suit is to obtain a divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONII of the plaintiff from the defendant.

The bill states that the parties hereto were married on the 30th of January, 1913, in Baltimore, Maryland, and that one child was born of the said marriage, namely: Charles C. Drinkwater, Jr., age 34 years; and that the defendant on the 1st of May, 1925, without just cause or reason deserted and abandoned the plaintiff and has declared his intention to live with her no longer, and that such desertion and abandonment has been continuous and uninterrupted for more than eighteen (18) months, and is deliberate and final and without any reasonable hope of reconciliation; that the plaintiff is a resident of Allegany County, Maryland and that the defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland and that his present whereabouts are unknown to the plaintiff.

IT IS THEREUPON, this 13th day of July, 1948, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, in equity, ordered that the plaintiff by causing a copy of this order to be published in some newspaper, once in each of four (4) successive weeks, before the 13th day Aug., 1948, giving notice to the absent defendant of the object and purpose of this suit and warning him to be and appear in this Court, in person or by Solicitor, on or before the 30th day of August, 1948, to show cause, if any he has, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

Infirmary Is Political Football, Lemmert Says

Allegany County Infirmary is being made a "political football," County Commissioner William H. Lemmert charged yesterday shortly after he declared the home is open for inspection by anyone at any time.

"We're not ashamed of the home," Lemmert said as he took exception to statements made by two recently discharged employes that the inmates are being served "bug infested food."

If I. C. Brant, national councilman for the Townsend Organization, and Dr. Richard J. Williams want to inspect the home they "can go out now," Lemmert declared. Brant and Dr. Williams recently indicated they will make a surprise inspection of the county home sometime next month.

John Coleman and William Bishop, Oakland Avenue, LaVale, were informed by the Board of County Commissioners that the street will be paved as soon as county equipment is returned from a project now in progress.

Police Probe Theft

City Police last night were still investigating the theft of a $70 vacuum cleaner from the L. Bernstein Furniture Store, North Centre Street.

A salesman, M. J. Lipson, told police intruders entered the store by breaking a window after climbing to the top of a shed in the rear of the building.

Motorists Appeal Revoked Licenses

Two motorists who paid fines of $100 each on charges of exceeding 70 miles an hour, yesterday filed an appeal in Circuit Court against the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, whom they charge revoked their licenses in addition to the fines.

The men, Clarence R. Hemmis and Eldon Sponaugle, were arrested June 2 on Route 220 by Maryland State Police and fined several days later when given hearings in Trial Magistrates Court.

Police said the pair was "racing" on the highway near Westernport with one man operating an automobile and the other a motorcycle.

Both were summoned to appear at a Commissioner of Motor Vehicles hearing in Allegany County Court House on July 19 to show cause, if any, why the commission should not revoke their operator's licenses as a result of the offenses.

Yesterday's petitions for appeal hearings resulted from the commission's decision to revoke the operator's permits.

William L. Wilson, Jr., is attorney for both plaintiffs.

Dr. Cooper To Get British Decoration

A local physician, Dr. Leonard S. Cooper, 828 Shriver Avenue, will receive the British Military Cross, one of England's highest decorations, from the British Ambassador at the Embassy in Washington today.

Dr. Cooper joined the British Medical Corps in 1944 and served for two and a half years, attaining the rank of captain.

He will be decorated for his part in an assault in Belgium, in which he cared for the wounded under fire on the bank of a canal at night.

Dr. Cooper's wife and parents will accompany him to Washington, where the ceremony will begin at 4:15.

Cumberland's Sales Hit Record High

Cumberland's retail sales reached a record high of $58,950,000 in 1947, according to a recent Sales Magazine survey, which credits the city with having more "spendable" money per family than is the case in most cities of the United States.

The city's buying power is listed as .050 per cent of the nation's retail business and .032 per cent of the state's business, which according to the survey, indicates a superior market.

Will Is Probated

The late James Wesley Cook's will, admitted for probate yesterday in Orphans Court, bequeathed all properties to his wife, Henrietta Frances Gerdeman Cook, 713 North Mechanic Street, and named her executrix. The will was dated November 16, 1945.

"Buffalo Bill" Cody once engaged a man in a duel because the heckler claimed he looked like a goat with his tiny chin beard.

NOTICE TO PAVING CONTRACTORS

Sealed Proposals addressed to the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland, Maryland, and endorsed, "Proposal for the Resurfacing of Virginia Avenue," will be received at the office of the City Clerk, City Hall, Cumberland, Maryland, on or before ten o'clock A. M., E.D.S.T., August 2, 1948, at which time they will be publicly opened and read.

The work consists of the Resurfacing of Virginia Avenue from its intersection with Oldtown Road to its intersection with Laing Avenue with black top paving material (Maryland State Roads Specification "B", Hot Mix), and shall include the furnishing and laying of approximately 860 tons of said Maryland State Roads Specification "B", to complete the necessary levelling course and surface or finish course, together with tack coat (Maryland RC-1), approximately 750 gallons, and all other work contingent thereto.

The successful bidder will be required to enter into a contract with the City, and a bond in the amount equal to fifty percent of the amount of the contract price will be required for the faithful performance thereof.

Each Proposal must be accompanied by a certified check drawn to the order of the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland, Maryland, in the sum of Five Hundred Dollars ($500.00), which check will be forfeited as liquidated damages in case an award is made and the contract and bond are not promptly and properly executed. The checks of unsuccessful bidders will be returned after the contract is awarded.

The Mayor and City Council reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

Bertha Lee Drinkwater vs. Charles C. Drinkwater. No. 20780 Equity, in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

The object of this suit is to obtain a divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONII of the plaintiff from the defendant.

The bill states that the parties hereto were married on the 30th of January, 1913, in Baltimore, Maryland, and that one child was born of the said marriage, namely: Charles C. Drinkwater, Jr., age 34 years; and that the defendant on the 1st of May, 1925, without just cause or reason deserted and abandoned the plaintiff and has declared his intention to live with her no longer, and that such desertion and abandonment has been continuous and uninterrupted for more than eighteen (18) months, and is deliberate and final and without any reasonable hope of reconciliation; that the plaintiff is a resident of Allegany County, Maryland and that the defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland and that his present whereabouts are unknown to the plaintiff.

IT IS THEREUPON, this 13th day of July, 1948, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, in equity, ordered that the plaintiff by causing a copy of this order to be published in some newspaper, once in each of four (4) successive weeks, before the 13th day Aug. 1948, giving notice to the absent defendant of the object and purpose of this suit and warning him to be and appear in this Court, in person or by Solicitor, on or before the 30th day of August, 1948, to show cause, if any he has, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

Industrial Peace Meeting Planned Here This Fall

Jaycees Seek Wider Base For Program

Preliminary discussion of a proposed industrial peace plan for Cumberland last night in City Hall resulted in plans for another public meeting in the fall to interest additional groups in the proposal.

Labor organizations were predominantly represented at the meeting sponsored by the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce. Charles S. Catherman, Jr., Jaycee president, presided.

Catherman explained the workings of the "Toledo Plan," under which an 18-man committee, with six representatives each from labor, management and the public, holds roundtable discussions with both sides in industrial disputes to aid in finding a workable solution.

The plan, first started by an independent committee in Toledo in 1935, worked so successfully in its first year that the city took over the project by ordinance.

Secretary Key Man

Key man in such an industrial peace plan, Catherman explained, is the committee's executive secretary. In Toledo's case, the executive secretary is paid $7,700 annually.

He estimated that if such a program is established in Cumberland, the cost of employing a secretary trained in labor-industry relations, and maintenance of an office, might run between $5,000 and $10,000.

H. W. Smith, manager of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, pointed out that the United States Conciliation Service has reached a more efficient point at present than in the days when the Toledo Plan was first developed, and asked whether a local committee would be necessary.

Catherman replied that a local committee might be helpful in emergency cases where prompt action might avert a strike. The same factor could also apply to industries already having grievance or negotiating committees of their own, he added.

In some cities, he said, the industrial peace committee does not wait for an open industrial dispute but goes into action immediately upon the first indications of such a dispute.

Catherman emphasized that there is no compulsion in the peace plan, with the committee set up only to be of assistance if it is called upon by labor or management or both.

Toledo Record Good

In Toledo, which was known as having very poor labor-management relations, 60 to 70 disputes were settled in the first year of operation, with an estimated 100,000 man hours of production saved by averting strikes.

After the committee is well established in the mediation field, Catherman said, in many cases it also enters upon a program of labor-management education, compiling material on methods used in settling all types of disputes, and obtaining information on technological improvements in industry for better conditions of employment.

In Toledo, a program of forums on labor and management problems was started several months ago, and the discussions are reaching into the high schools, with speakers discussing such problems at school assemblies.

Catherman explained that because a number of industries are located outside Cumberland, an arrangement could be worked out with the county commissioners whereby the cost of establishing the program might be shared between the county and the city.

C. E. Stutzman, president of the Allegany Trades Council, suggested that separate meetings of labor and management representatives here could be held to determine their sentiment regarding the plan.

However, Harry E. Castle, of Local 26, United Rubber Workers, who represented the Western Maryland Industrial Unions Council, CIO, expressed the opinion that after that time, joint discussions should be held.

May Improve Relations

Dr. Robert Kerlin said it is vitally important to interest the public in the proposed plan, since they are also affected by industrial disputes.

The Weather

"Humid is the word for Wednesday," the weatherman said last night in forecasting today's atmospheric conditions, but don't get the wrong idea, it's going to rain again, too—this time in the late afternoon or evening. "There isn't any use breaking what will soon be a record for successive rainy days, that prognosticator announced as he was tossed out of the office. He called the tune right yesterday although it rained .014 inches and the mercury jumped to 79 degrees after the sun rolled the clouds back in the afternoon. It was 71 degrees at 10 p. m.

Hafer To Build $12,500 Structure

John J. Hafer, local funeral director, yesterday secured a permit in the city engineer's office to construct a three-story brick building at 228 Baltimore Avenue at an estimated cost of $12,500.

A store room will be located on the first floor, with one apartment and a casket display room on the second floor, and two apartments on the third floor.

The second floor will be connected with the present funeral home to provide larger display space, and the smoking lounge will be transferred to the basement of the new building, Hafer said.

The building will measure 20 by 100 feet, with a concrete block foundation, brick walls and a built-up roof. Plans have been furnished by Francis Keally, a New York architect.

Work is expected to start next month and is estimated to take about six months. Last April Hafer secured a city permit to tear down the two-story brick residence which formerly occupied the site.

Two Youths Save Life Of Boy, 9, Bitten By Snake

Apply Tourniquet Made From Cloth

Two 12-year-old LaVale boys were credited yesterday with saving the life of Ronald Norris, 9, who was bitten by a rattlesnake while on a hike with them in Cash Valley Monday afternoon.

The boys were hiking on a hill about a mile from their homes when Norris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Norris, Sr., B Street, LaVale, was bitten by the snake.

The other youths, James Hymes and James Albright, immediately applied a tourniquet from a piece of cloth which one of the boys was carrying in his belt, and successfully stopped the flow of blood.

The boys said they would also have made the cross-incision wound recommended for a snake bite to permit the venom to be drawn out, but they had no knife with them.

The youngsters then rushed Ronald to the home of a woman who lived near the scene. She drove them to a local physician, who ordered them to Allegany Hospital, where Ronald received treatment. He was taken home Monday night, where he is reported doing well.

Thomas Secures Permit To Build Residence

J. G. Thomas, 428 Beall Street, secured a permit yesterday in the city engineer's office to build a two-story house on Lots 18 and 19, Block 33, Ridgedale Avenue, at an estimated cost of $7,500.

The structure will measure 36 by 25 feet, with a concrete block foundation, brick veneer walls and a roof of asbestos shingles.

A permit was granted to Kent M. Reckley, 32 Hill Street, Frostburg, to build a two-story frame addition to a residence at 39 East Elder Street, and to build an outside open stairway to the second floor in the rear of the building. The stairway will be roofed. The first-floor addition will be 8 by ten feet, while the addition on the second floor will measure 8 by 12 feet. Work is estimated to cost $400.

AAUW Board Plans Meeting July 28

The executive board of Cumberland branch, American Association of University Women, will meet next Wednesday evening, July 28, at the home of the president, Mrs. Gilbert Miller, Spring Gap.

Following a buffet supper at 6 o'clock, committees will be appointed for the ensuing year.

DAV Meeting Scheduled

John Hoffman, vice commander of Fort Washington Post No. 2, Disabled American Veterans, will report on the state meeting held Sunday, at a meeting tomorrow night at 8 p. m. in the post home, 113 South Centre Street.

Chest Clinic To Open

A chest clinic will be conducted today and tomorrow in the basement clinic rooms at City Hall by Dr. I. B. Lyon, superintendent of the state sanitorium at Sabillasville. Examination will be by appointment only.

Optimist Picnic Today

A softball game between the Optimist Cub and its junior organization will highlight the annual picnic to be held today at 6 p. m. at Smouse's Beach. In case of rain arrangements have been made to hold the affair in Constitution Park.

MISS LONACONING-- Miss Marian Devlin (right), 20, is being congratulated by Miss Juanita Lookabaugh (Miss Cumberland of 1948) after the former won the title of Miss Lonaconing at a contest in Lonaconing last night. Miss Devlin and Miss Lookabaugh will be competitors for the title of Miss Maryland of 1948 when the Miss Maryland Pageant is held here on August 2.

Four Hurt In Accidents On Pa. Turnpike

Two Drivers Fall Asleep At Wheel

Four persons were hurt in two of four accidents yesterday on the Pennsylvania Turnpike near Bedford, Pa., according to Pennsylvania State Police at Bedford.

At 5:50 p. m. John P. Petrelli, 56, Fort Wayne, Ind., attempted to pass another vehicle about 21 miles east of Bedford, when the other car pulled out to pass a third vehicle, police said.

Petrelli was forced to the medial strip, where he lost control of the car and overturned. He was not hurt, but two of his passengers, Joseph Brita, 73, and his wife, 65, both of Fort Wayne, were treated at Sipes Hospital, Everett, Pa., for bruises of the head. Police estimated damage to the car at about $1,000.

Arthur Birchman, 33, Findlay, O., was driving a tractor near the Allegany Tunnel 26 miles west of Bedford, when he fell asleep at the wheel. The tractor crossed the road, climbed a bank and overturned, injuring Birchman and Charles Shaffer, 19, Baltimore.

Both were taken to Somerset Hospital, where Shaffer was admitted for observation, and Birchman for lacerations of the head, shoulder and arms. Damage was estimated at $1,500.

At 8:15 p. m. yesterday, W. C. Shambaugh, Carlisle, Pa., was traveling west near New Stanton when he fell asleep at the wheel and his can ran off the highway and overturned. Shambaugh was not injured, but damage was estimated at $600.

Leo Kaye, San Francisco, Calif., attempted to pass another car while going west on the Turnpike, when he turned out too far and struck the medial strip. He lost control of the car, which swerved back and struck the side of the second sedan, operated by Reedie Smith, Chicago, Ill., police reported.

Neither driver was injured, but damage to Smith's car was about $150, and to Kaye's vehicle, $50.

VA Offers To Aid In Reinstating Insurance

W. A. Burns, officer in charge of the Cumberland Veterans Administration office, offered yesterday to help any veteran who needs assistance in reinstating National Service Life Insurance.

July 31 is the deadline, he pointed out, for picking up a lapsed policy under the present plan. In most cases, he exlained, a World War II veteran may now reinstate lapsed insurance simply by paying two monthly premiums and signing a statement that his health is as good as at the time of lapse. After July 31, a veteran will be required to take a physical examination if his insurance has been lapsed more than 90 days.

Ex-servicemen and women who want help in reinstating should visit the Cumberland VA Offices at Room 328, Post Office Building, Cumberland, Burns asserted. Office hours are from 8 a. m. to 4:30 p. m., Mondays through Fridays.

For the convenience of veterans in this area, the VA Office here will be open all day Saturday, July 31, the last day on which GI insurance can be reinstated under the easy reinstatement procedure now in effect.

Two Divorces Granted

Mary C. Carder was granted a divorce yesterday from Daniel Edward Carder and Edith P. Smith was granted a divorce from William K. Smith, in decrees signed by Chief Judge William A. Huster.

Helen L. Slite filed suit against Kenneth E. Slite for a divorce.

Marian Devlin, 20-Year-Old Kelly Employe, Crowned 'Miss Lonaconing'

Capacity Audience Attends Event

Miss Marian Devlin, 20-year-old employe of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, won the title of "Miss Lonaconing" at that community's first beauty contest, held last night in Firemen's Armory before a capacity audience estimated at 300 persons.

A graduate of Central High School in 1946, Miss Devlin has dark brown hair and green eyes. She is five feet seven inches tall, weighing 121 pounds.

One of the most excited persons in the audience was Marian's mother, Mrs. Bertha Devlin, who said that she had encouraged her daughter to enter the contest. Mrs. Devlin expressed enthusiasm over the staging of the event.

Second and third place winners, respectively, were Shirley Baumann and Helen Bell. They received cash prizes of $25 and $15, while the winner received $50, all donated voluntarily by Lonaconing business men.

Jean Dixon, "Miss Maryland" last year, crowned Miss Devlin, who was congratulated by Juanita Lookabaugh, this year's "Miss Cumberland." Miss Dixon sang two selections.

Miss Devlin will take part in the state finals to be held in Cumberland August 2.

Mrs. Betty Lou Rankin Morgan, runner-up in last year's "Miss Maryland" contest, who acted as adviser to the 10 Lonaconing contestants, also attended the event last night.

"Miss Lonaconing' gave a talk on her plans and ambitions as the talent part of her appearance, stating that she would like to continue her education, if possible through winning a contest scholarship. She has been employed in the tabulating department at the Kelly plant about one year, and has one older brother.

Entertainment during last night's program included songs by Billy Neff, a student at Central High School. William A. Wilson acted as master of ceremonies. The contest was sponsored by the Lonaconing Community Decoration Committee, with Morgan Riley and Pershing Holmes as co-chairmen.

Judges included Mrs. Helene Poland, Piedmont; David Kauffman, Cumberland; John M. Robb, Cumberland; and William Byrnes, Eckhart.

Loughrie Admitted To Maryland Bar

David H. R. Loughrie, formerly of this city, was among four women and 63 men who were sworn into the Maryland Bar at the Court of Appeals yesterday.

They were members of the latest class to pass state Bar examinations.

Attorney General Hall Hammond recommended the group and Maurice Ogle, court clerk, administered the oath. Chief Judge Ogle Marbury welcomed the new attorneys as other jurists of Maryland's highest court watched from the bench.

Loughrie, son of U. S. Marshal and Mrs. Howard P. Loughrie, 301 Baltimore Avenue, received his Bachelor of Laws degree from the University of Maryland School of Law June 6.

A former pilot in the Air Force, he was a prisoner of the Germans during World War II.

Loughrie is a graduate of Fort Hill High School and took pre-law courses at Potomac State School and West Virginia University.

He resides in Baltimore with his wife and son, David, Jr.

Local Stock Prices Are Slightly Weaker

The Cumberland Stock Yard reported a good run of stock yesterday but said the market was "just a little weaker" than in recent weeks.

There was no particular change, officials said, on calves, chickens and hogs but bulls were cheaper and the market not quite so strong on cattle. The report:

Medium steers 27-30; plain steers 21-24; medium and good heifers 25-28; plain heifers 19-21; good cows and heiferettes 22½-25; medium cows 17-19; shelly kind 14-16; medium to good bulls 23-25½; plain and common bulls 17-19.

Good veal calves 28-33; medium calves 25-27½; light and plain calves 15-25; good hogs 28½-29½; heavy sows 18-22; male hogs 8½-16. Pigs $5-$10 a head. Medium lambs 24-27; stock ewes 10-17½. Good chickens 34-40; old hens 24-30.

Lions To Hear FBI Agent

Vernon Goerty, special agent in charge of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, Baltimore, will address the weekly luncheon meeting of the Lions Club at 12:15 p. m. today in Central Y. M. C. A.

Purple Heart To Seek Convention Here Next Year

Over 20 To Attend Milwaukee Meeting

Mountain Chapter No. 166, Military Order of the Purple Heart, announced last night that its delegates to the national convention will make a bid to have next year's convention in Cumberland in August, 1949.

The delegates, named at a meeting held Monday, are Herbert McFarland, Abe Loundry and Duke Isles. Alternates are Maurice Tichnell, Thomas Defibaugh and Herbert McCarthy.

At least 20 Cumberlanders expect to attend the annual convention which will be held in Milwaukee the week of August 8.

The chapter empowered local delegates to make a strong bid for Cumberland as the site of the next national convention.

Paul Lewis, who was sponsored by Mountain Chapter, made a report on activities of Boys State which closed recently at Fort Meade.

Kelly Worker Hurt In Plant Mishap

A Kelly-Springfield Tire Company worker was admitted to Memorial Hospital late last night after sustaining hand injuries when he caught the hand in a rolling machine.

Attaches said the man, John Robertson, 58, Route 3, Bedford, Pa., suffered several puncture wounds of the hand and possible fractures of two bones in the wrist.

Carl Upole, nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Upole, Sr., Route 2, this city, was treated at 6:45 p. m. after he fell from his bicycle and sustained lacerations of the right shoulder. Skin clips were applied and he was discharged.

Thomas H. Hurtt, 44, 180 Wineow Street, was treated and admitted for X-rays at Allegany Hospital yesterday after he was struck on the head by a falling piece of iron, and was wedged between two boxcars when he fell.

Floyd H. Miller, 44, 109 Offutt Street, a Cumberland Laundry worker, was treated at the same hospital for burns of the left arm sustained, he said, when some alkali blew up at the laundry.

Sarah Baldwin, 29, 248 North Centre Street, was treated for injuries to her right hand sustained when she cut the hand on a fishing pole.

Gertrude Usher, 28, 224 Union Street, was treated for lacerations of the right knee sustained when she was bitten by a dog.

Local Blind Man Is Taken By Death

Edward Lee Tranum, 50, died early yesterday morning en route to Allegany Hospital after he became suddenly ill at his home, 608 Ann Place.

Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner, said death apparently resulted from natural causes but added the results of an autopsy performed to determine the exact cause of death were not yet available.

The blind man was apparently well yesterday at 2 a. m. when Mrs. Evelyn Reitmeir, who rooms at the Tranum home, retired.

She told Dr. Deming that about 4:45 a. m. today she awoke and heard Mr. Tranum moaning. When she went to give aid, the man told her he was dying.

The woman called a neighbor who summoned police by phone. Officers Pfeiffer and Crawford, Dr. Deming said, took the man to the hospital but death occurred before they reached aid.

Mr. Tranum was born October 12, 1897, in Brunswick, a son of Patrick Tranum, Baltimore.

Also surviving are one daughter, address unknown; one son, Mickey, who lives on Bedford Road, and a sister, Mrs. Mary Strawser, Baltimore.

The body is at the Kight Funeral Home.

Man Held Here Not Jack Notkin

A man held by local police for investigation was found yesterday not to be Jack Notkin, Pittsburgh, who walked out of a Washington hospital Wednesday while awaiting a delicate brain operation.

Notkin's mother, Mrs. Esther Bunchau, Pittsburgh, came here yesterday to identify the man, and told authorities he was not her son.

Driver Released On Bond In Fatal Crash

Charged with manslaughter by automobile, Olen Brenneman, Bittinger, was released Monday on $1,000 bond for a preliminary hearing next Monday in the death of Benjamin F. Croston, 22, Loch Lynn, who was killed Sunday morning on Route 219 near Oakland.

Brenneman, said by police to be the driver of an automobile involved in a collision with a motorcycle operated by Croston, was taken into custody at the scene of the accident in which two other men, passengers on a second motorcycle, were also slightly injured.

Police said the two motorcycles collided with the car as they topped a rise in a small hill on the road.

Six Persons Hurt In Two Accidents In West Virginia

Three Injured As Two Cars Collide

Four persons suffered painful injuries in a three-car collision on Route 220 near Junction, W. Va., yesterday at 12:30 p. m. and two others were injured when a tractor-trailer burned near Allegheny Front, W. Va., at 8:30 p. m.

Police said the first accident occurred when a car operated by Charles R. Barnhart, Daytona Beach, Fla., collided with two other cars on a narrow stretch of road.

Barnhart and his wife were admitted to Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, W. Va., and Karen and Marilyn Conway, Pittsburgh, passengers in the Barnhart car, were admitted to Memorial Hospital, Cumberland.

Hospital attaches said Barnhart suffered a fracture of the left leg and the other passengers were treated for shock and lacerations.

Police said occupants of the other two cars, who were not identified, escaped injury.

In the second accident, Richard J. Kassin, 26, and George McBurney, 35, both of Detroit, suffered minor injuries when the tractor-trailer driven by Kassin careened from the road and the cab burned on Route 50.

The trailer was carrying new automobiles from Detroit to the Eastern Shore of Maryland, according to authorities who added the new cars were not damaged.

FCC Grants Third Radio Station Here

WASHINGTON, July 20 (AP)—The Federal Communications Commission today announced tentative grants for two new radio stations in Maryland involving proposed denial of competitive applications at the points involved.

To grant the application of Richard Aubrey Raese, Morgantown, W. Va., for a new standard station at Cumberland, to operate on 1230 kilocycles, 250 watts, unlimited time, and to deny the application of Tri-State Broadcasting Company for the same facilities in Cumberland.

To grant the application of the Capital Broadcasting Company for a new standard station at Annapolis, to operate on 1430 kilocycles, 500 watts, unlimited time, and to deny the application of John F. Kramer for a new standard station on the same frequency at Cambridge.

Sentence Suspended In Assault Case

Mrs. Lloyd Kesecker was given a suspended sentence yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court on a charge of assault preferred by Mrs. Ruth Crabtree.

Mrs. Crabtree said the assault occurred Monday. Mrs. Kesecker, who entered a plea of guilty, was warned by Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., to keep the peace and refrain from molesting Mrs. Crabtree.

Seek Alcoholic Licenses

An application for a light wine and beer license was filed yesterday with the Allegany County Liquor Control Board by Catherine A. Sampsell, Sadie N. Boden and Robert M. Boden for Nicholsons, Inc., 1003-1005 Oldtown Road.

Frank P. Stakem and William R. Jones, Lonaconing, made application for a beer license and The Hi-Dee Club, Inc., has filed for a transfer of its liquor license from 47 North Centre Street to 136-138 North Mechanic Street.

The Hi-Dee application was signed by Edward L. Belfoure, Joseph J. Belfoure and Lena DeLuca.

Three Join Army

Three area youths enlisted in the Corps of Engineers, unassigned, at the local Army and Air Force main recruiting station yesterday, Lt. George J. Gocke, officer in charge, announced.

They are Clyde Vernon Thorne, 19, Petersburg; Ronald Lester Welch, 18, Mt. Lake Park, and Robert Ory Weeks, 17, Mt. Lake Park.

Commerce Heads Continue Study On Parking Area

Ask Consideration Of Traffic Surveys

Further study of the possibilities of North George Street as a parking area and of a traffic survey of this city was recommended yesterday at a conference between the Chamber of Commerce committee and William V. Keegan, commissioner of fire and police of this city.

The highway transportation committee of the Chamber and the parking committee of the Mercantile Bureau, according to Harold W. Smith, manager, reviewed with the city official the general parking question and the situation which has developed as a result of the B. and O. statement that it is unable to find another location for the siding there.

There was some question, Smith said, as to whether that would mean the abandonment of the North George Street project, and the group felt the subject should be given further study.

The Chamber of Commerce groups also discussed the question of a traffic and parking survey for this city. The groups felt, Smith explained, that a survey should be made but that consideration should be given to several types of surveys which are available.

The Board of Directors of the Mercantile Bureau met last night at the Liberty Trust Building to discuss the general program of the Bureau.

Officials said work of the meeting will be continued at a second session planned Friday night.

Suits For $1,500 Damages Are Filed

Two suits asking damages totaling $1,500 were filed in Circuit Court yesterday as the result of automobile accidents with one plaintiff claiming he suffered injuries.

William R. Everett, who was allegedly injured, seeks $1,000 damage from Dalton J. Sheetz, whom he alleges was operating a car that collided with his automobile June 12 on Route 135, near Swanton, Garrett County.

Everett, in the declaration, charges that he suffered injuries and states that his automobile was badly damaged.

The second suit was filed by Paul Carpenter, against Timothy J. Kilduff as the result of an automobile collision on East Union Street, Frostburg, last May 21.

Carpenter charges his car was damaged extensively.

Sitter Plans Compaign For Forum President

Charles Sitter, 17-year-old LaSalle High School student, yesterday completed formal application to attend the American Legion sponsored forum on the campus of Washington University, Washington, July 30 to August 5.

Sitter was elected governor of Maryland Boys State at Fort Meade last week and was named senator to the forum.

The local youth plans a vigorous campaign for "president" of the Boys Forum.

Lepley Is Fined For Interference

Eugene Lepley, 616 North Centre Street, was fined $10 yesterday in Police Court for interfering with an officer in the discharge of his duty.

He was arrested by Officers Harold Crawford and C. E. Pfeiffer after he attempted to take a prisoner away from Officer Crawford on Front Street early yesterday morning, the officers said.

Veteran Joins Navy

Allen E. L. Thompson, 27, 476 Williams Street, a veteran of eight and a half years' service with the Navy, enlisted yesterday as a machinist's mate, second class, at the local Navy recruiting station, according to Chief Torpedoman's Mate Edgar L. Schrader, recruiter.

Thompson was sent to the Naval Recruiting Station, Anacostia.

Jaycee Heads To Meet

The Board of Directors of the Junior Association of Commerce will meet tonight at 8 o'clock in the Jaycee office in the Liberty Trust Building.

The Miss Maryland committee of the group will meet at the Jaycee office tomorrow night.

BIRTHS

Memorial Hospital reported the following births yesterday:

Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Moser, LaVale, a son.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Howard Aldridge, Mt. Savage, a daughter.

Rev. Walter F. Reif Named First Minister Of Bowling Green Mission

Rev. Walter F. Reif will assume his duties as full time minister of the newly organized Evangelical and Reformed Church Mission at Bowling Green on or about August 1.

The mission is under the sponsorship of the Board of National Missions and the Pittsburgh Synod of the Evangelical and Reformed Church.

Rev. Reif, a graduate of Eden Theological Seminary, Webster Groves, Mo., class of 1943, is coming to Bowling Green from The Bronx, N. Y., where, for the past several years, he has been pastor of St. Paul's Evangelical and Reformed Church.

On Sunday, July 11, he preached his farewell sermon there and then left for Williamsport, Pa., for a two-week vacation prior to beginning his work at Bowling Green.

His furniture has been shipped to Bowling Green where a temporary parsonage has been secured until a

Youths, 18, May Enlist In Armed Forces For Period Of One Year

The Army, Air Force and Marine Corps announced yesterday that they would begin accepting one-year enlistments of 18-year-olds today.

The Army and the Air Force will accept enlistments with approximately equal monthly quotas within the limits set by the Service Act. The Army will accept about 10,000 enlistments during the four weeks beginning today and the Air Force, 1,300.

The Marine Corps monthly quota will be filled on a first-come-first-served basis. A waiting list for one-year enlistments will be established to include only enough names to fill one month's quota. Names will not be placed on the list for October enlistment until after September 1.

Under the Service Act, the armed forces are authorized to take 18-year-old youths who have not yet reached their 19th birthday at the time of enlistment. After serving a year in the regular forces, the volunteers are required to serve for an extended period in the reserves.

By enlisting under this program, the youths will be exempt from the draft.

Those youths who wish to enlist in the Army or Air Force should apply at one of the following Army and Air Force recruiting stations:

24 Baltimore Street, Mobile Recruiting Unit, corner of Baltimore and Centre Streets, or the employment Office, 146 Union Street. Applications for one-year enlistments will not be handled at the main recruiting station.

Those who wish to enlist in the Marine Corps under the plan may apply at the local Marine Corps Recruiting Office on the third floor of the Post Office.

Industrial Peace Meeting Planned Here This Fall

Jaycees Seek Wider Base For Program

Preliminary discussion of a proposed industrial peace plan for Cumberland last night in City Hall resulted in plans for another public meeting in the fall to interest additional groups in the proposal.

Labor organizations were predominantly represented at the meeting sponsored by the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce. Charles S. Catherman, Jr., Jaycee president, presided.

Catherman explained the workings of the "Toledo Plan," under which an 18-man committee, with six representatives each from labor, management and the public, holds roundtable discussions with both sides in industrial disputes to aid in finding a workable solution.

The plan, first started by an independent committee in Toledo in 1935, worked so successfully in its first year that the city took over the project by ordinance.

Secretary Key Man

Key man in such an industrial peace plan, Catherman explained, is the committee's executive secretary. In Toledo's case, the executive secretary is paid $7,700 annually.

He estimated that if such a program is established in Cumberland, the cost of employing a secretary trained in labor-industry relations, and maintenance of an office, might run between $5,000 and $10,000.

H. W. Smith, manager of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, pointed out that the United States Conciliation Service has reached a more efficient point at present than in the days when the Toledo Plan was first developed, and asked whether a local committee would be necessary.

Catherman replied that a local committee might be helpful in emergency cases where prompt action might avert a strike. The same factor could also apply to industries already having grievance or negotiating committees of their own, he added.

In some cities, he said, the industrial peace committee does not wait for an open industrial dispute but goes into action immediately upon the first indications of such a dispute.

Catherman emphasized that there is no compulsion in the peace plan, with the committee set up only to be of assistance if it is called upon by labor or management or both.

Toledo Record Good

In Toledo, which was known as having very poor labor-management relations, 60 to 70 disputes were settled in the first year of operation, with an estimated 100,000 man hours of production saved by averting strikes.

After the committee is well established in the mediation field, Catherman said, in many cases it also enters upon a program of labor-management education, compiling material on methods used in settling all types of disputes, and obtaining information on technological improvements in industry for better conditions of employment.

In Toledo, a program of forums on labor and management problems was started several months ago, and the discussions are reaching into the high schools, with speakers discussing such problems at school assemblies.

Catherman explained that because a number of industries are located outside Cumberland, an arrangement could be worked out with the county commissioners whereby the cost of establishing the program might be shared between the county and the city.

C. E. Stutzman, president of the Allegany Trades Council, suggested that separate meetings of labor and management representatives here could be held to determine their sentiment regarding the plan.

However, Harry E. Castle, of Local 26, United Rubber Workers, who represented the Western Maryland Industrial Unions Council, CIO, expressed the opinion that after that time, joint discussions should be held.

May Improve Relations

Dr. Robert Kerlin said it is vitally important to interest the public in the proposed plan, since they are also affected by industrial disputes.

The Weather

"Humid is the word for Wednesday," the weatherman said last night in forecasting today's atmospheric conditions, but don't get the wrong idea, it's going to rain again, too—this time in the late afternoon or evening. "There isn't any use breaking what will soon be a record for successive rainy days, that prognosticator announced as he was tossed out of the office. He called the tune right yesterday although it rained .014 inches and the mercury jumped to 79 degrees after the sun rolled the clouds back in the afternoon. It was 71 degrees at 10 p. m.

Hafer To Build $12,500 Structure

John J. Hafer, local funeral director, yesterday secured a permit in the city engineer's office to construct a three-story brick building at 228 Baltimore Avenue at an estimated cost of $12,500.

A store room will be located on the first floor, with one apartment and a casket display room on the second floor, and two apartments on the third floor.

The second floor will be connected with the present funeral home to provide larger display space, and the smoking lounge will be transferred to the basement of the new building, Hafer said.

The building will measure 20 by 100 feet, with a concrete block foundation, brick walls and a built-up roof. Plans have been furnished by Francis Keally, a New York architect.

Work is expected to start next month and is estimated to take about six months. Last April Hafer secured a city permit to tear down the two-story brick residence which formerly occupied the site.

Two Youths Save Life Of Boy, 9, Bitten By Snake

Apply Tourniquet Made From Cloth

Two 12-year-old LaVale boys were credited yesterday with saving the life of Ronald Norris, 9, who was bitten by a rattlesnake while on a hike with them in Cash Valley Monday afternoon.

The boys were hiking on a hill about a mile from their homes when Norris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Norris, Sr., B Street, LaVale, was bitten by the snake.

The other youths, James Hymes and James Albright, immediately applied a tourniquet from a piece of cloth which one of the boys was carrying in his belt, and successfully stopped the flow of blood.

The boys said they would also have made the cross-incision wound recommended for a snake bite to permit the venom to be drawn out, but they had no knife with them.

The youngsters then rushed Ronald to the home of a woman who lived near the scene. She drove them to a local physician, who ordered them to Allegany Hospital, where Ronald received treatment. He was taken home Monday night, where he is reported doing well.

Thomas Secures Permit To Build Residence

J. G. Thomas, 428 Beall Street, secured a permit yesterday in the city engineer's office to build a two-story house on Lots 18 and 19, Block 33, Ridgedale Avenue, at an estimated cost of $7,500.

The structure will measure 36 by 25 feet, with a concrete block foundation, brick veneer walls and a roof of asbestos shingles.

A permit was granted to Kent M. Reckley, 32 Hill Street, Frostburg, to build a two-story frame addition to a residence at 39 East Elder Street, and to build an outside open stairway to the second floor in the rear of the building. The stairway will be roofed. The first-floor addition will be 8 by ten feet, while the addition on the second floor will measure 8 by 12 feet. Work is estimated to cost $400.

AAUW Board Plans Meeting July 28

The executive board of Cumberland branch, American Association of University Women, will meet next Wednesday evening, July 28, at the home of the president, Mrs. Gilbert Miller, Spring Gap.

Following a buffet supper at 6 o'clock, committees will be appointed for the ensuing year.

DAV Meeting Scheduled

John Hoffman, vice commander of Fort Washington Post No. 2, Disabled American Veterans, will report on the state meeting held Sunday, at a meeting tomorrow night at 8 p. m. in the post home, 113 South Centre Street.

Chest Clinic To Open

A chest clinic will be conducted today and tomorrow in the basement clinic rooms at City Hall by Dr. I. B. Lyon, superintendent of the state sanitorium at Sabillasville. Examination will be by appointment only.

Optimist Picnic Today

A softball game between the Optimist Cub and its junior organization will highlight the annual picnic to be held today at 6 p. m. at Smouse's Beach. In case of rain arrangements have been made to hold the affair in Constitution Park.

MISS LONACONING-- Miss Marian Devlin (right), 20, is being congratulated by Miss Juanita Lookabaugh (Miss Cumberland of 1948) after the former won the title of Miss Lonaconing at a contest in Lonaconing last night. Miss Devlin and Miss Lookabaugh will be competitors for the title of Miss Maryland of 1948 when the Miss Maryland Pageant is held here on August 2.

Four Hurt In Accidents On Pa. Turnpike

Two Drivers Fall Asleep At Wheel

Four persons were hurt in two of four accidents yesterday on the Pennsylvania Turnpike near Bedford, Pa., according to Pennsylvania State Police at Bedford.

At 5:50 p. m. John P. Petrelli, 56, Fort Wayne, Ind., attempted to pass another vehicle about 21 miles east of Bedford, when the other car pulled out to pass a third vehicle, police said.

Petrelli was forced to the medial strip, where he lost control of the car and overturned. He was not hurt, but two of his passengers, Joseph Brita, 73, and his wife, 65, both of Fort Wayne, were treated at Sipes Hospital, Everett, Pa., for bruises of the head. Police estimated damage to the car at about $1,000.

Arthur Birchman, 33, Findlay, O., was driving a tractor near the Allegany Tunnel 26 miles west of Bedford, when he fell asleep at the wheel. The tractor crossed the road, climbed a bank and overturned, injuring Birchman and Charles Shaffer, 19, Baltimore.

Both were taken to Somerset Hospital, where Shaffer was admitted for observation, and Birchman for lacerations of the head, shoulder and arms. Damage was estimated at $1,500.

At 8:15 p. m. yesterday, W. C. Shambaugh, Carlisle, Pa., was traveling west near New Stanton when he fell asleep at the wheel and his can ran off the highway and overturned. Shambaugh was not injured, but damage was estimated at $600.

Leo Kaye, San Francisco, Calif., attempted to pass another car while going west on the Turnpike, when he turned out too far and struck the medial strip. He lost control of the car, which swerved back and struck the side of the second sedan, operated by Reedie Smith, Chicago, Ill., police reported.

Neither driver was injured, but damage to Smith's car was about $150, and to Kaye's vehicle, $50.

VA Offers To Aid In Reinstating Insurance

W. A. Burns, officer in charge of the Cumberland Veterans Administration office, offered yesterday to help any veteran who needs assistance in reinstating National Service Life Insurance.

July 31 is the deadline, he pointed out, for picking up a lapsed policy under the present plan. In most cases, he exlained, a World War II veteran may now reinstate lapsed insurance simply by paying two monthly premiums and signing a statement that his health is as good as at the time of lapse. After July 31, a veteran will be required to take a physical examination if his insurance has been lapsed more than 90 days.

Ex-servicemen and women who want help in reinstating should visit the Cumberland VA Offices at Room 328, Post Office Building, Cumberland, Burns asserted. Office hours are from 8 a. m. to 4:30 p. m., Mondays through Fridays.

For the convenience of veterans in this area, the VA Office here will be open all day Saturday, July 31, the last day on which GI insurance can be reinstated under the easy reinstatement procedure now in effect.

Two Divorces Granted

Mary C. Carder was granted a divorce yesterday from Daniel Edward Carder and Edith P. Smith was granted a divorce from William K. Smith, in decrees signed by Chief Judge William A. Huster.

Helen L. Slite filed suit against Kenneth E. Slite for a divorce.

Marian Devlin, 20-Year-Old Kelly Employe, Crowned 'Miss Lonaconing'

Capacity Audience Attends Event

Miss Marian Devlin, 20-year-old employe of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, won the title of "Miss Lonaconing" at that community's first beauty contest, held last night in Firemen's Armory before a capacity audience estimated at 300 persons.

A graduate of Central High School in 1946, Miss Devlin has dark brown hair and green eyes. She is five feet seven inches tall, weighing 121 pounds.

One of the most excited persons in the audience was Marian's mother, Mrs. Bertha Devlin, who said that she had encouraged her daughter to enter the contest. Mrs. Devlin expressed enthusiasm over the staging of the event.

Second and third place winners, respectively, were Shirley Baumann and Helen Bell. They received cash prizes of $25 and $15, while the winner received $50, all donated voluntarily by Lonaconing business men.

Jean Dixon, "Miss Maryland" last year, crowned Miss Devlin, who was congratulated by Juanita Lookabaugh, this year's "Miss Cumberland." Miss Dixon sang two selections.

Miss Devlin will take part in the state finals to be held in Cumberland August 2.

Mrs. Betty Lou Rankin Morgan, runner-up in last year's "Miss Maryland" contest, who acted as adviser to the 10 Lonaconing contestants, also attended the event last night.

"Miss Lonaconing" gave a talk on her plans and ambitions as the talent part of her appearance, stating that she would like to continue her education, if possible through winning a contest scholarship. She has been employed in the tabulating department at the Kelly plant about one year, and has one older brother.

Entertainment during last night's program included songs by Billy Neff, a student at Central High School. William A. Wilson acted as master of ceremonies. The contest was sponsored by the Lonaconing Community Decoration Committee, with Morgan Riley and Pershing Holmes as co-chairmen.

Judges included Mrs. Helene Poland, Piedmont; David Kauffman, Cumberland; John M. Robb, Cumberland; and William Byrnes, Eckhart.

Loughrie Admitted To Maryland Bar

David H. R. Loughrie, formerly of this city, was among four women and 63 men who were sworn into the Maryland Bar at the Court of Appeals yesterday.

They were members of the latest class to pass state Bar examinations.

Attorney General Hall Hammond recommended the group and Maurice Ogle, court clerk, administered the oath. Chief Judge Ogle Marbury welcomed the new attorneys as other jurists of Maryland's highest court watched from the bench.

Loughrie, son of U. S. Marshal and Mrs. Howard P. Loughrie, 301 Baltimore Avenue, received his Bachelor of Laws degree from the University of Maryland School of Law June 6.

A former pilot in the Air Force, he was a prisoner of the Germans during World War II.

Loughrie is a graduate of Fort Hill High School and took pre-law courses at Potomac State School and West Virginia University.

He resides in Baltimore with his wife and son, David, Jr.

Local Stock Prices Are Slightly Weaker

The Cumberland Stock Yard reported a good run of stock yesterday but said the market was "just a little weaker" than in recent weeks.

There was no particular change, officials said, on calves, chickens and hogs but bulls were cheaper and the market not quite so strong on cattle. The report:

Medium steers 27-30; plain steers 21-24; medium and good heifers 25-28; plain heifers 19-21; good cows and heiferettes 22½-25; medium cows 17-19; shelly kind 14-16; medium to good bulls 23-25½; plain and common bulls 17-19.

Good veal calves 28-33; medium calves 25-27½; light and plain calves 15-25; good hogs 28½-29½; heavy sows 18-22; male hogs 8½-16. Pigs $5-$10 a head. Medium lambs 24-27; stock ewes 10-17½. Good chickens 34-40; old hens 24-30.

Purple Heart To Seek Convention Here Next Year

Over 20 To Attend Milwaukee Meeting

Mountain Chapter No. 166, Military Order of the Purple Heart, announced last night that its delegates to the national convention will make a bid to have next year's convention in Cumberland in August, 1949.

The delegates, named at a meeting held Monday, are Herbert McFarland, Abe Loundry and Duke Isles. Alternates are Maurice Tichnell, Thomas Defibaugh and Herbert McCarthy.

At least 20 Cumberlanders expect to attend the annual convention which will be held in Milwaukee the week of August 8.

The chapter empowered local delegates to make a strong bid for Cumberland as the site of the next national convention.

Paul Lewis, who was sponsored by Mountain Chapter, made a report on activities of Boys State which closed recently at Fort Meade.

The chapter also voted to take space in the program planned by the Junior Chamber of Commerce for the Miss Maryland pageant here.

Kelly Worker Hurt In Plant Mishap

A Kelly-Springfield Tire Company worker was admitted to Memorial Hospital late last night after sustaining hand injuries when he caught the hand in a rolling machine.

Attaches said the man, John Robertson, 58, Route 3, Bedford, Pa., suffered several puncture wounds of the hand and possible fractures of two bones in the wrist.

Carl Upole, nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Upole, Sr., Route 2, this city, was treated at 6:45 p. m. after he fell from his bicycle and sustained lacerations of the right shoulder. Skin clips were applied and he was discharged.

Thomas H. Hurtt, 44, 180 Wineow Street, was treated and admitted for X-rays at Allegany Hospital yesterday after he was struck on the head by a falling piece of iron, and was wedged between two boxcars when he fell.

Floyd H. Miller, 44, 109 Offutt Street, a Cumberland Laundry worker, was treated at the same hospital for burns of the left arm sustained, he said, when some alkali blew up at the laundry.

Sarah Baldwin, 29, 248 North Centre Street, was treated for injuries to her right hand sustained when she cut the hand on a fishing pole.

Gertrude Usher, 28, 224 Union Street, was treated for lacerations of the right knee sustained when she was bitten by a dog.

Local Blind Man Is Taken By Death

Edward Lee Tranum, 50, died early yesterday morning en route to Allegany Hospital after he became suddenly ill at his home, 608 Ann Place.

Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner, said death apparently resulted from natural causes but added the results of an autopsy performed to determine the exact cause of death were not yet available.

The blind man was apparently well yesterday at 2 a. m. when Mrs. Evelyn Reitmeir, who rooms at the Tranum home, retired.

She told Dr. Deming that about 4:45 a. m. today she awoke and heard Mr. Tranum moaning. When she went to give aid, the man told her he was dying.

The woman called a neighbor who summoned police by phone. Officers Pfeiffer and Crawford, Dr. Deming said, took the man to the hospital but death occurred before they reached aid.

Mr. Tranum was born October 12, 1897, in Brunswick, a son of Patrick Tranum, Baltimore.

Also surviving are one daughter, address unknown; one son, Mickey, who lives on Bedford Road, and a sister, Mrs. Mary Strawser, Baltimore.

The body is at the Kight Funeral Home.

Man Held Here Not Jack Notkin

A man held by local police for investigation was found yesterday not to be Jack Notkin, Pittsburgh, who walked out of a Washington hospital Wednesday while awaiting a delicate brain operation.

Notkin's mother, Mrs. Esther Bunchau, Pittsburgh, came here yesterday to identify the man, and told authorities he was not her son.

Driver Released On Bond In Fatal Crash

Charged with manslaughter by automobile, Olen Brenneman, Bittinger, was released Monday on $1,000 bond for a preliminary hearing next Monday in the death of Benjamin F. Croston, 22, Loch Lynn, who was killed Sunday morning on Route 219 near Oakland.

Brenneman, said by police to be the driver of an automobile involved in a collision with a motorcycle operated by Croston, was taken into custody at the scene of the accident in which two other men, passengers on a second motorcycle, were also slightly injured.

Police said the two motorcycles collided with the car as they topped a rise in a small hill on the road.

Six Persons Hurt In Two Accidents In West Virginia

Three Injured As Two Cars Collide

Four persons suffered painful injuries in a three-car collision on Route 220 near Junction, W. Va., yesterday at 12:30 p. m. and two others were injured when a tractor-trailer burned near Allegheny Front, W. Va., at 8:30 p. m.

Police said the first accident occurred when a car operated by Charles R. Barnhart, Daytona Beach, Fla., collided with two other cars on a narrow stretch of road.

Barnhart and his wife were admitted to Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, W. Va., and Karen and Marilyn Conway, Pittsburgh, passengers in the Barnhart car, were admitted to Memorial Hospital, Cumberland.

Hospital attaches said Barnhart suffered a fracture of the left leg and the other passengers were treated for shock and lacerations.

Police said occupants of the other two cars, who were not identified, escaped injury.

In the second accident, Richard J. Kassin, 26, and George McBurney, 35, both of Detroit, suffered minor injuries when the tractor-trailer driven by Kassin careened from the road and the cab burned on Route 50.

The trailer was carrying new automobiles from Detroit to the Eastern Shore of Maryland, according to authorities who added the new cars were not damaged.

FCC Grants Third Radio Station Here

WASHINGTON, July 20 (AP)—The Federal Communications Commission today announced tentative grants for two new radio stations in Maryland involving proposed denial of competitive applications at the points involved.

To grant the application of Richard Aubrey Raese, Morgantown, W. Va., for a new standard station at Cumberland, to operate on 1230 kilocycles, 250 watts, unlimited time, and to deny the application of Tri-State Broadcasting Company for the same facilities in Cumberland.

To grant the application of the Capital Broadcasting Company for a new standard station at Annapolis, to operate on 1430 kilocycles, 500 watts, unlimited time, and to deny the application of John F. Kramer for a new standard station on the same frequency at Cambridge.

Sentence Suspended In Assault Case

Mrs. Lloyd Kesecker was given a suspended sentence yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court on a charge of assault preferred by Mrs. Ruth Crabtree.

Mrs. Crabtree said the assault occurred Monday. Mrs. Kesecker, who entered a plea of guilty, was warned by Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., to keep the peace and refrain from molesting Mrs. Crabtree.

Seek Alcoholic Licenses

An application for a light wine and beer license was filed yesterday with the Allegany County Liquor Control Board by Catherine A. Sampsell, Sadie N. Boden and Robert M. Boden for Nicholsons, Inc., 1003-1005 Oldtown Road.

Frank P. Stakem and William R. Jones, Lonaconing, made application for a beer license and The Hi-Dee Club, Inc., has filed for a transfer of its liquor license from 47 North Centre Street to 136-138 North Mechanic Street.

The Hi-Dee application was signed by Edward L. Belfoure, Joseph J. Belfoure and Lena DeLuca.

They are Clyde Vernon Thorne, 19, Petersburg; Ronald Lester Welch, 18, Mt. Lake Park, and Robert Ory Weeks, 17, Mt. Lake Park.

Commerce Heads Continue Study On Parking Area

Ask Consideration Of Traffic Surveys

Further study of the possibilities of North George Street as a parking area and of a traffic survey of this city was recommended yesterday at a conference between the Chamber of Commerce committee and William V. Keegan, commissioner of fire and police of this city.

The highway transportation committee of the Chamber and the parking committee of the Mercantile Bureau, according to Harold W. Smith, manager, reviewed with the city official the general parking question and the situation which has developed as a result of the B. and O. statement that it is unable to find another location for the siding there.

There was some question, Smith said, as to whether that would mean the abandonment of the North George Street project, and the group felt the subject should be given further study.

The Chamber of Commerce groups also discussed the question of a traffic and parking survey for this city. The groups felt, Smith explained, that a survey should be made but that consideration should be given to several types of surveys which are available.

The Board of Directors of the Mercantile Bureau met last night at the Liberty Trust Building to discuss the general program of the Bureau.

Officials said work of the meeting will be continued at a second session planned Friday night.

Suits For $1,500 Damages Are Filed

Two suits asking damages totaling $1,500 were filed in Circuit Court yesterday as the result of automobile accidents with one plaintiff claiming he suffered injuries.

William R. Everett, who was allegedly injured, seeks $1,000 damage from Dalton J. Sheetz, whom he alleges was operating a car that collided with his automobile June 12 on Route 135, near Swanton, Garrett County.

Everett, in the declaration, charges that he suffered injuries and states that his automobile was badly damaged.

The second suit was filed by Paul Carpenter, against Timothy J. Kilduff as the result of an automobile collision on East Union Street, Frostburg, last May 21.

Carpenter charges his car was damaged extensively.

Sitter Plans Compaign For Forum President

Charles Sitter, 17-year-old LaSalle High School student, yesterday completed formal application to attend the American Legion sponsored forum on the campus of Washington University, Washington, July 30 to August 5.

Sitter was elected governor of Maryland Boys State at Fort Meade last week and was named senator to the forum.

The local youth plans a vigorous campaign for "president" of the Boys Forum.

Lepley Is Fined For Interference

Eugene Lepley, 616 North Centre Street, was fined $10 yesterday in Police Court for interfering with an officer in the discharge of his duty.

He was arrested by Officers Harold Crawford and C. E. Pfeiffer after he attempted to take a prisoner away from Officer Crawford on Front Street early yesterday morning, the officers said.

Youths, 18, May Enlist In Armed Forces For Period Of One Year

The Army, Air Force and Marine Corps announced yesterday that they would begin accepting one-year enlistments of 18-year-olds today.

The Army and the Air Force will accept enlistments with approximately equal monthly quotas within the limits set by the Service Act. The Army will accept about 10,000 enlistments during the four weeks beginning today and the Air Force, 1,300.

The Marine Corps monthly quota will be filled on a first-come-first-served basis. A waiting list for one-year enlistments will be established to include only enough names to fill one month's quota. Names will not be placed on the list for October enlistment until after September 1.

Under the Service Act, the armed forces are authorized to take 18-year-old youths who have not yet reached their 19th birthday at the time of enlistment. After serving a year in the regular forces, the volunteers are required to serve for an extended period in the reserves.

By enlisting under this program, the youths will be exempt from the draft.

Those youths who wish to enlist in the Army or Air Force should apply at one of the following Army and Air Force recruiting stations:

24 Baltimore Street, Mobile Recruiting Unit, corner of Baltimore and Centre Streets, or the employment Office, 146 Union Street. Applications for one-year enlistments will not be handled at the main recruiting station.

Those who wish to enlist in the Marine Corps under the plan may apply at the local Marine Corps Recruiting Office on the third floor of the Post Office.
